Declaration of the Government of the People’s Republic of China on China’s Territorial Sea
(September 4, 1958)

The Government of the People’s Republic of China declares:
1. The breadth of the territorial sea of the People’s Republic of China shall be twelve nautical miles. This provision applies to all territories of the People’s Republic of China, including the Chinese mainland and its coastal islands, as well as Taiwan and its surrounding islands, the Penghu Islands, the Dongsha Islands, the Xisha Islands, the Zhongsha Islands, the Nansha Islands and all other islands belonging to China which are separated from the mainland and its coastal islands by the high seas.

2. China’s territorial sea along the mainland and its coastal islands takes as its baseline the line composed of the straight lines connecting base-points on the mainland coast and on the outermost of the coastal islands; the water area extending twelve nautical miles outward from this baseline is China’s territorial sea. The water areas inside the baseline, including Bohai Bay and the Chüngchow Straits, are Chinese inland waters. The islands inside the baseline, including Tungyin Island, Kaoteng Island, the Matsu Islands, the Paichuan Islands, Wuchiu Island, the Greater and Lesser Quemoy Islands, Tatan Island, Erhtan Island and Tungting Island, are islands of the Chinese inland waters.
3. No foreign vessels for military use and no foreign aircraft may enter China’s territorial sea and the air space above it without the permission of the Government of the People’s Republic of China.

While navigating Chinese territorial sea, every foreign vessel must observe the relevant laws and regulations laid down by the Government of the People’s Republic of China.

4. The principles provided in paragraphs (2) and (3) likewise apply to Taiwan and its surrounding Islands, the Penghu Islands, the Dongsha islands, the Xisha Islands, the Zhongsha Islands, the Nansha Islands, and all other islands belonging to China.

The Taiwan and Penghu areas are still occupied by the United States by armed force. This is an unlawful encroachment on the territorial integrity and sovereignty of the People’s Republic of China. Taiwan, Penghu and such other areas are yet to be recovered, and the Government of the People’s Republic of China has the right to recover these areas by all suitable means at a suitable time. This is China’s internal affair, in which no foreign interference is tolerated.

Mounting Tension on Kampuchean-Thai Border
China's Indisputable Sovereignty Over the Xisha And Nansha Islands

On January 30, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of China published a document which, by citing numerous historical records and official documents, proves China's indisputable sovereignty over Xisha and Nansha Islands and explodes the false-assertiveness of the Vietnamese authorities' claims in this regard. Following is the full text.—Ed.

The Xisha and Nansha Islands are two large island groups in the South China Sea. Like the Dongsha and Zhongsha Islands, they have been China's territory since ancient times. This is not only proved by numerous Chinese and foreign historical records, documents, maps and cultural relics of ancient or modern times, but also recognized by many countries and extensive world opinion. These island groups were for a time in modern history illegally seized by foreign countries, but this in no way changes the historical fact and legal basis of their belonging to China.

The Vietnamese authorities cherish regional hegemonic and expansionist designs. While stepping up aggression and expansion in Indochina and Southeast Asia, they illegally occupied some islands of China's Nansha island group in 1975 and flagrantly laid a territorial claim to China's Xisha and Nansha Islands, reversing their earlier position of recognizing these islands as Chinese territory. On September 28, 1979 the Vietnamese Foreign Ministry issued a White Book entitled Viet Nam's Sovereignty Over the Hien Sa and Tri Nguyen Sa Archipelagoes, in which it posed together or contrived some self-contradictory and utterly untenable “proving materials” in a vain attempt to find legal grounds for their illegal occupation and expansionist designs. This is completely futile.

It is impermissible to falsify historical facts or trample upon principles of international law. Here we cite authentic historical records and official documents to refute and explode the lies of the Vietnamese authorities and clearly prove the indisputable sovereignty of the People's Republic of China over the Xisha and Nansha Islands.

(1) The Xisha and Nansha Islands Have Been China's Territory Since Ancient Times

As early as the 2nd century B.C., at the time of Emperor Wu Di of the Han Dynasty, Chinese people began sailing the South China Sea. After long years of navigation, they discovered successively the Xisha and Nansha Islands. The geographical features of these islands are described in Nan Zhou Yi Wu Zhi (Strange Things of the Southern Provinces) by Wan Zhen and Fu Nan Zhan (An Account of Fu Nan) by Kang Tai, both of which were written in the Three Kingdoms period (220-280).

After the discovery of the Xisha and Nansha Islands, groups of Chinese people, surmounting all kinds of difficulties, came to visit and develop them. Their voyages to the Xisha and Nansha Islands and their productive activities there during more than 1,000 years and the location and distribution of these islands are recorded in Meng Liang Lu (Record

* Wan Zhen in his Nan Zhou Yi Wu Zhi (Strange Things of the Southern Provinces) wrote about the navigation route from the Malay Peninsula to the mainland of China in the Han Dynasty: “. . . going northeastward, one reaches Daqiong and then sails through Zhang Hai, which is shallow and has a lot of lode-stones underneath.” Zhang Hai was the name for the present South China Sea. The lode-stones referred to are the then submerged sand cays and reefs of the Xisha and Nansha Islands. They were called “lode-stones” because ships were liable to be stranded on them and unable to extricate themselves. Kang Tai in his Fu Nan Zhan (An Account of Fu Nan) wrote: “In Zhang Hai there are coral islands with flat base rocks, on which coral grows.”
Along with the exploitation and development of the Xisha and Nansha Islands by Chinese people, the successive Chinese governments exercised jurisdiction over them.

As early as the Northern Song Dynasty (960-1127), Chinese naval patrols reached the Xisha Islands. It is recorded in Wu Jing Zong Yao (Outline Record of Military Affairs), to which the Northern Song Emperor Ren Zong (1023-1063) personally wrote a preface, that the Northern Song court "ordered patrols by imperial forces and the building of a barracks for naval patrols" in Guangnan (now Guangdong), "commissioned the building of keeled sea-faring warships" which, "sailing in the southwestern direction from Tunmenshan, with a fair east wind, can reach Jiuruozhou in seven days." (See annex 1) Jiuruozhou was the name for today's Xisha Islands. It shows that the Northern Song court already put the Xisha Islands under its jurisdiction and therefore dispatched naval "warships" to patrol them.

Early in the Yuan Dynasty, an astronomical observation was carried out at 27 places throughout the country. In the 16th year of the reign of Zhiyuan (1279) Kublai Khan or Emperor Shi Zu, personally assigned Guo Shoujing, famous astronomer and Deputy Director of the Astronomical Bureau, to do the observation in the South China Sea. According to the official History of the Yuan Dynasty, Nanhai, Guo's observation point, was "to the south of Zhuya" and "the result of the survey showed that the latitude of Nanhai is 15°N." The astronomical observation point Nanhai was on

* Wu Jing Zong Yao (Outline Record of Military Affairs) was authoritative literature of the Song Dynasty, which records the military system and major affairs in national defence. It was edited by Ding Du, Deputy Prime Minister and concurrently Minister of Works, and Zeng Gongjiong, Royal Attendant in Tian Zhang Ge, a title equivalent to a privy councillor.

 The Chinese name of the title was "Tong Zhi Tai Shi Yuan Shi." today’s Xisha Islands'. It shows that Xisha Islands were within the bounds of China at the time of the Yuan Dynasty.

During the Ming and Qing Dynasties, the officially compiled local chronicles Guangdong Tang Zhi, Qiongzhou Zhi and Wanzhou Zhi all record, in the section of “territory” or “geography, mountains and waters,” that “Wanzhou covers Qianlichangsha (thousand-li sand cays) and Wanshishang (ten thousand-li rocky reefs).” This shows that at this time, the Xisha and Nansha Islands were under the administration of Wanzhou of Qiongzhou Prefecture (now Wanning and Lingzhui Counties, Hainan Island), Guangdong Province.

In the 49th to 51st years of the reign of Kangxi (1710-12) of the Qing Dynasty, Wu Sheng, Vice-Admiral of the Guangdong Fleet, led a naval patrol and “went personally on an inspection tour, setting out for Qiongya, rounding Tonggu and passing through Qishouyang and Sigengsha, covering 3,000 li.” The Qishouyang (sea of seven islands) mentioned here refers to the sea area around the Xisha Islands, whose patrol was the responsibility of the Guangdong Fleet. In the book Shi Xi Ji Cheng (Travel Notes of an Envoy to the West) by Guo Songtao, the Qing Dynasty Minister to Britain, the account of his voyage to his post made in 1878 includes this passage: “By noon on the 24th day of the tenth month, 2nd year of the reign of Guangxu, the ship had sailed 831 li and reached 17 degrees 30 minutes north of the Equator, 200 to 300 li south of Qiongzhou.
The sailors called this place China Sea. . . .
Nearby to the left were the Paracel Islands [Xisha Islands] which yielded sea slugs and also coral, which was not of very good quality. These islands belong to China.”

In the 9th year of the reign of Guangxu (1883), Germany carried out surveys on the Xisha and Nansha Islands but had to stop them under the protest of the Qing Government.

The fact that the Xisha and Nansha Islands have been China’s territory since ancient times is not only recorded in a large number of history books and local chronicles but also cor-erobated by many official maps, e.g., Huang Qing Ge Zhi Sheng Fen Tu (Map of the Provinces Directly Under the Imperial Qing Authority) made in the 20th year of Qianlong
(1755), De Qing Wan Nian Yi Tong Di Li Quan
Tu (Map of the Eternally Unified Great Qing Empire) made in the 15th year of Jiaqing (1810) and De Qing Yi Tong Tian Xia Quan Tu (Map of the Unified Territory of the Great Qing Empire) made in the 22nd year of Jiaqing (1817).

In the fourth moon of the first year of Emperor Xuanzong (1999), Zhang Congjun,
Governor of Guangdong and Guangxi, sent Li Zhun, Admiral of the Guangdong Fleet, with more than 170 naval officers and men on an inspection tour of the Xisha Islands in three warships, the Fubo, the Guangji and the Shenhong. They inspected 15 islands and set up stone tablets engraved with the names of the islands. They hoisted the flag and fired a salvo on Yongxing Island by way of reassert-ing Chinese sovereignty.

In 1911 the Chinese Guangdong provincial government announced the putting of the Xisha Islands under the administration of Yaxian County, Hainan Island. In 1921 the Ministry of Interior of the Chinese Government approved a license for He Ruimin, a merchant of Guangdong Province, to engage in fishing, plantation and mining on the Xisha Islands.
Later he was found to have transferred the license to Japanese merchants, and the license was withdrawn.

In May 1928 the Guangdong provincial government sent a study group consisting of military and civil officers, scientists and technicians to go to the Xisha Islands by warship to make investigations on the spot. The group submitted a detailed report on the results of the investigations.

* Guo Shoujing then was responsible for the work of establishing astronomical observation points within the bounds of China in the Yuan Dynasty.
The Nanshi observation point was “to the south of Zhouyu,” that is, to the south of Hainan Island. The result of their survey was: “The latitude of Qiong-shou is 18°55′N; the latitude of Nanshi is 18°N.
This shows that the Nanhai observation point was more than 4 degrees south of Qiongzhou observation point on Hainan Island, which is exactly the location of the Xisha Islands of today. Owing to technological limitations at that time, the north latitudes obtained of most of the 37 observation points showed an error of about one degree as compared with their present latitudes. Since according to the system of the Yuan Dynasty a circumference divided into 360 degrees instead of 300 de-gress as at present, the then 18°N for the Nanshi observation point should actually be 14°47′N, and discouraging the error of about one degree, its location is precisely on the Xisha Islands of today.

of Quanzhou), written during the reign of Qianlong of the Qing Dynasty.

The above historical facts fully prove that China was the first to discover, develop and administer the Xisha and Nansha Islands. Consecutive jurisdiction was exercised over them by successive Chinese Governments for more than 1,000 years. The Chinese are indisputable owners of these island groups.

(2) China's Struggle in Defence of Its Sovereignty Over the Xisha and Nansha Islands

For a period of time after the establishment of its colonial rule in Viet Nam towards the end of the 19th century, France still recognized China's sovereignty over the Xisha Islands. In connection with the Xisha Islands, the French Premier and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand admitted on August 22, 1921, "the impossibility in which we are currently to claim these islands as the Chinese Government has since 1909 exercised its rights to their ownership [referring to the above-mentioned inspection tour of the Xisha Islands by Li Zun]." In 1929 French Acting Governor General in Indochina also conceded that "according to reports from various sources, the Paracels [the Xisha Islands] should be regarded as belonging to China."

But the then French colonialists, covetous of Chinese territory and aware of the great strategic importance of the Xisha Islands, tried to seize these islands by taking the opportunity of Japanese aggression against China's northeastern provinces starting with the September 18th Incident of 1931. In a note addressed to the Chinese Legation in France on December 4 the same year, the French Government asserted that the Empire of Annam had a so-called "prior title" to the Xisha Islands, thus flagrantly laying a territorial claim to these Chinese Islands. The then Chinese Government gave a rebuttal in categorical terms, pointing out that the Xisha Islands had long been under China's jurisdiction. In his note of November 30, 1932 to the French Consul in Guangzhou, Zhu Zhaoxin, Special Inspector of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Chinese Government, again affirmed that "there is no doubt whatsoever that the Xisha Islands are part of China's territory."

However, the then French authorities went a step further and invaded and occupied nine of China's Nansha Islands in 1933. The Chinese people went in protest, and the then Chinese Government made strong representations to the French authorities through diplomatic channels.

A "Committee for the Examination of Land and Sea Maps" composed of the representatives of the Chinese Foreign, Interior and Naval Ministries and other institutions in 1934-35 specially checked and approved the names of the South China Sea Islands and compiled and printed the Map of the South China Sea Islands, on which the Dongsha, Xisha, Zhongsha and Nansha Islands were clearly marked as belonging to China.

During World War II, Japan invaded and occupied the Xisha and Nansha Islands in 1939. Following the Japanese surrender in 1945, the then Chinese Government in November and December 1946 designated senior officials to proceed to the Xisha and Nansha Islands by warships to take over these islands, where takeover ceremonies were held and stone tablets erected (see annex 2) and troops garrisoned. These were followed by the renaming of the Dongsha, Xisha, Zhongsha and Nansha Islands and their various islands, sand cays, reefs and banks. Thus, the Xisha and Nansha Islands, once illegally seized by foreign powers, were restored to the jurisdiction of the Chinese Government.

After the founding of the People's Republic of China, Foreign Minister Zhou Enlai, in his Statement on the U.S.-U.K. Draft of Peace Treaty With Japan and the San Francisco Conference, solemnly declared on August 15, 1951 that, like the Dongsha and Zhongsha Islands, the Xisha and Nansha Islands "have always been China's territory." That "although they had been occupied by Japan for some time during the war of aggression waged by Japanese imperialism, they were all taken over by the then Chinese Government, following Japan's surrender," and that "whether or not the U.S.-U.K. draft treaty contains provisions on this subject and no matter how these provisions are worded," China's sovereignty over the Xisha and Nansha Islands "will not be in any way affected."

firming China's inviolable sovereignty over them.

Since the founding of the People's Republic of China, the Chinese Government and people have continued to administer and develop the Xisha and Nansha Islands. From 1950 to 1956, large numbers of fishermen from Qionghai County, Guangdong Province, continually went to the Nansha Islands for fishing. The departments concerned of the Hainan Administrative Area of Guangdong Province have continually sent people to the Xisha Islands for surveys, collection of marine products and guano and the setting up of a meteorological station, and exercised administration over the fishermen on the Xisha Islands. In March 1958 the Hainan Administrative Area set up on Yongxing Island of the Xisha Islands an "Office of the Xisha, Nansha and Zhongsha Islands," which in March 1969 was renamed the "Revolutionary Committee of the Xisha, Zhongsha and Nansha Islands of Guangdong Province."

In January 1974 the Chinese People's Liberation Army and militia drove out the troops of the South Vietnamese authorities in Saigon who had invaded the Xisha Islands and thus defended China's sovereignty and territorial integrity.

For years the Taiwan authorities of China have maintained a military garrison on Taiping Island, the biggest among the Nansha Islands.

(3) China's Sovereignty Over the Xisha and Nansha Islands Is Widely Acknowledged Internationally

Many countries and world opinion recognize the fact that the Xisha and Nansha Islands are part of China's territory.

