

Home > Azerbaijan > Politics >

Azerbaijan to file two lawsuits against Armenia in 2022 – MFA

Politics | Materials | 8 December 2021 13:12 (UTC +04:00)

- f
- Twitter
- in
- VK
- WhatsApp
- Telegram
- Envelope

Follow Trend on

Whatsapp	Telegram	Facebook	Twitter
Google News

BAKU, Azerbaijan, Dec. 8

By Chingiz Safarli – Trend:

Azerbaijan will file two lawsuits against Armenia in two specific directions next year, Deputy Foreign Minister of Azerbaijan Elnur Mammadov said at a briefing, Trend reports.

RE-0021

"One lawsuit will concern the scale of damage to the environment. And, naturally, within the framework of a number of conventions it is planned to raise the issue of damage to the environment in the liberated territories," he said.

"The second lawsuit will be related to natural resources. Facts are being collected about the illegal use and exploitation of natural resources by Armenia in the Azerbaijani territories during the occupation, and we are preparing to file a lawsuit in this regard," Mammadov said.

On December 7, international justice secured Azerbaijan's petition for temporary measures to prohibit the propaganda of racial hatred by Armenia, including individuals and organizations operating on the territory of this country, directed against Azerbaijanis.

The court reasonably instructed the Armenian side to take urgent measures to prevent violations of the rights of Azerbaijanis. This decision was made after court hearings held on October 14-19, 2021.

The court also rejected Armenia's requests for the immediate release of the detained persons of Armenian origin and the immediate closure of the Military Trophy Park in Baku.

Tags:

Foreign Ministry of Azerbaijan

lawsuit