In April 1930 the Far East Conference on Meteorology held in Xianggang (Hong Kong), with the participation of the representatives of China, France, the Philippines and the Xianggang authorities, adopted a resolution requesting the Chinese Government to establish a meteorological observation station on the Xisha Islands.

After the Annamese police of the French colonial authorities intruded into the Xisha Islands in 1838, a spokesman of the Japanese Foreign Ministry stated that the Xisha Islands... on which the Annamese police had landed were "recognized by us as part of China’s territory."

The 1951 San Francisco Conference on the peace treaty with Japan decided that Japan should renounce the Xisha and Nansha Islands. The leader of the Soviet delegation Andrei Gromyko pointed out at the conference that the Xisha and Nansha Islands... are China’s "inalienable territory." Although the U.S.-U.K. drafted peace treaty with Japan did not mention the ownership of those islands after Japan’s renunciation, yet in 1952, the year after the San Francisco Peace Treaty with Japan was signed, the 15th map, Southeast Asia, of the Standard World Atlas, which was recommended by the signature of the then Japanese Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki, marks as part of China all the Xisha and Nansha Islands, which Japan had to renounce as stipulated by the peace treaty, as well as the Dongsha and Zhongsha Islands (see annex 3). Since these islands were originally China’s territory, they should of course be returned to China.

In October 1955 the International Civil Aviation Organization held a conference in Manila, which was attended by representatives of the United States, Britain, France, Japan, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, the Philippines and the authorities of south Viet Nam and China’s Taiwan. Resolution No. 24 adopted by the conference requested the Taiwan authorities of China to improve meteorological observation on the Nansha Islands, and no opposition or reservation was registered in this regard.

Since the beginning of the 20th century, most of the authoritative encyclopaedias recognize the Xisha and Nansha Islands as China's territory. For instance, the Worldmark Encyclopaedia of the Nations published in the United States in 1963 states that the islands [of the People's Republic of China] "include the reefs and islands of the South China Sea, extending as far as 4°N. These reefs and islands include the Tungsha (Pratsi), Sisha (Paracels), Chungsha, and Nansha archipelagoes." The Bolshaya Sovetskaia Enciclopediya of 1973 and the Japanese Kyoko World Manual of 1970 also explicitly point out that the Xisha and Nansha Islands are China's territory.

(4) The Perfidy of the Vietnamese Authorities

It must be pointed out that there used to be no dispute between China and Viet Nam over the ownership of the Xisha and Nansha islands. During a long period of time the Vietnamese side formally acknowledged these islands as being Chinese territory since ancient times, whether in their government statements and notes, or in their newspapers, periodicals, maps and textbooks.

On June 15, 1956 Vice-Foreign Minister Ung Van Khiem of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam received Li Zhimin, Charge d'Affaires ad interim of the Chinese Embassy in Viet Nam, and stated to him that, "according to Vietnamese data, the Xisha and Nansha Islands are historically part of Chinese territory." Le Loc, Acting Director of the Asian Department of the Vietnamese Foreign Ministry, who was present, specifically cited Vietnamese data and pointed out that, "judging from history, these islands were already part of China at the time of the Song Dynasty."

In its declaration of September 4, 1958, the Government of the People's Republic of China proclaimed the breadth of the territorial sea of the People's Republic of China to be 12 nautical miles and stated explicitly that "this provision applies to all territories of the People's Republic of China, including ... the Dongsha Islands, the Xisha Islands, the Zhongsha Islands, the Nansha Islands and all other islands belonging to China." On September 6, 1958, Nhan Dan, central organ of the Vietnamese Workers' Party, prominently featured on its front page details of the Chinese Government's declaration. It wrote: "On September 4, 1958 the Government of the People's Republic of China issued a declaration on China's territorial sea. The declaration provides that the breadth of China's territorial sea is 12 nautical miles (or 22 kilometres). This provision applies to all territories of the People's Republic of China including the Chinese mainland and its coastal islands, as well as Taiwan and its surrounding islands, the Penghu Islands, the Dongsha Islands, the Xisha Islands, the Zhongsha Islands, the Nansha Islands and all other islands belonging to China which are separated from the mainland and its coastal islands by the high seas." On September 14 the same year, Premier Pham Van Dong of the Vietnamese Government solemnly stated in his note to Premier Zhou Enlai of the Chinese State Council that "the Government of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam recognizes and supports the declaration of the Government of the People's Republic of China on China's territorial sea made on September 4, 1958," and that "the Government of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam respects this decision." Pham Van Dong's note clearly shows that the Vietnamese Government acknowledged Xisha and Nansha Islands as China's territory (see annex 4 on next page).

In its statement of May 9, 1965 on the U.S. Government's designation of a "combat zone" for its forces in Viet Nam, the Government of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam said that it was "a direct threat to the security of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam and its neighbouring country" for "U.S. President Lyndon Johnson to designate the whole of Viet Nam and the adjacent waters which extend roughly 100 miles from the coast of Viet Nam and part of the territorial waters of the People's Republic of China in its Xisha Islands as a 'combat zone' of the U.S. armed forces." Here the Vietnamese Government once again clearly recognized the Xisha Islands as part of Chinese territory.

In reporting foreign intrusions into the Xisha Islands, the Vietnamese press also clearly recognized these islands as belonging to China. For example, on May 13, 1969 Khánh Dan reported that “on May 10 a U.S. military aircraft invaded China’s air space over Yongding Island and Dongdao Island of the Xisha Islands of China’s Guangdong Province.” Many similar reports were carried in Vietnamese papers.

Official maps and textbooks of Viet Nam explicitly acknowledged the Xisha and Nansha Islands as China’s territory. For example, the 1969 World Map made by the Mapping Section of the General Staff of the Vietnamese People’s Army marks the Xisha and Nansha Islands by their Chinese names and notes in brackets that they belong to China. The May 1972 World Atlas published by the Bureau of Survey and Cartography Under the Office of the Premier of Viet Nam also marks the Xisha and Nansha Islands by their Chinese names (see annex 5).

Another example, the lesson entitled “The People’s Republic of China” in the geography textbook for school pupils of grade 9 published by Viet Nam’s Educational Press in 1974 reads in part as follows: “The chain of islands from the Nansha and Xisha Islands to Hainan Island, Taiwan Island, the Penghu Islands and the Zhoushan Islands... is shaped like a bow and constitutes a Great Wall defending the China mainland.”

The Vietnamese in apparent seriousness stressed that in order to establish territorial sovereignty it is necessary to present “formal state materials” and “documents of legal force.” What we have cited above are precisely Vietnamese “formal state materials” and “documents of legal force.” This clearly shows that up to 1974 the Vietnamese Government had recognized the Xisha and Nansha Islands as Chinese territory. Now, the Vietnamese authorities have gone back on their own word and perniciously departed from their original position of recognizing the Xisha and Nansha Islands as Chinese territory, and this is something absolutely impermissible under international law.

(5) The Arguments of the Vietnamese White Book Are Totally Untenable

The 19 “documents” quoted in the White Book of the Vietnamese Foreign Ministry fall roughly into two categories: the first category (documents Nos. 1 to 8) consists of some Vietnamese “historical sources” and the second category (documents Nos. 9 to 19) lists some materials about the occupation of China’s Xisha and Nansha Islands by the French colonial authorities and the south Vietnamese authorities in Saigon since 1933. All are intended to prove that China’s Xisha and Nansha Islands are Vietnamese territory. But if one makes a serious study and analysis, it will not be difficult to find that the “documents” in the first category are all based on deliberate false attribution, and that those in the second category are totally untenable and legally invalid.

The Vietnamese authorities allege that Bai Cat Vang and Hoang Sa Chu in the historical records is what they now call the Hoang Sa Archipelago or what is known in the West as the Paracels, that is to say, China’s Xisha Islands. Their primary “historical sources” are ANNEX 5: “World Atlas” printed by Viet Nam in May 1972, page 10. On the right corner below is the cover of the atlas. The Vietnamese words on the right corner below give the name of the compiler: “The Bureau of Survey and Cartography Under the Office of the Premier of Viet Nam.”

A “Map of the Quang Ngai Region From a Collection of Maps of Viet Nam” compiled in the 17th century by a Vietnamese called Do Ba and Phu Bien Tap Luc (Miscellaneous Records on the Pacification of the Frontiers) written by Le Quy Don in the 18th century. Quoted from the map and the records by the Vietnamese White Book are the following descriptions of Bai Cat Vang and Hoang Sa Chu:

“... an elongated sandbank, called Bai Cat Vang (meaning yellow sandbank), ... lies in the middle of the sea. ... It takes one day and a half from Dai Chiem Port to go there; and only half a day if one embarks at Sa Ky.”

“In Binh Son sub-district, Quang Ngai district, there is the An Vinh village on the sea. Off the coast of this village, in the northeast lie islands with over 130 scattered hills. The distance between these hills is covered by a voyage of one day or sometimes of only a few hours. There are fresh water springs on these hills. Among the islands there is a vast and flat yellow sandbank, over 30 ft long, where the spring water is crystal clear.”

The Vietnamese authorities cite the above two passages as the “earliest and most essential” material. But these records precisely show that what the Vietnamese call the Hoang Sa Archipelago is not China’s Xisha Islands. They are two entirely different places.

First, the geographical location. According to the Vietnamese material, it takes one day and a half to get to Bai Cat Vang from Dai Chiem Port (now Cua Dai, Quang Nam-Da Nang Province, Viet Nam) and only half a day from Sa Ky Port (near Binh Son County, Quang Ngai Province, Viet Nam). But China’s Xisha Islands are 200 nautical miles from the coast of central Viet Nam, a distance which was absolutely impossible to cover by sailboat in half a day or even one day and a half with navigation techniques as they were.

Secondly, the length and area. It is said in the Vietnamese material that Hoang Sa Chu is “over 30 li long” and “vast and flat.” Yet, even Yongxing, the biggest among China’s Xisha Islands, is less than 2 kilometres (4 li) long and has an area of only 1.85 square kilometres.

Thirdly, the topography. According to the Vietnamese material, there are in the Hoang Sa Archipelago “over 130 scattered hills.” But there are no hills at all on China’s shallow and flat Xisha Islands, whose elevation is generally only 5 to 6 metres, with the highest point measuring 15.9 metres. And in Xisha there are only a total of 35 islands, reefs, sandbanks and sand cays. There are no “over 130 hills” to speak of.

These comparisons clearly show that the Hoang Sa Archipelago mentioned in the Vietnamese material can only be some islands and shoals off the coast of central Viet Nam and not China’s Xisha Islands.

The Vietnamese White Book asserts that Dai Nam Thuc Luc Chinh Bien (Official Chronicles of Dai Nam) “records the occupation by King Gia Long of the Hoang Sa Islands in 1816.” But no record of “occupation” is found anywhere in this history book. The legend that King Gia Long “occupied the Hoang Sa Islands” originated from an article, “Note on the Geography of Cochinchina” by Bishop Louis Taberd, a French colonialist, who wrote: “The Pracel or Paracel, is a labyrinth of small islands, rocks and sandbanks, which appears to extend up to the 11th degree of north latitude, in the 107th parallel of longitude from Paris.” He also wrote that in 1816 King Gia Long “went with solemnity to plant his flag and take formal possession of these rocks, which it is not likely anybody will dispute with him.” 107°E from Paris meridian is 109°10’E from Greenwich, which is not far from the coast of central Viet Nam. China’s Xisha Islands, however, are to the east of 110°10’E. Taberd said that the Pracel extended to 11°N, but the southernmost point of the Xisha Islands is at 15°47’N. Obviously, the Pracel referred to by Bishop Taberd is islands and shoals off the coast of central Viet Nam, but not China’s Xisha Islands.

What the Vietnamese call Truong Sa Archipelago cannot be China’s Nansha Islands, either. The White Book says that Truong Sa Archipelago used to be called Dai Truong Sa. Dai Truong Sa is described in many Chinese and Vietnamese historical records, but it obviously is not situated where China’s Nansha Islands are; the reference is to some islands and shoals along the Vietnamese coast. As the Vietnamese authorities fail to find any historical evidence of value to prove that Truong Sa is China’s Nansha Islands, they in the White Book have recourse to Dai Nam Nhat Tong Do (Complete Map of Unified Dai Nam), a map of unknown origin. However, it can clearly be seen from this map that Hoang Sa and Van Ly Truong Sa are close and parallel to the coast of central Viet Nam and not where China’s Xisha and Nansha Islands are.

By false attribution the Vietnamese authorities are attempting to find a basis for their ambition for territorial expansion and hoodwink the people of the world. But this is surely futile.

The Vietnamese authorities cite in their White Book the occupation of China’s Xisha and Nansha Islands by the French colonial authorities and the south Vietnamese authorities in Saigon since 1933 in order to prove the legitimacy of the Vietnamese authorities’ territorial claim to China’s Xisha and Nansha Islands. This is not at all tenable. According to international law, aggression does not establish sovereignty, and “inheritance” of territory seized from another country through occupation is illegal and therefore invalid.

That the Xisha and Nansha Islands have been China’s territory since ancient times is fully proved by legal evidence. And one can draw an impartial conclusion from the ample facts and materials mentioned above. The Vietnamese authorities’ illegal occupation of part of China’s Nansha Islands and their territorial claim to China’s Xisha and Nansha Islands can only serve to reveal their regional hegemonist and aggressor expansionist ambitions. China’s sovereignty over the Xisha and Nansha Islands is indisputable.

Chinese Foreign Ministry Statement regarding Huangyan Island
(Press briefing, 22 May 1997)

Since the end of April this year, the Philippine side has many times dispatched military vessels and military planes to unjustifiably follow, monitor and disrupt the “Joint International Amateur Radio Exploration Activities” organized by a non-governmental organization of China, and participated by amateur radio fans of China, the US and Japan at China’s Huangyan Island and its adjacent waters. The Philippine side has also sent people to the island several times, erected flags and tablets on it, and made groundless accusations against the personnel of the Chinese side. The Chinese side, proceeding from the overall interests of maintaining bilateral friendly relations, has undertaken an attitude of utmost restraint with regard to the above acts of the Philippine side. At the same time, the Chinese side has asked the Philippine side, through diplomatic channels, to correct its wrong behavior, and immediately stop its violation of China’s territorial integrity. But the situation in recent days clearly shows that the Philippine side has intensified its violation of the Chinese territory of Huangyan Island. The Philippine side, using the 200 EEZ as reason, brazenly announced it’s so-called jurisdictional right over the Chinese territory of Huangyan Island. The Chinese Government and people absolutely cannot accept this.

Huangyan Island has always been Chinese territory and its legal position has been long determined. According to Article 121 of the UNCLOS, Huangyan Island is surrounded by water on all sides and is a natural dry land area that is higher than the water level during high tide; it is not a shoal or submerged reef that does not rise above the water all year round. Many historical documents record that China has sovereignty over the island. The Chinese Government has three times officially announced the Chinese Government’s name or change of name for the island -- all these are actions of a country which exercises effective jurisdiction over the island. It is also commonly recognized among the international community that Huangyandao is China’s territory. Amateur radio operators of many countries have undertaken radio exploratory activities on the island after receiving permission from the Chinese Government. At present, many countries continue to apply with China to undertake such activities. The island has been entered into the international amateur radio DXTC list of the Amateur Radio Association of the United States.

The Philippines has never challenged the position that Huangyandao is China’s territory. Recently, the Philippine side suddenly claims that it has maritime jurisdiction over Huangyandao because the island is in the 200 nm EEZ of the Philippines. This position violates the principles of international law and the UNCLOS. It is clearly stated in the preface of the UNCLOS that the convention should take into account the sovereignty of all countries. The provisions of the UNCLOS regarding maritime jurisdiction are not suitable for resolving questions regarding territorial sovereignty. According to the UNCLOS, littoral states only enjoy the right to explore and develop the natural resources in the area covered by their EEZ’s, but this does not affect the legal position of a country’s territorial sovereignty. The issue of Huangyandao is an issue of territorial sovereignty; the development and exploitation of the EEZ is a question of maritime jurisdiction, the nature of the two issues are different and hence the laws and regulations governing them are also different, and they should not be discussed together. The attempt of the Philippine side to use maritime jurisdictional rights to violate the territorial sovereignty of China is untenable. According to international law, under a situation where there is an overlapping of EEZ’s among concerned countries, the act of a country to unilaterally proclaim its 200 EEZ is null and void. The scope of the EEZ’s of the Philippines and China should be resolved through negotiations based on the principles and regulations of international laws.

The Chinese Government strongly calls on the Philippine side to respect historical reality, respect international laws, respect the territorial sovereignty of China over Huangyandao, and immediately stop all activities that violate the territorial sovereignty of China, in the overall interest of maintaining the peace and stability of the Nanhai area and the friendly relations between the two sides.

The People's Republic of China shall have the primary interest in anadromous stocks originating in China's rivers.

Published: 9 March 2010
Source: The Fishery Bureau of Nanhai District, Ministry of Agriculture

The China Fisheries Law Enforcement ("FLEC") Vessel 310 has a gross tonnage of 2,580 tonnes, measures 108 meters long and 14 meters wide. It has a range of 6,000 nautical miles and can sail for 60 days and nights and go to international unrestricted navigation areas. The vessel has a maximum speed up to 22 knots. It is equipped with an onboard Z-9A helicopter, a modernized surface broadband satellite communication system, a photoelectric tracer evidence collection system, a maritime ultraviolet imager and a color fish finder. In China’s current fisheries law enforcement fleets, this ship is the fastest and most advanced ship in overall performance and has the most comprehensive special equipment.

At the launching ceremony, Wu Zhuang, chief of the Fishery Bureau of Nanhai District under the Ministry of Agriculture, said that ten years had passed from applying for the FLEC Vessel 310 in 2001 until today’s official launch, “it takes ten years to sharpen a sword,” and the result was not easy to come by. The vessel is yet another “fishery enforcement warship” after FLEC Vessel 311. Its successful launch and immediate placement into service will surely further strengthen the extent of the enforcement of our sovereignty and rights in the South China Sea, and allow the China fisheries law enforcement to be fully effective in the struggle to safeguard our rights; it will surely further enhance the extent to which we can protect the interests of our vast population of fishermen, and effectively improve China’s fisheries law enforcement’s amiable and trustworthy image among the fishermen; it will surely further enhance the extent to which we can conserve the South China Sea’s fishery resources, and promote scientific progress for the South China Sea’s fisheries.

Li Jianhua, director of the Fishery Bureau under the Ministry of Agriculture and chief of the China Fishery Law Enforcement Command, expressed wholeheartedly his gratitude, on behalf of the leaders of the Ministry of Agriculture, to all of the comrades who contributed their hard work and efforts in designing, inspecting, and manufacturing the FLEC Vessel 310. In his speech, he said that the 21st century is a century of ocean, and China Fishery Law Enforcement Command will face even more strenuous tasks in safeguarding our national maritime sovereignty and rights, protecting maritime biological resources and ecosystems, and safeguarding fishermen’s lawful rights. The FLEC Vessel 310 is China’s first newly constructed fishery law enforcement vessel of 2,500-tonnes, capable of an unrestricted navigation zone and equipped with a modernized helicopter. Its official launch is a major event in the history of China’s fishery law enforcement development. Not only is it the hope... of us working on fishery law enforcement and the hope of the South China Sea fishermen, it is also the hope of all Chinese who are concerned about China’s enforcement of maritime rights and interests, and will surely enhance the level of the China Fishery Law Enforcement Command’s modernization. The FLEC Vessel 310’s successful launch is of landmark significance.

Also participating in the launching ceremony were leaders from relevant departments, such as: the South China Sea Fleet; the Border Control Administration of the Ministry of Public Security; the fishery regulatory departments of the three-provinces (areas) of Guangdong, Guangxi, and Hainan; and the Planning Department, Fishery Bureau, and Fishery Law Enforcement Command of the Ministry of Agriculture. Also present were: the managers of the various offices and departments of the Ministry of Agriculture’s South China Sea Fishery Bureau; department heads, experts, and technicians who designed, inspected, and built the ship and factory; and the shipbuilding factory workers who toiled on the front lines, as well as reporters from the news media. More than 300 people attended the ceremony.

Q: How does China look at the current situation in Libya? What is your comment on the Libyan National Transitional Council (NTC)’s statement of forming a new transitional government in the near future? When will the staff of the Chinese Embassy in Libya return to Tripoli?

A: The situation in Libya is undergoing major changes. China hopes that under the leadership of the NTC, all parties in Libya will swiftly launch an inclusive political transitional process, uphold national solidarity and unification to the maximum extent and steer Libya onto the track of post-war reconstruction as soon as possible.

We hope to see an early establishment of the Libyan transitional government and the return to a normal life of the Libyan people.

As far as I know, the staff of the Chinese Embassy in Libya are on their way back to Tripoli. The Chinese Ambassador to Libya will also return in light of his work arrangement.

Q: A Chinese non-governmental organization has reportedly nominated several international political figures as candidates for the "Confucius Peace Prize". What is China's comment?

A: It is learned that the prize was set up by a non-governmental organization and relevant activities were held by this NGO. I advise you to consult the host of the activity for information.

Q: It is reported that the US Government will not sell F-16 C/D fighter jets to Taiwan this time, but will upgrade its existing types of F-16 fighter jets. How does China respond? Second, how does China comment on the Indian company and Vietnam's joint development of the oil and gas field in the disputed area of the South China Sea?

A: China firmly opposes US arms sales to Taiwan. Our position in this regard is clear and consistent. We urge the US side to abide by the three China-US joint communiqués, especially the principles enshrined in the August 17 Communiqué and stop selling arms to Taiwan so as not to impair China-US relations as well as the peaceful development of cross-Straits relations.
On your second question, China has indisputable sovereignty over the Nansha Islands and their adjacent waters. China's claim over the South China Sea is grounded on ample historical and jurisprudential evidence. Any country or company's oil and gas exploration activity in the waters under China's jurisdiction without the permission of the Chinese Government is an infringement upon China's sovereignty, rights and interests, and is thus illegal and invalid. We hope relevant countries respect China's stance, rights and interests, earnestly implement the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea and its guidelines and refrain from taking any unilateral action that may complicate and magnify disputes. Countries outside the region should respect and support the efforts of countries within the region to resolve disputes through bilateral negotiations.

Q: If the US declares its arms sale to Taiwan, what kind of action will China take in response?

A: No one can shake the resolve of the Chinese Government and people to defend national sovereignty and territorial integrity and combat foreign interference.

Q: Please give us more details about China's sovereignty claim over the South China Sea. Why does China oppose the joint oil and gas exploration between India and Vietnam?

A: The historical and jurisprudential evidence of China's sovereignty over the Nansha Islands is that China was the first to discover and name the islands in the South China Sea and also the first to exercise sustained sovereignty over them. China's discovery of the Nansha Islands can be traced back to Han Dynasty. Successive governments since Tang Dynasty have all administered the Nansha Islands. The People's Republic of China, since its founding in 1949, has continued to exercise sovereignty over the Nansha Islands. China has also developed, utilized and administered relevant waters of the South China Sea for a long stretch of time since antiquity. China's sovereignty, rights and relevant claims over the South China Sea have been formed in the long course of history and persistently upheld by the Chinese government.

China is committed to peacefully resolving disputes over island sovereignty and maritime demarcation in the South China Sea through direct negotiation and friendly consultation between parties concerned on the basis of historical facts and international law.

I want to stress that any country or company's oil and gas exploration activity in the waters under China's jurisdiction without the permission of the Chinese Government is an infringement upon China's sovereignty, rights and interests, and is thus illegal and invalid.

Q: The US said that it would veto Palestine's statehood appeal to the UN. In that case, Palestine may seek to join the UN as an observer state. What is China's position on that?

A: China always supports the Palestinian people's just cause of restoring lawful national rights and regards the founding of an independent state as an inalienable lawful right of the Palestinian people as well as the precondition and foundation for peace between Palestine and Israel. We support the establishment of an independent and fully sovereign Palestinian state along the 1967 border with East Jerusalem as the capital.

China understands, respects and supports Palestine submitting the statehood plan to the UN. Meanwhile, China also appreciates Palestine's balanced strategy of founding an independent state and engaging in peace talks.

Q: It is reported that the DPRK and the ROK top nuclear negotiators will meet in Beijing. Please brief us on that.

A: China supports the contact and dialogue between the South and the North and hopes to see positive outcomes out of relevant dialogue so as to facilitate the resumption of the Six-Party Talks. We have maintained close communication and contact with all relevant parties, including the ROK and the DPRK with a view to jointly pressing ahead with the Six-Party Talks.

Foreign Ministry Spokesperson Jiang Yu's Regular Press Conference on September 15, 2011

Jiang Yu started the press conference with the following announcement:

The 9th East Asia Forum will be held in Chengdu, Sichuan from September 15 to 17, attracting about 100 participants including government, industrial and academic representatives from the ten ASEAN countries, China, Japan and the ROK as well as officials from the ASEAN Secretariat. CPPCC Vice Chairman Abdul’ahat Abdulrixit will attend and address the opening ceremony. Assistant Foreign Minister Liu Zhenmin will lead the Chinese delegation to the meeting.

The theme of the forum is "to promote regional integration: the endogenous growth momentum in East Asia". China looks forward to conducting serious study and in-depth discussions with all participants on major, realistic issues concerning regional cooperation in East Asia and bringing forward new ideas on further developing East Asian cooperation. Policy proposals incubated in the meeting will be submitted to the ASEAN+3 Leaders’ Meeting to be held this November in Bali, Indonesia.

Q: China helps the European countries tide over the debt crisis by purchasing bonds and expanding investment. Does China expect payback from the European side, for example, to lift the arms embargo or to recognize China's market economy status?

A: The Foreign Ministry is not the competent authority to answer questions about the European debt crisis or whether China will buy any European country's bonds. Please consult relevant economic and financial authorities.

Recently, Chinese leaders expressed some views on relevant issues on different occasions. We believe that the resolution of the European debt crisis calls for the consensus and coordinated actions of the EU, especially the eurozone countries on relevant bail-out measures. We support the economic and financial adjustments made by some European countries to stabilize the market, balance public finance and promote economic restructuring. We would like to enhance communication and coordination with all European countries on the formulation of macroeconomic policies, reform of the international financial system and global economic governance. China always upholds the principle of mutual benefit on an equal footing in trade and economic cooperation.

On lifting the arms embargo and recognizing China's market economy status as you have mentioned, we believe that it is important for China and the EU, the comprehensive strategic partners, to understand, respect and treat each other as equals. We deem that these two issues are, in essence, political discrimination against China, which should be removed as soon as possible so as to cast off the burdens for China-EU relationship and push for its better and faster development. We hope that leaders of the European countries will come to the correct judgement as soon as possible.

Q: It is reported that the Indian Government has rejected China's representations on an Indian company's joint oil exploration with Vietnam in the South China Sea. Please confirm. Does China's claim on the South China Sea violates the UN Convention on the Law of the Sea?

A: I have not heard about the situation that you mentioned. I would like to reiterate that China has indisputable sovereignty over the Nansha Islands and their adjacent waters. China's claim on the South China Sea is grounded on sufficient historical and jurisprudential evidence. We are committed to peacefully resolving disputes over territorial sovereignty and maritime rights and interests in the South China Sea through negotiation and consultation between parties concerned on the basis of historical facts and international law. We have contributed to the peace, stability, security and order of the South China Sea.

We hope that relevant countries can respect China’s stand, rights and interests and refrain from taking unilateral actions to complicate and magnify the issue. Countries outside the region should respect and support the efforts of countries within the region to resolve disputes through bilateral negotiation.

We oppose any other country’s oil and gas exploration activity in the waters under China's jurisdiction and hope relevant foreign company do not involve itself in the South China Sea dispute.

I want to stress that it is in the common interests and should be the common goal of all countries within the region to address the dispute appropriately, bridge differences, enhance mutual trust, expand cooperation and maintain regional peace and stability of the South China Sea.

China's sovereignty, rights and relevant claims over the South China Sea have been formed in the long course of history and upheld by the Chinese government. Our sovereignty over the islands in the South China Sea is based on discovery, preoccupation as well as long-term, sustained and effective management. The UN Convention on the Law of the Sea does not entitle any country to extend its exclusive economic zone or continental shelf to the territory of another country, and it does not restrain or deny a country's right which is formed in history and abidingly upheld.

Q: It is learned that the 66th Session of the UN General Assembly will talk over the issue of letting the Libyan National Transitional Council (NTC) represent Libya in the UN. How does China look at it?

A: China supports the Libyan NTC representing Libya in the UN.

Q: Israeli Foreign Minister Liberman made some remarks on Palestine's appeal to the UN for statehood and claimed that Israel had deployed more troops along the border. What is your comment on Palestine-Israel conflict? Separately, how do you look at the current situation in Syria?

A: China always supports the Palestinian and Arab people's just cause of striving for the restoration of lawful national rights, and respects and supports Palestine submitting the issue of establishing an independent state to the UN. We are of the view that it is a lawful appeal for the Palestinian people to found a capital on the occupied Arab territory. We hope that all relevant parties will discard violence, exercise restraint and resolve the dispute through peace talks. This is the only way to realize the two-state solution.

On the situation in Syria, we hope that all relevant parties there will discard violence, exercise maximum restraint, dissolve current tensions as soon as possible and resolve the dispute through dialogue and consultation. We hope to see an early launch of the inclusive political process in Syria which will lead to substantive and practical outcomes.

Q: The most popular Japanese band will hold a concert in Beijing tomorrow. How will this kind of cultural exchanges help to improve and develop China-Japan relations?

A: We support friendly people-to-people interactions and exchanges between our two countries. We hope that the friendship between the two peoples will be constantly improved through various kinds of exchanges and interactions.

Q: It is reported that four suspects of violence and terrorism were sentenced to death today in Xinjiang. What is your comment on the security situation in Xinjiang? Separately, Malaysia has recently extradited several Uygur suspects to China. What is China’s position on its cooperation with neighbouring countries in repatriating suspects?

A: The local People's Court in Xinjiang announced publicly its first-instance judgement on two severe incidents of violence and terrorism. Detailed facts were also made known to the public. These two cases seriously impaired the safety of the local people's life and property as well as the overall interests of development and stability. I believe that the Government of the Autonomous Region will take powerful measures to crack down on violent and terrorist crimes in accordance with law. We unswervingly safeguard the stability and rule of law of the Xinjiang Autonomous Region, the fundamental interests of people of all ethnicities as well as national solidarity. To maintain stability, national solidarity and promote local economic and social development is the common aspiration of people of all ethnicities in the Xinjiang Autonomous Region.

On the case you mentioned, I can tell you that the Malaysian police has recently assisted the Chinese police in the capture of several Chinese illegal immigrants and key figures that organized human smuggling. Police of the two countries cooperate in light of the judicial assistance procedure. Competent Chinese authorities will handle relevant cases in accordance with law. We maintain that the international community should work together resolutely and take concerted actions to crack down on cross-border crimes, including human smuggling.

Q: It is reported that the African Union High-Level Ad Hoc Committee on Libya recently held a meeting in South Africa, discussing the situation in Libya. The joint communiqué released by the meeting calls for an early establishment of an inclusive coalition government in Libya. What is China's comment?

A: China appreciates the positive role played by the African Union on the Libyan issue. The early restoration of stability in Libya is in the common interests of the Libyan people as well as the international community. We hope that all parties in Libya launch an inclusive political transitional process, realize national reconciliation and start reconstruction. The future development path of Libya should be independently decided by the Libyan people.

Q: The Indian Cabinet Committee on Security reportedly approved the new China-India border management mechanism recently. What is China’s comment?

A: On the sidelines of the Third BRICS Leaders Meeting this April, leaders of China and India reached principled consensus on the establishment of a consultation and coordination mechanism on border issues, which would handle major border affairs bearing on peace and tranquility of the border area from the diplomatic dimension. At present, both sides are discussing the content, operation and other specific issues of the mechanism at the working level.

Q: The recent Arab League Foreign Ministers' Meeting called on Syria to cease violence and launch national dialogue. The EU attempts to impose more sanctions on Syria while some countries push for the discussion of the Syrian issue in the UN Security Council. Is China of the view that the international community should take further actions against Syria?

A: The Syrian issue should be resolved by all relevant parties in Syria through consultation. We hope to see an early launch of Syria-led political process so as to dissolve the crisis through dialogue. We maintain that the international community should abide by the purposes and principles of the United Nations Charter as well as the norms governing international relations and fully respect Syria's sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity. Whether the international community should take further action on the Syrian issue mainly depends on whether it is conducive to easing the tensions in Syria, promoting the resolution of disputes through political dialogue and safeguarding peace and stability in the Middle East region.

Q: What is China's comment on Chinese military chopper's trespass over India's line of actual control?

A: China's position on the border issue between China and India is to seek a fair and equitable solution acceptable to both sides through friendly consultation on an equal footing. Pending a final settlement, both sides should safeguard peace and tranquility of the border area and ensure that the border issue will not stand in the way of the normal development of bilateral relations. This is the consensus of both leaders. China strictly follows the spirit of relevant bilateral agreements and consensus and has never done anything that impairs border peace, stability and tranquility.

“Philippines Must Learn Self-Restraint in South China Sea Disputes,” People’s Daily (1 Mar. 2012)
Philippines must learn self-restraint in South China Sea disputes

Edited and translated by People's Daily Online

While most stakeholders in the South China Sea are implementing the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea and making active efforts to ease regional tensions through multi-level and multi-faceted cooperation, the Philippines is deliberately stirring up trouble and exerting unnecessarily adverse impact on regional security and stability.

The Philippines is directly responsible for recent escalation of the South China Sea dispute. On Feb. 27, Jose Rene D. Almendras, Philippine Secretary of Energy, announced that the country plans to invite foreign investors to explore 15 petroleum blocks, which he claimed as Philippine territory. Almendras’ statement runs counter to facts, and shows total ignorance of China’s sovereignty over its territorial waters.

Adhering to its stand on the South China Sea issue, China has taken the interests of all stakeholders into account, and made active efforts to promote multi-faceted cooperation with relevant countries and explore a peaceful solution to the issue.

Last July, China and other parties concerned agreed on the guidelines for implementing the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea.

[1] [2]
Philippines must learn self-restraint in South China Sea disputes (2)

China's efforts have been aimed at resolving the South China Sea issue peacefully and maintaining stability in Asia, especially in the disputed sea areas.

China has indisputable sovereignty over the Nansha Islands and its adjacent waters, and it is illegal for any country or company to explore oil or gas in sea areas under Chinese jurisdiction without the permission of the Chinese government.

Any exploration and development project in these areas without China’s consent cannot be successful. China is firmly determined to safeguard its sovereignty, and will take all possible measures to solve such problems when necessary.

The peaceful settlement of the South China Sea issue is a complex long-term project. All parties concerned should earnestly implement the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea, and smooth the path for future negotiations based on the principles established in the declaration. Most importantly, they need to build up mutual trust through pragmatic cooperation.

The Philippines should return to the right track of maintaining peace and stability in the South China Sea, adhere to the spirit of the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea, and refrain from taking moves that will complicate or aggravate the dispute. It should remember that any irresponsible unilateral action in resolving the dispute will only backfire.

Embassy of the People's Republic of China in the Republic of the Philippines, China's Sovereignty over the Huangyan Island is Indisputable (15 May 2012)
The China News Service conducted an interview with Mr. Wu Shicun, Dean of the National Institute for South China Sea Studies on 6 May. During the interview, Wu said that the Huangyan Island is China's inherent territory. China's sovereignty over the Huangyan Island is indisputable.

From China's Yuan Dynasty (1271-1368 AD), the Huangyan Island has been under the jurisdiction of successive Chinese governments which have effectively exercised and consolidated sovereignty over the island. This has been never been challenged but widely recognized by the international community for centuries. The Philippines' claim of sovereignty over the Huangyan Island is completely groundless.

The Huangyan Island consists a ring-shaped chain of reefs 0.5-3 meters above the water, encircling a lagoon that is 130 square kilometers broad and 10-20 meters deep. Situated in the important navigation route from Malacca Strait to Taiwan and Bashi Channel in the South China Sea, the Huangyan Island is geographically important and strategically crucial.

Wu Shicun said, according to historical archives, in 1279, Chinese astronomer Guo Shoujing was instructed by the royal court to perform a surveying of the seas around China, and the Huangyan Island was the point chosen by him to survey the South China Sea. This shows that China has discovered and started using the Island in Yuan Dynasty or even earlier. By that time though, indigenous people in the Philippines were still living in primitive tribes.

Wu said, the Huangyan Island and its adjacent waters are rich in fishing resources. Chinese fishermen have worked there for generations. The island is also a place used by the Chinese sailing in the South China Sea to rest and take shelter from the wind. The Book on Voyage Routes and other annuals contain a complete record of the sailing routes of Chinese fishermen in the Huangyan Island waters.

Since the Yuan Dynasty, the Chinese have never ceased their activities on the Huangyan Island and its waters to develop and exploit the island. This is a historical fact long been proved in official documents, local archives and maps of China in various historical periods.

In mid 1930s, the Map Verification Committee of China, consisted of members from government departments like the Ministry of Interior Affairs, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Ministry of Education, declared sovereignty over 132 islands, reefs and shoals in the South China Sea, among which the Huangyan Island was included into the Chinese territory as part of the Zhongsha Islands.

In 1947, the Chinese government announced a name list of 172 South China Sea Islands, among which the Huangyan Island was named Democratic Reef and was included into the Zhongsha Islands. In 1948, the official map published by China about the South China Sea Islands, the Huangyan Island was put within the traditional maritime boundary of China in the South China Sea.

After the founding of the People's Republic of China, the Chinese government has issued statements and declarations about its sovereignty over the South China Sea Islands, which all made it clear that China owns the territorial sovereignty over the Huangyan Island. The Chinese government has exercised and maintained territorial sovereignty and jurisdiction over the Huangyan Island, which has been under uninterrupted jurisdiction of Guangdong Province and Hainan Province.

In early 1980s, the Chinese government organized a survey of the names of the South China Sea islands, and in 1983, when the China Board on Geographic Names released the Geographic Names of Some of the South China Sea Islands, the Huangyan Island was stipulated the standard name and Democratic Reef the alternative one.

In the Law on the Territorial Sea and Contiguous Zone of the People's Republic of China published in 1992, the Article about territory stipulated that the Huangyan Island is China's territory, thus reaffirming the legal status of the island as part of China.

Wu Shicun stressed, China's sovereignty, sovereign rights and its related claims over the South China Sea have formed and developed in the long annuals of history and have always been upheld by Chinese governments.

China's determination to safeguard territorial sovereignty is firm and steadfast. For years, the Chinese maritime surveillance and fisheries administration ships have patrolled at the island regularly. This not only constitutes legal jurisdiction over the Huangyan Island and its adjacent waters, which are China's territory, but also manifestations of China's exercise of its sovereignty over the island.

Ten Questions Regarding Huangyan Island

1. Where is Huangyan Island?

Internationally known as Scarborough Shoal, Huangyan Island (once named Minzhu Jiao or Democratic Reef) is situated in the South China Sea at 15°07’ N and 117°51’ E and is a part of China's Zhongsha Islands. With reefs and rocks in a circle ring shape stretching about 55 kilometers in circumference, Huangyan Island has a lagoon with an area of about 130km² and a depth of 10 – 20 meters.

2. When did China discover and name Huangyan Island?

China conducted astronomical and geographical surveys of the South China Sea, including Huangyan Island, in the 13th century during the Yuan Dynasty. It shows that China discovered and exploited Huangyan Island in the Yuan Dynasty, to say the least.

In 1935, the Lands and Waters Mapping Review Committee of the then Chinese government approved and publicized the geographical names of 132 islands, shoals, reefs and sand bars in the South China Sea, and Huangyan Island, with the name of Scarborough Shoal was included in the list as part of the Zhongsha Islands of the Chinese territory. In 1947, the Department of Territory of the Ministry of Internal Affairs of the Chinese government approved and publicized the geographical names of 172 islands in the South China Sea, including Huangyan Island which was then named Minzhu Jiao in Chinese as part of the Zhongsha Islands. In the early 1980s, the Chinese government conducted a survey on island names in the South China Sea. In 1983, China Committee on Geographical Names was authorized to publicize a list of geographic names of some South China Sea islands, which used Huangyan Island as the standard name of the island, with Minzhu Jiao as an alternative name.

(Figure 4: In 1947, the Department of Territory of the Ministry of Internal Affairs of the Chinese government approved and publicized the geographical names of 172 islands in the South China Sea, including Huangyan Island which was then named Minzhu Jiao in Chinese as part of the Zhongsha Islands.)

3. How has China developed and exploited Huangyan Island?

Huangyan Island and its surrounding waters have been China's traditional fishing grounds since ancient times. Chinese fishermen have engaged in fishery activities for generations. In addition, they have used Huangyan Island as a safe haven in their voyage in the South China Sea. Gengluhu, an ancient Chinese navigation log recording trips in the South China Sea, and other ancient documents and literature contain complete records of Chinese fishermen's activities around Huangyan Island. Since the Yuan Dynasty, the Chinese people have never stopped developing and exploiting Huangyan Island and its surrounding waters and the Chinese government has exercised effective management and jurisdiction over their activities all these years. These historical facts are supported by official documents, local chronicles and official maps in the past centuries.
The Chinese government has also sent out scientific expedition teams to Huangyan Island on many occasions. For instance, scientists of South China Sea Institute of Oceanology of the Chinese Academy of Sciences landed on Huangyan Island for research activities in October 1977 and June 1978 respectively. The South China Sea Branch of the State Oceanic Administration organized a comprehensive survey on Huangyan Island in April 1985. The Chinese South China Sea Scientific Expedition Team stepped onto Huangyan Island for scientific research and erected a one-meter-high cement monument in 1994. The relevant department of the Chinese government approved the application by radio amateurs to embark on Huangyan Island for radio exploration activities in 1994, 1995, 1997 and 2007 respectively.

4. How has China exercised effective jurisdiction of Huangyan Island?

Among the 132 islands, shoals, reefs and sand bars in the South China Sea in the list of geographical names approved and publicized by the Water and Land Mapping Review Committee of the Chinese government in 1935, Huangyan Island was listed as part of the Zhongsha Islands. The committee subsequently issued the Map of China's Islands in the South China Sea and included Huangyan Island into China's territory. The Internal Affairs Ministry of the Chinese government produced a Location Map of the South China Sea Islands in 1947, in which the geographical names of the Dongsha, Xisha, Zhongsha and Nansha islands were clearly marked, together with 172 islands, shoals, reefs and sand bars. Huangyan Island, then named Minzhu Jiao, was marked as part of the Zhongsha Islands. In 1948, this Location Map was officially publicized by the Internal Affairs Ministry of the Chinese government as an appendix to the Administrative Map of the Republic of China.

After the founding of the People's Republic of China in 1949, China has continued to exercise sovereignty over Huangyan Island. Chinese Foreign Minister Zhou Enlai, in his 1951 statement on the US and UK's draft peace treaty with Japan and the San Francisco Conference, explicitly stated the following: "The Xisha Islands and Nanwei Island, just like the Nansha, Zhongsha and Dongsha islands, have always been China's territory. Although they had been occupied by Japan for some time during the war of aggression waged by Japanese imperialists, they were all taken back by the then Chinese government following Japan's surrender." Therefore, Huangyan Island as part of the Zhongsha Islands indisputably belongs to China. China issued the Statement of the People's Republic of China on the Territorial Sea in 1958, in which China reaffirmed its sovereignty over the Dongsha, Xisha, Zhongsha and Nansha islands. In 1959, the Office for Xisha, Nansha and Zhongsha Islands' Affairs under the government of Guangdong Province, was opened by the Chinese government on the Yongxing Island, which is a part of the Xisha Islands. The office became a part of the government of the newly-established Hainan Province in 1988.

In the early 1980s, the Chinese government conducted a survey of the geographical names of the Nanhai Islands. In 1983, the Committee on Geographical Names of China was authorized to publicize the geographical names of selected islands in the South China Sea, in which Huangyan Island was included as the standard name and Minzhu Jiao as its alternative name. The Law of the People's Republic of China on the Territorial Sea and the Contiguous Zone publicized in 1992 has explicitly provided in article 2 that "The land territory of the People's Republic of China includes the mainland of the People's Republic of China and its coastal islands; Taiwan and all islands appertaining there to including the Diaoyu Islands; the Penghu Islands; the Dongsha Islands; the Xisha Islands; the Zhongsha Islands and the Nansha Islands; as well as all the other islands belonging to the People's Republic of China." Once again, China reaffirmed its sovereignty over the islands in the South China Sea, including Huangyan Island. It needs to be mentioned that not any country has ever opposed or disputed China's sovereignty over Huangyan Island.

5. Why is Huangyan Island outside the territory of the Philippines?

Before 1997, the Philippines had never claimed sovereignty over Huangyan Island. In fact, the composition and scope of the Philippine territory was clearly determined by a series of international treaties. The "Treaty of Paris between Spain and the United States" in 1898, the "Treaty of Washington between Spain and the United States" in 1900 and the "Anglo-American Treaty" in 1930 had clearly defined that 118 degrees east longitude is the western limit of Philippine territory. The Huangyan Island is outside it. After the Second World War, the Philippines signed a series of treaties and agreements with the US, which have all reiterated the legal effect of the above-mentioned three treaties. The Act 3046 set by Philippines about its territorial sea baseline in 1961 and the amendment of the territorial sea baseline by Philippines in 1968 have both clearly reaffirmed that 118 degree east longitude is the western limit of the Philippine territory and Huangyan Island is not a base point of the Philippine territorial sea baseline.

The official maps of the Philippines publicized respectively in 2006, 2008, 2009, 2010 and even 2011 have all marked Huangyan Island as outside the boundary of the Philippine territory.

The Philippines officially and explicitly stated that Huangyan Island did not belong to the Philippines. For instance, the former Philippine ambassador to Germany stated clearly in his letter to German radio amateurs on 5 February 1990 that "Huangyan Island is not within the territory of the Philippines according to the National Mapping and Resource Information Authority of the Philippines (NAMRIA)." Both the official document issued by NAMRIA dated 18 October 1994 and a document from the Philippine Amateur Radio Association to the American Radio Relay League dated on 18 November 1994 made it clear that "the territorial boundary and sovereignty of the Philippines were provided for in Article 3 of the Treaty of Paris between the US and Spain on 10 December 1898 with Huangyan Island outside the Philippine territory."

6. When did the Philippines place its claim over Huangyan Island?

Since May 1997, the Philippines has revealed its intention to occupy China's Huangyan Island. At that time, the Chinese Radio Sports Association organized a China-US-Japan radio expedition team to land on Huangyan Island for radio activities. During this period, the Philippines repeatedly dispatched warships and military aircrafts to track, monitor and harass these amateur radio activities. Two members of the Philippine House of Representatives blatantly boarded a naval vessel to land on Huangyan Island, where they erected flags and monuments, and blocked and intimidated the Chinese personnel. In 2009, the Philippines amended the Philippine Territorial Sea Baselines Act to include Huangyan Island into its territory. China has expressed its unequivocal opposition to these activities by the Philippines and has lodged solemn representations with the Philippine side.

7. Why do you say that the Philippine claim of the sovereignty over Huangyan Island does not hold water?
The Philippines' position on Huangyan Island has been inconsistent and self-contradictory and is absolutely groundless according to the international law.

a) Before the 1990s, the Philippines had never challenged China's sovereignty and jurisdiction over Huangyan Island.

b) In the late 1990s, the Philippines advanced its territorial claim over Huangyan Island on the ground of geographic proximity and on the excuse that Huangyan Island is located within the 200 nautical miles of the Philippine EEZ according to its one-sided interpretation of UNCLOS. However, the principle of geographic proximity does not provide the legal basis for territorial sovereignty while its EEZ-based claim violates the principle of international law that "the land dominates the sea", and it is also a misinterpretation and abuse of the UNCLOS.

c) After the Huangyan Island Incident in April 2012, the Philippines has given a new reason for its claim, saying that the Philippines has effectively occupied and managed Huangyan Island ever since its independence. But China has discovered, exploited, named and effectively administered Huangyan Island and has never stopped its effective jurisdiction over the island even since the 13th century, much earlier than the independence of the Philippines.

8. Why do you think the Philippines violates international law by basing its territorial claim on the geographic proximity?

The Philippines claims sovereignty over Huangyan Island because it is closest to the Philippines. According to international judicial practice and international case law, the so-called "geographic proximity" does not constitute a basis for one country to occupy the territory of another country. In today's world, many countries have remote offshore territories, which are much closer to other countries than to their own. There are numerous cases in the world in which countries have owned offshore territories or islands that are far away from their own countries and closer to their neighboring countries. Therefore, geographic proximity cannot change the sovereignty of these territories or islands.

The Philippines claims that since Huangyan Island is about 125 nautical miles away from its Luzon Island, thus within its EEZs, as the UNCLOS provides for 200 nautical miles EEZs, the Philippines has the sovereignty over Huangyan Island. Clearly, the Philippines here has misinterpreted and misapplied UNCLOS on the basis of its own interests, which is contrary to international law and to UNCLOS. It has been an established basic principle of international law that "the land dominates the sea". Coastal states derive their sovereign rights and jurisdiction over EEZs from their territorial sovereignty. UNCLOS does not have any provision to change a country's sovereignty over territorial land, let alone empowering any nation to extend its EEZs to include territories of other countries. Hence, UNCLOS can not serve as a basis for a country to claim sovereignty over China's Huangyan Island. In this context, ignoring the fact Huangyan Island has always belonged to China, the Philippines' EEZs-based territorial claim to the detriment of China's territorial sovereignty is not only a misinterpretation and abuse of UNCLOS, but also represents a violation of the fundamental principle of the inviolability of territorial sovereignty enshrined in the UN Charter.

10. What actually happened on Huangyan Island in April 2012?

When 12 fishing boats from Hainan, China were conducting normal operations in the Huangyan Island lagoon on the morning of April 10, the Philippine Navy warship Gregorio del Pilar blocked the entrance to the lagoon. The Philippine armed personnel boarded four Chinese fishing boats, questioned the Chinese fishermen, searched the boats and took photos. They were rude and rough, severely violated China's territorial sovereignty and the human rights of Chinese fishermen. On the afternoon of 10 April, upon learning of the incident, the Chinese marine surveillance vessels No.84 and No.75, both performing routine patrol duty nearby, immediately headed to the Island to protect the safety of the Chinese fishermen. On the afternoon of 11 April, the Chinese fishery administration boat No.303 also arrived on the site and instructed the Chinese fishing boats and fishermen to evacuate safely and get rid of the Philippine intimidation. Afterwards, an archaeological ship of the Philippines stayed in the lagoon for illegal operation for a long time, and refused to leave the site until 18 April after China’s repeated representations.

After the occurrence of Huangyan Island Incident, China has consistently adhered to its position of solving the issue through diplomatic consultation. However, the Philippines kept escalating the situation, made erroneous remarks to mislead the public at home and abroad and whip up hostile sentiments. All the above actions have severely damaged the bilateral relations. To prevent further provocation by the Philippines, the Chinese public service ships have continued to keep close watch over Huangyan Island waters, provide administrative and other service to Chinese fishing boats in accordance with China’s laws, so as to ensure Chinese fishermen a good environment for operations in their traditional fishing grounds.

Foreign Ministry Spokesperson Hong Lei's Regular Press Conference on February 19, 2013

2013/02/20

Foreign Ministry Spokesperson Hong Lei held a press conference on February 19, 2013.

Hong Lei started the press conference with the following announcement:

Liu Yandong, member of the Political Bureau of the CPC Central Committee and State Councilor, will be in the ROK for the inauguration ceremony of the ROK's new President Park Geun-hye from February 23 to 26 as the Special Representative of President Hu Jintao and General Secretary Xi Jinping.

Q: It is reported that the agreement of transferring the management of Pakistan's Gwadar port to a Chinese company was officially signed in Pakistan on February 18. Comments say that the Gwadar port is an important fulcrum for China to secure energy and develop maritime routes and is of profound strategic significance. What is China's comment?

A: China and Pakistan are friendly neighbours. Chinese companies have long been actively participating in Pakistan's constructions in all fields. As a commercial project in China-Pakistan economic and trade cooperation, the Chinese company's takeover of the management of the Gwadar port is part of the mutually beneficial and friendly cooperation between the two countries. China-Pakistan cooperation not only serves the interests of the two countries and peoples, but is also conducive to regional stability and development.

Q: It is learnt that China has returned the Philippines' note regarding bringing the South China Sea dispute between the two countries to international arbitration. Please confirm.

A: China's position on the South China Sea issue is clear and consistent. China's sovereignty over the Nansha Islands and their adjacent waters is based on sufficient historical and jurisprudential evidence. Meanwhile, bearing in mind the larger interests of China-Philippines relations and regional peace and stability, China has always been committed to solving disputes through bilateral negotiations and has made unremitting efforts to safeguard stability in the South China Sea and promote regional cooperation. It is also the consensus reached by ASEAN countries and China in the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea (DOC) to resolve disputes through negotiations between directly concerned sovereign states. The Philippines' note and its attached notice not only violate the consensus, but also contain serious errors in fact and law as well as false accusations against China, which we firmly oppose.
Chinese Ambassador to the Philippines Ma Keqing called a meeting with officials of the Philippine Foreign Ministry today, made clear that China refused to accept the note and its attached notice and returned them.

China hopes that the Philippines would honor its commitments, refrain from taking actions that may complicate and aggravate the issue, and make positive response to China's proposals of establishing a consultation mechanism on bilateral maritime issues and resuming the mechanism on confidence-building measures so as to return to the right track of resolving disputes through bilateral negotiations.

Q: The US cyber security company MANDIANT yesterday released a report saying that Chinese military-backed hackers repeatedly attacked US websites. What is China's comment?

A: Cyber attack is a global problem that should be resolved through constructive international cooperation based on mutual trust and respect. It is neither professional nor responsible to make groundless speculations and accusations on hacker attacks for various purposes, which does not help solve the problem.

The Chinese government has always firmly opposed to and combatted cyber attacks in accordance with the law. In fact, China is one of the main victims of cyber attacks. Cyber attacks and crimes against China are on the fast rise year by year. According to a report by the National Computer Network Emergency Response Technical Team Coordination Center of China (CNCERT), in 2012, 73,000 overseas IP addresses were involved in the control of more than 14 million hosts in China as Trojan or Botnet command and control servers while 32,000 IP addresses conducted remote control over nearly 38,000 websites in China through backdoor implantation. The US ranked the first among the origins of the above cyber attacks.

To promote the settlement of the cyber security problem, China, Russia and some other countries jointly submitted a draft of International Code of Conduct for Information Security to the UN in September 2011. China calls on the international community to formulate a code of conduct of responsible countries for cyber security on the basis of the draft and jointly build a peaceful, secure, open and cooperative cyberspace to safeguard the common interests of the international community.

Q: The UN High Commissioner for Human Rights Navi Pillay recently said that Syrian President Bashar al-Assad should be investigated for crimes against humanity and war crimes. What is China's comment?

A: We believe that political resolution is the only practical way out for the Syrian issue. Relevant parties should build up consensus on the basis of the communiqué of the Geneva foreign ministers' meeting of the Action Group and push for an early, fair, peaceful and appropriate settlement of the Syrian issue. Words and deeds of relevant international organizations and personnel should be conducive to the realization of this goal instead of further complicating the issue.

Foreign Ministry Spokesperson Hong Lei's Regular Press Conference on February 20, 2013

Hong Lei started the press conference with the following announcement:

At the invitation of the government of Sierra Leone, Minister Jiang Weixin of Housing and Urban-Rural Development will attend the inauguration ceremony of President Ernest Bai Koroma in Freetown on February 22 as the Special Representative of President Hu Jintao.

Q: Philippine Foreign Ministry issued a statement yesterday, saying that it would push forward the arbitration process against China on the South China Sea dispute between the two countries. What is your comment?

A: Both the Philippines and China are signatories to the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in South China Sea (DOC) and have made commitments on comprehensive and earnest implementation of the DOC. We disapprove of the Philippine Foreign Ministry's practice of bringing international arbitration and have made clear our opposition stance.

China maintains that the dialogue framework supported by most countries in the region should be upheld. We will continue to make efforts to maintain peace and stability in the South China Sea and unwaveringly safeguard national sovereignty and interests.

Q: Does China keep communication with the US on the issue of hacker attack?

A: China and the US have maintained communication on relevant issue. As I said yesterday, cyber attack is a global problem and should be resolved through constructive international cooperation on the basis of mutual trust and respect. It is neither professional nor responsible to make groundless speculations and accusations on hacker attacks for various purposes, which does not help solve the problem. The Chinese government has always firmly opposed to and combatted cyber attacks in accordance with the law. China is one of the main victims of cyber attacks. As far as we know, cyber attacks against China mainly originate from the US. China, Russia and some other countries jointly submitted a draft of International Code of Conduct for Information Security to the UN in September 2011. China calls on the international community to formulate a code of conduct of responsible countries for cyber security on the basis of the draft and jointly build a peaceful, secure, open and cooperative cyberspace to safeguard the common interests of the international community.

政府职能转变是深化行政体制改革的核心。转变国务院机构职能，必须处理好政府与市场、政府与社会、中央与地方的关系，深化行政审批制度改革，减少微观事务管理，该取消的取消，该下放的下放，该整合的整合，以充分发挥市场在资源配置中的基础性作用、更好发挥社会力量在管理社会事务中的作用。充分发挥中央和地方两个积极性，同时该加强的加强，改善和加强宏观管理，注重完善制度机制，加快形成权责清晰、分工合理、权责一致、运转高效、法治保障的国务院机构职能体系，真正做到该管的管住管好，不该管的不管不干预，切实提高政府管理科学化水平。

（一）减少和下放投资审批事项。除涉及国家安全、公共安全等重大项目外，按照“谁投资、谁决策、谁收益、谁承担风险”的原则，最大限度地缩小审批、核准、备案范围，切实落实企业和个人投资自主权。抓紧修订政府核准投资项目目录，对确需审批、核准、备案的项目，要简化程序、限时办结。

对已列入国家有关规划需要审批的项目，除其他地区、需要全国统筹安排或需要总量控制的项目以及需要实行国家安全审查的外资项目外，按行政审批制度改革原则减少审批后，一律由地方政府审批。对国家采用补贴、贴息等方式扶持的项目，由财政资金支持的项目，国务院确定投资方向、原则和标准，具体由地方政府安排，相应加强对地方政府使用扶持资金的监督检查。

加强投资活动的土地使用、能源消耗、环境污染等管理，发挥法律法规、发展规划、产业政策的约束和引导作用。

（二）减少和下放生产经营活动审批事项。按照市场主体能够自主决定、市场机制能够有效调节、行业组织能够自律管理、行政机关采取事中事后监督能够解决的事宜不设立审批的原则，最大限度地减少对生产经营活动和产品物品的许可，最大限度地减少对各类机构及其活动的认定等非许可审批。

依法需要实施的生产经营活动审批，凡直接面向基层、量大面广或由地方实施更方便有效的，一律下放地方。

（六）改革工商登记制度。对按照法律、行政法规和国务院决定需要取得前置许可的事项，涉及国家安全、公民生命财产安全等外，不再实行先主管部门审批、再工商登记。对从事需要许可的生产经营活动，持营业执照和有关材料向主管部门申请许可。将注册资本实缴登记制改为认缴登记制，并放宽工商登记其他条件。

Foreign Ministry Spokesperson Hua Chunying's Remarks on the Philippines' Efforts in Pushing for the Establishment of the Arbitral Tribunal in Relation to the Disputes between China and the Philippines in the South China Sea

2013/04/26

Q: At the request of the Philippines, an arbitral tribunal on the South China Sea disputes between China and the Philippines has been composed recently. What is China's comment on this?

A: On 22 January 2013, the Philippines sent China a note verbale, attached with a notification, to initiate arbitration proceedings against China regarding issues of the South China Sea. On 19 February, China stated its rejection of the request for arbitration by the Philippines and returned the latter's note verbale and the attached notification. The position of China, as indicated above, will not change.

Since the 1970s, the Philippines, in violation of the Charter of the United Nations and principles of international law, illegally occupied some islands and reefs of China's Nansha Islands, including Mahuan Dao, Feixin Dao, Zhongye Dao, Nanyao Dao, Beizi Dao, Xiyue Dao, Shuanghuang Shazhou and Siling Jiao. Firmly and consistently opposed to the illegal occupation by the Philippines, China hereby solemnly reiterates its demand that the Philippines withdraw all its nationals and facilities from China's islands and reefs.

The Philippines professed in the notification of 22 January 2013 that it "does not seek…a determination of which Party enjoys sovereignty over the islands claimed by both of them." On 22 January, however, the Philippines publicly stated that the purpose for initiating the arbitration was to bring to "a durable solution" the Philippines-China disputes in the South China Sea. These statements are simply self-contradictory. In addition, by initiating the arbitration on the basis of its illegal occupation of China's islands and reefs, the Philippines has distorted the basic facts underlying the disputes between China and the Philippines. In so doing, the Philippines attempts to deny China's territorial sovereignty and clothes its illegal occupation of China's islands and reefs with a cloak of "legality". The Philippines' attempt to seek a so-called "durable solution" such as this and the means it has employed to that end are absolutely unacceptable to China.

In accordance with international law, and especially the principle of the law of the sea that "land dominates the sea", determined territorial sovereignty is the precondition for, and basis of maritime delimitation. The claims for arbitration as raised by the Philippines are essentially concerned with maritime delimitation between the two countries in parts of the South China Sea, and thus inevitably involve the territorial sovereignty over certain relevant islands and reefs. However, such issues of territorial sovereignty are not the ones concerning the interpretation or application of the UN Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS). Therefore, given the fact that the Sino-Philippine territorial disputes still remain unresolved, the compulsory dispute settlement procedures as contained in UNCLOS should not apply to the claims for arbitration as raised by the Philippines. Moreover, in 2006, the Chinese Government made a declaration in pursuance of Article 298 of UNCLOS, excluding disputes regarding such matters as those related to maritime delimitation from the compulsory dispute settlement procedures, including arbitration. Therefore, the request for arbitration by the Philippines is manifestly unfounded. China's rejection of the Philippines' request for arbitration, consequently, has a solid basis in international law.

In the interest of maintaining the Sino-Philippine relations and the peace and stability in the South China Sea, China has been persistent in pursuing bilateral negotiations and consultations with the Philippines to resolve relevant disputes. It is a commitment undertaken by all signatories, the Philippines included, under the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea (DOC) that disputes relating to territorial and maritime rights and interests be resolved through negotiations by sovereign states directly concerned therewith. The DOC should be implemented in a comprehensive and serious manner. China will adhere to the means of bilateral negotiations to resolve territorial and maritime delimitation disputes both in accordance with applicable rules of international law and in compliance with the spirit of the DOC.

Remarks by H.E. Li Keqiang Premier of the State Council of the People's Republic of China At the 16th ASEAN-China Summit

Your Majesty Sultan Hassanal Bolkiah of Brunei Darussalam,

Dear Colleagues,

Good afternoon. I am delighted to join you in the beautiful city of Bandar Seri Begawan. His Majesty Sultan has attended the ASEAN-China Summit many times and put in tremendous efforts in promoting ASEAN's cooperation with China. I wish to thank His Majesty Sultan and the government of Brunei for the meticulous preparation and thoughtful arrangements for this meeting. As for me, this is my first time to attend the meeting and I look forward to an in-depth exchange of views with all friends present, old and new, on the future course of our cooperation.

The year 2013 marks the 10th anniversary of the China-ASEAN strategic partnership. Over the past decade, China-ASEAN relations have achieved robust growth and our cooperation has made remarkable progress. We have deepened political mutual trust, supported each other on many major international and regional affairs, and maintained good-neighborliness and harmonious coexistence. We have significantly advanced our practical cooperation. From 2002 to 2012, two-way trade grew at an average annual rate of 23.6%, reaching US$400 billion. Mutual investment increased 3.4 times, totaling over US$100 billion. China is now ASEAN's biggest trading partner and ASEAN China's third largest trading partner. China and ASEAN have established the world's largest free trade area among developing countries. We have increased our people-to-people and cultural exchanges, and deepened cooperation in areas relating to people's livelihood and the development of social programs. Last year, 9.69 million Chinese tourists traveled to ASEAN countries. In the face of the international financial crisis and major natural disasters, we stood alongside each other and worked closely together. This has enhanced the public support for our cooperation.

Over the past decade, East Asia has grown with strong momentum despite the ups and downs in the international environment. The key to fruitful China-ASEAN cooperation lies in mutual trust, pragmatism and inclusiveness. Such cooperation, in essence, serves our common interests and complies with the trend of the times toward peace, development and cooperation. In today's world, countries, more than ever before, need to have a peaceful and stable external environment. They need to push forward one's own development through closer cooperation, view each other with a long-term perspective, and work jointly like one big family for their common future. To this end, I believe we need to further intensify the following two points of consensus:

First, deeper strategic mutual trust and good-neighborly relations is fundamental to closer cooperation. Amidst great changes in the international situation in the last 20-plus years since the end of the Cold War, East Asia has been able to seize the opportunity for development and enjoyed rapid growth. The most important reason is that we have jointly maintained peace and stability in this region. Without a secure environment, economic prosperity cannot sustain; and without mutual trust, win-win cooperation can hardly go any further. China will, as always, pursue the foreign policy of building friendship and partnership with its neighbors, resolve differences through friendly consultation and dialogue on the basis of mutual respect and equality, and support ASEAN's centrality in East Asia cooperation. We are ready to share weal and woe and grow together with ASEAN. If I could compare China-ASEAN cooperation to a fine piece of silk, then China and ASEAN would be the vertical thread and horizontal thread on the loom that have to be interwoven by the "shuttle" of mutual trust. That is how we can make sure that the piece of silk, when finished, could really shine with grandeur and splendor.

The situation in the South China Sea is generally stable, and the differences that exist will not and should not affect the overall China-ASEAN relations. Disputes in the South China Sea should be addressed through consultation and negotiation between parties directly concerned. China and ASEAN countries should work together to maintain peace and stability in the South China Sea and jointly foster a favorable environment for peaceful settlement of the disputes. Pending a peaceful settlement, China maintains that parties to the dispute should work actively for joint development. There is freedom of navigation in the South China Sea, and the safety of navigation in the South China Sea is assured. Each year, over 100,000 cargo ships from various countries sail across this area smoothly. China will continue to work with other countries in the region to uphold the freedom and safety of navigation in the South China Sea.

The Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea (DOC), as an important political agreement reached among China and ASEAN countries, constitutes the cornerstone for peace and stability in the South China Sea. Last month, the Senior Officials’ Meeting and Joint Working Group Meeting for the implementation of the DOC were successfully held in Suzhou, China. China will work with ASEAN countries to vigorously promote practical maritime cooperation in the process of full and effective implementation of the DOC. China will continue to have consultations with ASEAN countries on formulating a code of conduct in the South China Sea (COC) under the framework of implementing the DOC, and will work with ASEAN countries to advance the formulation process of the COC in an active and prudent manner under the principle of consensus building. A tranquil South China Sea is a blessing for all, while a turbulent one benefits no one. We need to work together to make it a sea of peace, friendship and cooperation.

Second, focusing on economic development and expanding win-win results is crucial to deeper cooperation. China and ASEAN are both in a crucial period of development. With a combined population of 1.9 billion, we enjoy a huge market and tremendous development potential. To enhance business cooperation and draw on each other's strengths has become the choice for China and ASEAN countries to overcome obstacles on the way ahead and promote common development. What we need to do is to take further actions and achieve a few more major results to bring our practical cooperation to a new level. China will give strong support to the development of the GMS and BIMP–EAGA, so as to narrow the development gap between ASEAN countries and promote ASEAN Community building. The recent volatility in the financial markets of some Southeast Asian countries has not been followed by a new round of crisis. This is attributable to the efforts of these countries in economic reform, structural adjustment and financial supervision, and to their communication, coordination and cooperation in the financial and other fields. We should continue to uphold our common interests and make the dividends of our cooperation reach our people in a most extensive way.

Dear Colleagues,

The China-ASEAN relationship has become a mature one and China-ASEAN cooperation has entered the fast track of development. We need to seize the opportunities to further elevate our cooperation. To this end, and on the basis of the above-mentioned two points of political consensus, I wish to make a seven-point proposal on building a framework for wide-ranging, in-depth, high-level and all-round China-ASEAN cooperation in the next decade.

First, we need to actively discuss the possibility of concluding a treaty on good-neighborliness, friendship and cooperation between China and ASEAN countries. Good-neighborliness and friendship are a treasure for China-ASEAN cooperation to which we all need to remain truly committed. The new Chinese government attaches great importance to ASEAN and takes ASEAN as a priority on its diplomatic agenda regarding the neighborhood. We should plant more flowers, not thorns, in our relations and always be good neighbors, good friends and good partners. During the Special China-ASEAN Foreign Ministers' Meeting held recently, the two sides discussed the possibility of concluding a treaty on good-neighborliness, friendship and cooperation between China and ASEAN countries. Smooth progress of this process will reflect our confidence and resolve for jointly upholding peace and stability in the region, including in the South China Sea, and for deepening mutually beneficial cooperation. If consensus could be reached and the treaty finally signed, it will provide legal and institutional safeguards for China-ASEAN strategic cooperation, and will become a banner guiding the development of China-ASEAN relations.

Second, we need to start negotiations on an upgraded version of the China-ASEAN Free Trade Area (CAFTA). China suggests to launch negotiations as soon as possible on an upgraded CAFTA. We will encourage both sides to take more steps to open up such areas as trade in goods, trade in services and investment cooperation so as to further advance trade and investment liberalization and facilitation. We will endeavor to raise two-way trade to US$1 trillion by 2020, and enable ASEAN countries to benefit even more from regional integration and China's economic growth. In the coming eight years, China will import as much as three trillion US dollars of goods from ASEAN and invest over US$100 billion in ASEAN countries. The Chinese government supports Hong Kong in conducting FTA negotiations with ASEAN as a separate customs territory. China also stands ready to work with ASEAN to advance negotiations of the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP) to deepen economic integration of our region.

Third, we need to expedite the development of infrastructural connectivity. Better connectivity contributes to regional trade facilitation and helps expand trade bilaterally and multilaterally. We should make good use of such mechanisms as the China-ASEAN Committee on Connectivity Cooperation and China-ASEAN Transport Ministers' Meeting to make better planning and identify and launch landmark collaborative projects on connectivity building as soon as possible. China will work with other parties to jointly advance the flagship project of the Pan-Asia Railway network and hopes to see early start of its construction. To meet the financing needs of some regional countries to upgrade infrastructure, China will continue to make proper use of the China-ASEAN Investment Cooperation Fund and provide special loans. At the same time, China proposes that an Asian infrastructure investment bank be set up, and welcomes ASEAN countries to play an active part in it. With an open approach, the bank aims to pool collective efforts to raise our financing capacity and will give priority to transport, energy, communication and other infrastructure projects in countries of the region.

Fourth, we need to step up regional financial cooperation and risk prevention. China will work with other countries in the region and take more effective measures to tackle regional and international financial risks. China suggests that we increase the size and scope of bilateral local currency swap, expand the pilot program of settling cross-border trade with local currencies to reduce the exchange rate risks and settlement costs of intra-regional trade and investment, and fully leverage the role of the China-ASEAN Inter-bank Association. We need to strengthen cooperation on the Chiang Mai Initiative Multilateralization and move speedily to improve the operational procedures for the US$240 billion foreign exchange reserve pool. China is ready to provide facilitation to the monetary authorities and other institutions of ASEAN countries to invest in China's bond market. We also need to vigorously explore and formulate a roadmap for future regional financial cooperation and endeavor to forge an Asia currency stability system, an Asia credit system and an Asia investment and financing cooperation system.

Fifth, we need to steadily advance maritime cooperation. This is a major undertaking, and both sides need to take active steps to advance our maritime partnership and jointly build the Maritime Silk Road of the 21st century. China has set up a RMB3 billion China-ASEAN Maritime Cooperation Fund and welcomes project proposals from ASEAN countries. The first group of 17 approved projects are aimed to support cooperation over marine economy, maritime connectivity, marine environmental protection and scientific research, and maritime search and rescue. Fishery cooperation should be given priority, as it benefits our people directly and helps to maintain stability. China supports the holding of a China-ASEAN marine cooperation forum in Indonesia this coming November.

Sixth, we need to strengthen exchange and cooperation in the security field. China proposes that the mechanism of ASEAN-China Defense Ministers' Meeting be improved and regular dialogues on regional security issues be held. China welcomes ASEAN defense ministers to visit China at an appropriate time and hold a special China-ASEAN defense ministers' meeting. The two sides may also deepen cooperation in disaster prevention and relief, cyber security, combating transnational crimes, joint law enforcement and other non-traditional security fields. China proposes that a plan of action be formulated on China-ASEAN disaster relief cooperation, and that contact be strengthened with the ASEAN Coordination Center for Humanitarian Assistance on Disaster Management. China will provide RMB50 million for cooperation on disaster prevention and relief. China is ready to establish a dialogue and exchange mechanism between the maritime law enforcement agencies of the two sides and conduct personnel training and joint patrol with ASEAN countries.

Seventh, we need to intensify cultural, scientific, technological, environmental and people-to-people exchanges. The roots of friendship and cooperation lie in the people. We will jointly formulate an action plan for China-ASEAN cultural cooperation and ensure the success of activities during the 2014 year of China-ASEAN cultural exchange. In the next three to five years, China will provide ASEAN countries 15,000 government scholarships and build more education centers catered to ASEAN countries in China. China will contribute RMB200 million to the Asia Regional Cooperation Fund to mainly finance people-to-people exchange between the two sides and capacity building. China will continue to support the development of such platforms as the China-ASEAN Center, China-ASEAN Think Tank Network and China-ASEAN Public Health Cooperation Fund, and advance exchanges in culture and education and between youth, think tanks and media organizations, so as to build strong popular support for our cooperation. China will continue to implement the China-ASEAN Scientific and Technological Partnership Program, set up a China-ASEAN Science and Technology Innovation Center, and bolster cooperation in new energy and other areas. China will also put forward an initiative for cooperation between Chinese and ASEAN environmental industries, and establish a China-ASEAN demonstration base for cooperation and exchanges on environment-related technologies and between relevant industries. China and ASEAN countries are home to eastern civilizations and we have confidence in creating new highlights in our cooperation.

The two points of political consensus and seven cooperation proposals I have just outlined can be summarized as a "2+7 cooperation framework". It demonstrates the political commitment of the current Chinese government towards the future development of China-ASEAN relations. The essence is to increase political trust between China and ASEAN, deepen all-round cooperation and promote common development, so that China-ASEAN relations will benefit the people of our two sides and contribute more to peace, stability and prosperity of the region and beyond.

Dear Colleagues,

China-ASEAN relations enjoy a deep foundation and strong bonds; China-ASEAN cooperation promises tremendous potential and broad prospects. People say that the future of the world lies in the Asia-Pacific and the prosperity of the Asia-Pacific hinges on East Asia. The historical window of opportunity is open right in front of us: seizing it, we will accomplish greater development; missing it, we risk falling behind. China wants to be ASEAN's partner and friend forever. Through sincere cooperation, we will make even greater contribution to Asia and the world.

Thank you.

Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the People’s Republic of China, Foreign Ministry Spokesperson Hong Lei’s Statement Regarding Comments by an Official of the United States Department of State on the South China Sea (8 Feb. 2014)
Ministry of Foreign Affairs Spokesperson Hong Lei’s statement regarding comments by an official of the United States Department of State on the South China Sea

8 February 2014

Q: On February 5, United States Assistant Secretary Russel stated in a testimony before the Congress that the Chinese maritime claims based on the “nine-dash line” were inconsistent with principles of international law, and urged that the Chinese position should be clarified or adjusted. How does China respond to this?

A. The Chinese maritime rights and interests in the South China Sea were formed historically and are protected by international law. China has remained committed to resolving maritime disputes with the countries involved through negotiation and consultation. Meanwhile, China attaches great importance to maintaining peace and stability in the South China Sea jointly with the Association of Southeast Asian Nations through implementing the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea. As described above, the Chinese position is clear and consistent. Making-up issues and exaggeration of tensions would not help to maintain peace and stability in the Southeast Asian region. The comments made by certain officials in the congressional testimony are not constructive. We urge the United States to take a rational and fair attitude and play a constructive role toward the peace, stability, prosperity and development of the region, not the other way around.

问：2月5日，美国助理国务卿拉塞尔在美国会听证会上称，中国根据“九段线”宣示海洋权益与国际法原则不符，应就此作出澄清或调整立场。中方对此有何评论？

答：中国在南海的海洋权益是历史形成的，并受到国际法的保护。对于同有关国家间的海洋争议，中方一直致力于与直接有关的当事国通过谈判和协商解决。同时，中国高度重视同东盟国家通过落实《南海各方行为宣言》共同维护南海的和平稳定。中方的上述立场是明确的、一贯的。制造话题、渲染紧张无助于维护东南亚地区的和平稳定。美方一些官员在国会听证会发表有关言论，不是建设性的行为。我们敦促美方拿出理性、公允的态度，为本地区的和平稳定和繁荣发展发挥建设性的作用，而不是相反。

OPENING ADDRESS

8. In his Opening Address, His Excellency Mr. Fidel Ramos, President of the Republic of the Philippines stated that, the openness and flexibility of ASEAN account for its success, evidenced by its Dialogue Partner relationships and the interest shown by other countries. Of specific significance are the Special observer status of Papua New Guinea and the accession of Vietnam and Laos to the Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia. Noting a “season of grace for building confidence”, he urged for ASEAN cooperation in at least six areas: defense cooperation including more military consultations and technical exchange; training and exercises; economic cooperation including trade liberalization and increased access to Western markets; technology transfer; regional environmental protection; mechanisms to quell piracy as well as the illicit drug trade and ways to deal with large scale worker migration.

He stressed that the most effective way of enhancing regional security is the strengthening of economic cooperation. As he underscored the need for an urgent solution to the rival claims in the South China Sea and for a greater role of the United Nations in conflict resolution, he called for a common vision of regional security and enhanced economic cooperation for its own sake, for a better life for ASEAN peoples and for greater political stability.

As he reiterated the Philippines’ commitment to the SEAN Free Trade Area, free enterprise and private initiative, he affirmed ASEAN unity in ethnicity, culture and aspiration in common action to accelerate the economic growth and cultural development in a spirit of equality and friendship to attain the fullness of freedom, peace and prosperity for this generation and for posterity.

INTERNATIONAL AND REGIONAL SITUATION

9. The Foreign Ministers had a full and wide-ranging exchange of views on current international and regional developments. They pledged to consult closely with a view to reaching a common position on issues of special concern to ASEAN.

10. The Foreign Ministers noted the profound impact of the end of the Cold War and of East-West confrontation in terms of new strategic uncertainties and fresh opportunities. They welcomed the emergence of the newly independent states in Central and Eastern Europe and Central Asia and noted the encouraging reforms being instituted to bring about political and economic stability in the region.

11. The Foreign Ministers expressed deep concern over the deteriorating situation in Bosnia-Herzegovina and called for immediate cessation of hostilities. They urged all parties concerned to extend their full cooperation to the United Nations and all peace initiatives.

12. The Foreign Ministers welcomed the establishment of the interim government in Afghanistan and expressed the hope that the on-going process of national reconciliation and reconstruction would contribute positively to the speedy recovery of Afghanistan and also to the restoration of peace and stability in the region.

13. Pursuant to the decision on one ASEAN Heads of Government at their Fourth Meeting in Singapore on 27-28 January 1992 on enhancing regional political and security cooperation, the Foreign Ministers noted that a Special Meeting of the ASEAN Senior Officials on Regional Security was held in Manila on 25-26 June 1992 as well as the reconvening of the Working Group on ZOPFAN and SEANWFZ. They directed the Working Group to complete its work.

14. The Foreign Ministers welcomed the accession by Vietnam and Laos to the Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia and expressed confidence that the Treaty would provide the framework for wider and fruitful regional cooperation for the entire Southeast Asian region.

15. The Foreign Ministers also approved the applications of Vietnam and Laos for Observer status at the ASEAN Ministerial Meeting, immediately after the submission of their respective instruments of accession to the Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia.

16. The Foreign Ministers reiterated the readiness of the ASEAN countries to participate actively in the reconstruction of Cambodia, Laos and Vietnam.

17. The Foreign Ministers expressed the view that any adverse development in the South China Sea directly affects the peace and security in the region. They emphasized that any territorial or jurisdictional dispute should be resolved by peaceful means, without resort to force. They urged all parties concerned to exercise self-restraint with a view to create in a positive climate for the resolution of these disputes. The Foreign Ministers noted that the Workshops on Managing Potential Conflicts in the South China Sea initiated and hosted by Indonesia had contributed to a better understanding of the issues involved. They also noted that the informal and unofficial format of the Workshops has enabled open and frank discussions to take place. The Foreign Ministers commended all parties concerned to apply the principles incorporated in the Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia as the basis for establishing a code of international conduct over the area. The Foreign Ministers decided to issue a separate Declaration on this matter.

18. The Foreign Ministers maintained that environmental and human rights concerns should not be made as conditionalsities in economic and development cooperation. They noted that basic human rights, while universal in character, are governed by the distinct culture and history of, and socioeconomic conditions in each country and that their expression and application in the national context are within the competence and responsibility of each country.

CAMBODIA

19. Cognizant of the initial success of the implementation of the Paris Agreement on the Comprehensive Political Settlement of the Cambodian Conflict signed on 23 October 1991, the Foreign Ministers viewed with concern the current difficulties in implementing Phase 11 of the Agreement.

20. In this regard, the Foreign Ministers urged all parties in Cambodia to cooperate fully in the implementation of the Agreement in order to end the offerings of the people.
21. The Foreign Ministers reiterated their recognition of the SNC as the sole legitimate body and source of authority in Cambodia and called on all parties concerned to safeguard the integrity of the SNC, under the leadership of His Royal Highness Samdech Preah Norodom Sihanouk.

22. The Foreign Ministers also expressed their full support for the United Nations Transitional Authority in Cambodia (UNTAC) which is playing a pivotal role in the peace process. They also expressed appreciation to countries which contributed resources including manpower to the UNTAC to ensure its successful operation.

23. The Foreign Ministers also welcomed the pledges of support by the international community made during the Ministerial Conference Rehabilitation and Reconstruction of Cambodia held in Tokyo on 22 June 1992, and expressed the hope that more of such support would be forthcoming.

INDOCHINESE ASYLUM SEEKERS

24. The Foreign Ministers expressed concern that problems still remain in the implementation of the Comprehensive Plan of Action (CPA) which hinder its accomplishment within the three-year time-frame agreed to at the 1989 International Conference on Indochinese Refugees in Geneva. They stressed that the problem of "residuals" needs to be addressed urgently as tens of thousands of "screened-out" asylum seekers still remain in camps in the region. In this connection, they called for acceleration of the resettlement of refugees in third countries and of the repatriation of non-refugees to their respective countries of origin.

25. The Foreign Ministers regretted the substantial cut in the budget for CPA activities which hampered their implementation. They strongly urged the international community to provide the UNHCR with the necessary financial resources to ensure the implementation of the CPA so that countries of temporary refuge or first asylum would not be left with any ‘residuals’.

MIDDLE EAST

26. The Foreign Ministers reiterated their support for the continuation of the Middle East peace process under the auspices of the United Nations to address the Palestinian issue and the Arab-Israeli conflict in accordance with UN Security Council Resolutions 242 and 338 and other relevant resolutions. On the situation in Lebanon, the Foreign Ministers reaffirmed their support for the full implementation of the 1989 Tariff Agreement and the UN Security Council Resolution 425.

27. The Foreign Ministers welcomed the initiative taken by the United States and the Russian Federation in co-sponsoring a Regional Peace Conference for direct negotiations on the Palestinian issue and the Arab-Israeli conflict which constitute the main source of instability and tension in the region.

SOUTH AFRICA

28. The Foreign Ministers expressed grave concern over the continuing violence in South Africa and the breakdown in the constitutional negotiations. They called for an end to the violence and for the creation of a climate of reconciliation that would allow for the resumption of talks. They supported the call for the United Nations role in helping in the establishment of a democratic, non-racial and united South Africa.

THE 10TH NON-ALIGNED SUMMIT

29. The Foreign Ministers expressed their support for the leadership role to be played by Indonesia in hosting the 10th Conference of the Heads of State/Government of the Non-Aligned Movement to be held in Jakarta from 1-6 September 1992. They expressed the hope that the Summit would serve as an opportunity for the Movement to contribute to the shaping of a just and equitable new world order.

INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC ISSUES

30. In reviewing the international economic situation, the Foreign Ministers expressed concern on the decline of world output, the deceleration of trade growth in 1991, and the uncertain prospects for recovery in 1992. This situation has adversely affected the growth prospects of developing countries.

They stressed that the role of industrialized countries remains central to the revival of the growth of the world economy. Therefore, the Foreign Ministers urged these countries to vigorously pursue policies aimed at promoting sustained non-inflationary world economic growth.

31. The Foreign Ministers emphasized that in the current difficult world economic environment, the need for a successful Uruguay Round and a strengthened multilateral trading system was now more urgent to both developing and developed countries. Failure of the Round could only further restrict economic growth opportunities, encourage protectionist policies and seriously weaken the multilateral trading system. Therefore, the Foreign Ministers strongly urged the major players to demonstrate their political will and take positive steps to ensure without further delay a balanced, meaningful and satisfactory conclusion of the Uruguay Round.

32. The Foreign Ministers expressed dismay over he failure to conclude the Uruguay Round of Multilateral Trade Negotiations owing to the stalemate in agriculture between major players. They expressed disappointment that the G-7 Summit in Munich failed to produce any progress for the Round.

33. The Foreign Ministers reaffirmed their view that large and powerful economic groupings among developed countries must strengthen an open international economic regime, in particular, an open multilateral trading system. The Ministers expressed their resolve to exert all efforts to promote an open international trading system.

34. Noting the competing demands for capital and investment resources, the Foreign Ministers underscored the need to increase global savings required for structural adjustments and reconstruction efforts, with a view to revitalizing world economic growth.

35. On the external debt crisis, the Foreign Ministers welcomed the progress made recently in the implementation of the debt relief approaches. They reiterated the need for a coordinated tripartite approach involving debtors, creditor countries and financial institutions to take steps to alleviate the debt burden of developing countries, far beyond the scope of the current terms and to allow for recovery, growth and development in the countries concerned. In this connection, the Foreign Ministers endorsed the idea of a major write-off of debts by official donors and commercial banks as well as by multilateral institutions.

36. The Foreign Ministers reiterated that environment and development are mutually interrelated and mutually reinforcing. The right to development is a fundamental right of all peoples and measures for the protection of the environment should support economic growth and sustainable development. The Foreign Ministers reaffirmed that ASEAN should strengthen joint actions in countering the anti-tropical timber campaigns in the major developed countries.

37. The Foreign Ministers welcomed the convening of the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development held in Rio de Janeiro on 3-14 June 1992 and viewed the Earth Summit not as an end in itself but as a new beginning for a global partnership in attaining sustainable development in both developed and developing countries. In this context, it is imperative that the developed countries and the multilateral financial institutions implement their commitments made in Rio by granting new and additional financial resources and environmentally-sound technologies to the developing countries.

38. The Foreign Ministers welcomed the declaration of the UN Security Council of 31 January 1992 which recognized "that peace and prosperity are indivisible and that lasting peace and stability require effective international cooperation for the eradication of poverty and the promotion of a better life for all in larger freedom". The Foreign Ministers also reiterated their commitment to the new partnership for development forged at UNTAC VIII in Cartagena de Indias, Colombia. In this partnership, developed and developing countries committed themselves to engage in continuous and constructive dialogue to achieve a more efficient and more equitable world economy.

39. The Foreign Ministers reiterated their view that the emerging global economic order must provide for more equal economic opportunities for all nations. Noting that aggregate net flows to the developing countries in 1991 have declined in real terms, they urged the international community to intensify efforts to provide substantial development finance to complement domestic resources to improve developing countries’ prospects for sustaining growth-oriented adjustment and poverty alleviation. They also called upon the industrialized countries and the multilateral financial institutions to intensify their efforts to promote foreign direct investment in developing countries. Finally, the Foreign Ministers underscored the importance of a more favorable external environment for the growth and development of developing countries and urged the industrialized countries to establish a genuinely open multilateral trading system.

IMPLEMENTATION OF FOURTH ASEAN SUMMIT DECISIONS

40. The Foreign Ministers affirmed ASEAN's commitment to the decision of the 4th Meeting of the ASEAN Heads of Government in Singapore on 27-28 January 1992 to establish an ASEAN Free Trade Area (AFTA) within 15 years. The Foreign Ministers expressed satisfaction with the progress made towards the implementation of the Agreement on the Common Effective Preferential Tariff (CEPT) Scheme for the ASEAN Free Trade Area (AFTA). This Agreement, together with the Framework Agreement on Enhancing Economic Cooperation, is a significant step forward for ASEAN and firmly sets economic cooperation as the major item on the ASEAN agenda.

41. The Foreign Ministers signed the Protocol Amending the Agreement on the Establishment of the ASEAN Secretariat to streamline and strengthen the ASEAN Secretariat. The enhanced status and enlarged mandate of the new ASEAN Secretary-General and the increase in the number of staff in the ASEAN Secretariat recruited on an open basis, will enable the ASEAN Secretariat to play a greater role in promoting ASEAN cooperation.

SELECTION OF THE SECRETARY-GENERAL OF ASEAN

42. The Foreign Ministers agreed to recommend to the ASEAN Heads of Government the appointment of His Excellency Dato Ajit Singh as Secretary-General of ASEAN effective 1 January 1993.

43. The Foreign Ministers also expressed their profound appreciation to the outgoing Secretary-General of the ASEAN Secretariat, His Excellency Mr. Rusli Noor for his dedicated services and invaluable contributions to ASEAN.

INTRA-ASEAN COOPERATION

44. The Foreign Ministers noted with satisfaction the progress of activities in several areas of intra-ASEAN cooperation.

45. In the area of information, the Foreign Ministers welcomed the decision of the Second Conference of ASEAN Ministers Responsible for Information held in Kuala Lumpur on 1-2 August 1991 to create a greater awareness of ASEAN in the region and to project its image more effectively internationally. They fully concurred on the need for a more balanced flow of information.

46. The Foreign Ministers welcomed the results of the Thirteenth Meeting of the ASEAN Ministers of Agriculture and Forestry held in Chiang Rai on 31 October-2 November 1991 which identified the areas where ASEAN cooperation in agriculture, food and forestry in the 1990s would be further strengthened, especially the joint promotion of ASEAN agricultural products. They also welcomed the decisions of the Fourth Meeting of ASEAN Ministers of Health held in Jakarta on 4-5 December 1991 to exchange health information in ASEAN with emphasis on AIDS and environmental health.

47. The Foreign Ministers fully endorsed the Singapore Resolution on Environment and Development adopted by the Fifth Conference of ASEAN Ministers Responsible for Environment held in Singapore on 17-18 February 1992 which sets the directions for ASEAN to enhance its on-going and future cooperation on environment and development.

48. In view of the increasingly strong competition to attract foreign investment by the developed as well as the developing countries, the Foreign Ministers agreed to encourage their respective officials responsible for investment promotion to conduct regular consultations with a view to increasing inflows of foreign investments to ASEAN countries.

COOPERATION WITH DIALOGUE COUNTRIES AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

49. The Foreign Ministers endorsed the recommendations of the Fourth Meeting of the 25th ASEAN Standing Committee to implement the decision of the Fourth ASEAN Summit to strengthen ASEAN's cooperative relationships with its Dialogue Partners. While these cooperative relationships have made significant progress, the Foreign Ministers supported the thrust of the recommendations that ASEAN should strengthen the existing dialogue mechanisms and develop new ones where necessary or the enhancement of economic relations with the dialogue Countries especially ASEAN's major economic partners. They also noted with appreciation he active role now being played by the private sector the dialogue process.

ASIA - PACIFIC ECONOMIC COOPERATION APEC

50. The Foreign Ministers noted that the Second Senior Officials Meeting of the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation held in Bangkok on 22-24 June 1992 adopted recommendations on the nature and structure of the APEC support mechanism and the funding arrangements which will be considered at the Fourth APEC Ministerial Meeting in Bangkok on 10-11 September 1992. They noted that the establishment of a support mechanism would mark a new phase in the organizational evolution of the APEC process.

As part of Summit's agenda, the ASEAN Leaders held a meeting with the Leaders of Cambodia, Laos and Myanmar, pursuant to the Summit's theme "ASEAN towards One Southeast Asia". All ten Leaders signed the Treaty on Southeast Asia Nuclear Weapon-Free Zone and agreed to launch a new Pattern of regional development cooperation involving the development of the Mekong Basin, the establishment of a rail link running from Singapore through Kuala Lumpur, Bangkok and on to Kunming and a network of 91 pipelines linking the ASEAN Countries. The Summit elevated functional cooperation to a higher plane and called for the further strengthening of the ASEAN identity, spirit and sense of community. Focusing on the theme "Greater Economic Integration" the Summit resulted in the acceleration and deepening of the commitments under AFTA, expansion of ASEAN economic cooperation in new Sectors, as well as increased linkages with other countries in Southeast Asia. The Foreign Ministers looked forward to the convening of the Informal Meeting of the ASEAN Heads of Government to be held in Indonesia in December 1996 as agreed upon in the Fifth Summit.

3. The Foreign Ministers accepted the formal applications of Cambodia and Laos to become members of ASEAN in 1997; they also granted Observer status of ASEAN to Myanmar; thereby, the vision of ASEAN's founders of all ten Southeast Asian countries living in harmony under a single roof come closer to realization. In this connection, the Ministers reiterated their continued determination to enhance cooperation with Cambodia, Laos and Myanmar to assist them in preparing for their eventual membership in ASEAN.

POLITICAL AND SECURITY COOPERATION

5. The Foreign Ministers welcomed China, India and Russia as the new Dialogue Partners of ASEAN. The Ministers looked forward to the broadening of the scope and intensity of cooperation between ASEAN and its three new dialogue partners.

6. In reviewing the development of the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF), the Ministers expressed satisfaction with the progress made thus far through Track One as well as Track Two activities, in promoting confidence-building measures among its participants. They also took cognizance of the increasing degree of comfort in the interactions among the ARF participants, demonstrating that ARF is Chairman's Paper on Criteria for Participation in the ARF would reinforce the foundation of the ARF process. 7. The Foreign Ministers noted with satisfaction the closer cooperative relations between ASEAN and non-governmental bodies such as the ASEAN Institutes of Strategic and International Studies (ASEAN-ISIS) and the Council for Security and Cooperation in the Asia Pacific (CSCAP). They also noted that these bodies had continued to provide ASEAN with useful ideas and proposals with regard to political and security cooperation in the region.

8. The Foreign Ministers noted with satisfaction the progress made in the Implementation of ASEAN's "Programme of Action on ZOPFAN. In this regard, the Foreign Ministers cited the signing of the SEANWFZ Treaty by all Heads of Government of Southeast Asian countries on 15 December 1995 as another contribution of the countries of Southeast Asia to the strengthening of the security of the region and to the maintenance of world peace and stability. In this connection they stressed the importance of expediting the process of ratification of the Treaty by the signatory states so that it will be completed, if possible, before the Informal ASEAN Summit in Indonesia in December 1996. For the effectiveness of the Treaty, they reiterated their call on all nuclear weapons states to extend their cooperation by acceding to the Protocol of the Treaty. They agreed that the review process of the Protocol as agreed by the Fifth Meeting of the ASEAN Summit should commence immediately. They also agreed to consider tabling a draft resolution on the SEANWFZ Treaty in the United Nations General Assembly at an appropriate time.

9. Aware of the increasing interest of non-Southeast Asian states to associate themselves with the Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia (TAC), the Foreign Ministers agreed to expedite the work on the appropriate modality for association.

10. The Foreign Ministers had a wide-ranging exchange of views on the current regional and International situations. They noted that the political and security situation in the Asia Pacific region was relatively stable and peaceful. They expressed their belief that the relative peace and stability in the region could be largely attributed to the endeavours of ASEAN to cultivate the habits of dialogue, consensus and cooperation among the countries in the region and to encourage the solution of disputes through negotiations and other peaceful means. However, they acknowledged that tensions exist in the region as well as in other parts of the world in the face of longstanding disputes which, if not successfully managed, could erupt into conflicts that could threaten regional as well as international stability.

11. The Foreign Ministers expressed their concern over the situation in the South China Sea, and stressed that several outstanding issues remain a major concern for ASEAN. In the spirit of the Manila Declaration on the South China Sea, the Ministers called for the peaceful resolution of the dispute and self-restraint by parties concerned. The Ministers were pleased to observe, however, that the parties concerned have expressed their willingness to resolve the problem by peaceful means in accordance with recognized international law in general and the UNCLOS of 1982 in particular. The Ministers also reiterated the significance of the on-going informal workshop series on Managing Potential Conflict in the South China Sea, and welcomed the continuing bilateral cooperation and discussions among the claimant countries. 13. The Foreign Ministers discussed the Situation in the Korean Peninsula. They reiterated their belief that the resumption of dialogue between the Democratic People's Republic of Korea and the Republic of Korea was extremely important for peace and security on the Korean Peninsula. The Ministers emphasized the need to establish a peace mechanism and also emphasised that the 1953 Armistice Agreement until then should remain valid. They noted the significant role of Korean Peninsula Energy Development Organisation (KEDO) in the framework of the resolution of the nuclear issue in the region.

14. The Foreign Ministers on the one hand welcomed the progress achieved in the Middle East peace process since August last year, in particular in the implementation of the PLO-Israeli Declaration of Principles on Interim Self Government Arrangement of 1993 as well as the Israeli-Palestinian Interim Agreement on the West Bank and the Gaza Strip of 28 September 1995, the first Palestinian elections on 20 January 1996 and the beginning of the final status negotiations between the Palestinians and the Israelis in Taba in May 1996. On the other hand, the Ministers viewed with concern the current critical phase of the Middle East peace process following the recent general elections in Israel. In this regard, they stressed the importance of continuing the peace process to restore the rights of the Palestinians, the return of the occupied Arab territories, as well as ensuring balanced and equal security in the region, consistent with the principles agreed upon at the Madrid Conference of 1991, particularly the reciprocal principle of land-for-peace, and the assurance given to all parties.

15. The Foreign Ministers welcomed the Dayton Peace Accord and the signing, on 14 December 1995 at the Paris Peace Conference, of the General Framework Agreement for Peace in Bosnia-Herzegovina by the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Republic of Croatia and the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia and the other parties thereto. In this regard, they also welcomed the International "train and equip" programme for the Army of the Federation of Bosnia-Herzegovina in order to establish a military balance in the country and ensure enduring peace and stability in Bosnia-Herzegovina. The Ministers recognized the challenges attendant to the implementation of the Agreement and in this regard underlined the importance of full compliance by the parties concerned with the provisions of the Agreement. They emphasized the need for the parties and all States to cooperate with the International Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia and its organs in the discharge of their mandate. In this regard, the Ministers supported the International call for the arrest of those who have been indicted for war crimes, and their removal from Bosnia-Herzegovina as an Important condition for the full implementation of the Dayton Peace Accord. The Ministers also stressed the importance of the creation of conditions necessary to the reconstruction and development of Bosnia-Herzegovina and the support of the international community in this regard. They paid tribute to the women and men of UNPROFOR and IFOR for their services to the cause of peace in the former Yugoslavia.

16. The Foreign Ministers were encouraged by the successful outcome of the Eleventh Conference of Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries in Cartagena held on 18-20 October 1995. They reaffirmed their conviction that the fundamental principles of the Non-Aligned Movement continue to be valid under current circumstances. They emphasized, in particular, the commitment adopted by the Movement to work towards cooperation and a sense of full partnership in the international field, for the promotion of peace and and economic development. In this regard, they commanded the constructive approaches by the Movement to promote its objectives through dialogue on the basis of mutual interest and benefit, genuine interdependence and shared responsibility.

17. The Foreign Ministers welcomed the establishment of the UN Trust Fund for South-South Cooperation and urged donor countries to lend their full support for such a fund. In this context, they emphasized the importance of the speedy implementation of the decision by the Non-Aligned Summit in Cartagena on 18-20 October 1995 to establish the NAM Centre for South-South Technical Cooperation in Indonesia and recognized that its activities would complement those of the UN Trust Fund for South-South Cooperation. The Ministers reiterated the vital role of collective self-reliance for promoting and accelerating development in a world economy undergoing fundamental change.

18. The Foreign Ministers emphasized the importance of full and effective implementation of the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty (NPT) in promoting international peace and security. Bearing in mind the objective of general and complete disarmament as set out in the Treaty, the Foreign Ministers, while noting the outcome of the 1995 Review and Extension Conference of the Parties to the NPT, stressed the need for all State Parties to strive to achieve the objectives set out in the Final Document of that Conference. In this regard, the Foreign Ministers called on the nuclear weapons states to refrain from conducting nuclear weapons tests and the Conference on Disarmament to conclude the negotiation on the Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty in 1996. The Foreign Ministers emphasized further the importance of convening the Fourth United Nations Special Session Devoted to Disarmament before the turn of the century to set the future course of actions in the field of disarmament and related security matters. The Foreign Ministers expressed the hope for the conclusion of the International Convention on the Prohibition of Use and Threat of Use of Nuclear Weapons and the International Convention Against the Production and Stockpiling of Fissile Materials. In this context, they emphasized the importance of multilateralism in the process of disarmament and the historical significance of the Final Document of SSOD I, including the principles, guidelines and priorities envisaged therein, as well as the need to preserve and build upon its achievements.

19. The Foreign Ministers reiterated the importance of reforming and restructuring the United Nations including the Security Council so as to democratize its workings and to strengthen its effectiveness. In this context, they reaffirmed the role of the General Assembly as the highest deliberative and decision-making organ of the UN system, stressed the importance of the work of various open-ended working groups to enhance the effectiveness of the Organization, including the Open-ended Working Group on the Question of Equitable Representation on and increase in the Membership of the Security Council and Other Matters Related to the Security Council and the Open-ended Working Group on the Strengthening of the United Nations System. They welcomed the significant measures that have been adopted to revitalize the General Assembly, including the decision to continue using existing mechanisms and establishing new bodies as deemed necessary and affirmed that these measures should be fully implemented. Furthermore, they underlined the need to establish more effective relations between the General Assembly and the Security Council on the basis of greater accountability by the Council to the General Assembly. They also attached the highest priority to reforming the UN in the economic, social and related fields in order to effectively meet the challenges and development priorities of developing countries in this area of globalisation.

20. The Foreign Ministers expressed their satisfaction over the significant contribution made by the countries of origin, the countries of first asylum, and the countries of resettlement toward the conclusion of the CPA on 30 June 1996. They noted, however, the fact that there are still sizable numbers of remaining boat people in some first asylum countries who have not been repatriated or resettled, thus requiring further common efforts and cooperation for their immediate repatriation. The Foreign Ministers welcomed the continued coordination between the first asylum countries and countries of origin as well as relevant International organizations and donor countries in completing the repatriation of the remaining non-refugees from the first asylum camps in the region and their reintegration in the countries of origin.

ECONOMIC COOPERATION
Progress on AFTA and other related issues

21. The Foreign Ministers were pleased to note the rapid increase of 21% in Intra-ASEAN exports of CEPT products in 1995, that is from US$ 49.1 billion in 1994 to US$ 59.3 billion in 1995. The Ministers also noted with satisfaction the progress made on the decision of the 5th ASEAN Summit in Bangkok to accelerate the CEPT-AFTA whereby tariffs of items in the CEPT Inclusion List will be reduced to the 0 - 5 % range by the year 2000, thus enabling ASEAN to achieve the AFTA even before the target date of 2003. The Foreign Ministers noted that for new members, the schedule for the Implementation of CEPT for AFRA will be carried out in accordance with the agreement and commitment between ASEAN and new members.

22. The Foreign Ministers noted with satisfaction the substantial progress made in the negotiations to liberalise trade in unprocessed agricultural products and welcomed the decision to phase-in these products into the CEPT Scheme by the year 2010. The Ministers encouraged Member Countries to intensify their efforts to realise this decision.

23. The Foreign Ministers called for continued efforts to reduce the impediments to trade and investment in ASEAN. The Ministers were pleased to note that customs surcharges affecting identified CEPT products will be removed by 1996 and called upon Member Countries to intensify their efforts to eliminate Non-Tariff Barriers. The Ministers also noted with satisfaction the rapid developments made in customs cooperation to support AFTA especially the establishment of the Green Lane system for CEPT products which shall expedite the customs clearance for these products. The Ministers welcomed the decision for ASEAN to come up with an Agreement on Customs which will enhance regional cooperation in customs. They expressed optimism that trade facilitation measures under AFTA as provided in the Agreement particularly the harmonization of tariff nomenclature, Customs procedures and customs valuation would be fully implemented.

24. The Foreign Ministers called for the active participation of the private sector in ASEAN economic cooperation programmes and activities and to take advantage of the business opportunities arising therefrom. The Ministers welcomed the decision of the 15th AMAF to continue to focus on cooperative endeavour in the seven priority areas identified in the Ministerial Understanding on ASEAN Cooperation in Food, Agriculture and Forestry. The Ministers also noted that the private sector is now more involved in cooperative efforts and activities with the signing of the MOU on ASEAN Cooperation and Joint Approaches in Agriculture and Forest Products Promotion Scheme by the AMAF in 1994. They expressed their support of the decision of the AEM to accelerate the negotiations in Services to enable ASEAN Member Countries to come up with initial commitments by September 1996.

Facilitation of Goods In Transit

27. The Foreign Ministers shared the view that the implementation of AFTA has made much progress. They believed however that others related efforts should be undertaken by member countries to promote trade and the free movement of goods in the region. They therefore agreed to recommend to the ASEAN Heads of Government that appropriate ASEAN bodies consider additional measures for facilitation of goods in transit.

AFTA-CER Linkages

28. The Foreign Ministers noted with satisfaction the progress made in the establishment of trade and investment linkages between AFTA and countries of the Australia-New Zealand Closer Economic Relations Trade Agreement (ANZCERTA) and encouraged the establishment of such linkages with other regional groupings and trading arrangements.

30. The Foreign Ministers endorsed the position taken by the AEM regarding the framework of ASEAN’s approach towards the agenda of the inaugural WTO MC in Singapore. The Foreign Ministers agreed that the Singapore MC should critically review the implementation of UR Agreements and seek a Ministerial mandate to start the preparatory work on the built-in agenda, including agriculture. The Foreign Ministers resolved that ASEAN Members should actively work towards a successful conclusion of the negotiations on basic telecommunications and maritime transport services and that other WTO Countries should be urged to also exert themselves with a view to achieving that end. The Foreign Ministers reiterated that ASEAN should oppose any attempt to include issues which were not trade-related, such as corruption and social clause, at the Singapore MC. The Ministers noted that other issues, such as competition policy, may not be mature enough for inclusion at the MC. The Foreign Ministers also endorsed the AEM’s position to oppose the inclusion of the Multilateral Agreement on Investment, as it stands, into the agenda of the Singapore MC.

East Asia Economic Caucus (EAEC)

31. The Ministers reiterated their commitment toward the early realisation of the East Asia Economic Caucus (EAEC) which will intensify economic cooperation that is mutually beneficial to its members. 33. The Foreign Ministers noted that all 18 member economies of APEC have submitted their indicative Individual Action Plans (IAPS) during the APEC Senior Officials Meeting (SOM II) in Cebu City last May. They expressed their support for the efforts of the ASEAN Ministers Responsible for Social Welfare to establish an ASEAN Regional Mechanism for Family and Child Development.

39. The Foreign Ministers expressed serious concern as underlined by the ASEAN Labour Ministers that attempts to link international labour standards and international trade would undermine the economic growth of developing countries which in turn would affect the economy of developed nations. They reiterated the view that the issue of international labour standards should be discussed in the ILO and not in other non-labour related fora. The Ministers supported the decision to urge the ILO to review the International labour conventions including the so-called fundamental workers’ rights conventions.

40. The Foreign Ministers noted with satisfaction the completion of the Medium Term Programme on ASEAN Science and Technology Development (1996-2000), the Medium Term Programme on ASEAN Drug Abuse Control (1996-1998) and the ASEAN Regional Programme on HIV/AIDS Prevention and Control (1995-2000) which further elaborated the respective Action Plans. The Foreign Ministers recognized the need to raise the public profile of ASEAN’s activities in the scientific, environmental, narcotics control, social and cultural fields through wider publicity and agreed that valuable contributions of individuals and organizations in these areas should be properly recognized with prestigious ASEAN awards and prizes.

42. The Foreign Ministers called for greater coordination among the various sectors involved in functional cooperation and agreed to strengthen the capability and resources of the ASEAN Secretariat in this area. They stressed the need to explore various funding modalities, including cost-sharing schemes, to ensure the effective and timely implementation of priority functional cooperation programmes.

43. The Foreign Ministers noted the progress made in the setting up of ASEAN Resource Centres in the different areas in ASEAN Member Countries in accordance with the decision of the 8th ASEAN Conference on Civil Service Matters.

Transnational Issues

44. The Foreign Ministers recognized the need to focus attention on such issues as narcotics, economic crimes, including money laundering, environment and illegal migration which transcend borders and affect the lives of the people in the region. They shared the view that the management of such transnational issues is urgently called for so that they would not affect the long-term viability ASEAN and its individual member nations. The Ministers therefore agreed that all the works and projects of the existing ASEAN bodies in these areas should be urgently reviewed and recommendations be submitted to the ASEAN Heads of Government for consideration.

The Ministers noted that the ASEANWEB had expanded to cover more ASEAN activities and that it had also established links to web sites in Member Countries. 53. They recognised the need for ASEAN countries to establish appropriate modalities for funding the cooperation and noted the agreement to establish, under the Chairmanship of Thailand, an ASEAN and Non-ASEAN Riparian States Experts Group to study the issue further and any other relevant matter connected with the mobilizing of funds and to establish, under the Chairmanship of Malaysia, a Special ASEAN and Non-ASEAN Working Group to study all the issues on the proposed railway links between Singapore and Kunming.

In recognition of the need to address the current economic situation in the region, ASEAN shall implement initiatives to hasten economic recovery and address the social impact of the global economic and financial crisis. These measures reaffirm ASEAN commitments to closer regional integration and are directed at consolidating and strengthening the economic fundamentals of the Member Countries.

1.2.4 Adopt and implement existing standards of disclosure and dissemination of economic and financial information; and
VII. STRENGTHEN REGIONAL PEACE AND SECURITY

7.1 Consolidate and strengthen ASEAN’s solidarity, cohesiveness and harmony by strengthening national and regional resilience through enhanced cooperation and mutual assistance to further promote Southeast Asia as a Zone of Peace, Freedom and Neutrality.

Annex 135

Association of Southeast Asian Nations, Joint Communiqué: 32nd ASEAN Ministerial Meeting (24 July 1999)
Joint Communique The 32nd ASEAN Ministerial Meeting (AMM) Singapore, 23-24 July 1999

1. We, the Foreign Ministers of the ten ASEAN countries, met in Singapore from 23–24 July 1999 and renewed our commitment to work together to meet the challenges of a region undergoing significant political and economic changes.

2. We warmly welcomed Cambodia’s participation for the first time in the ASEAN Ministerial Meeting (AMM), following the special ceremony in Hanoi on 30 April 1999. This is a milestone in ASEAN’s evolution and a fulfilment of the vision of ASEAN’s founding fathers. All Southeast Asians are now part of a single community. We reaffirmed our commitment to assist Cambodia’s integration into ASEAN while preparing for the next phase of ASEAN’s development.

3. In the face of new challenges as well as opportunities, we the ASEAN Ten are confident of overcoming our current difficulties because we are all united in our aim of strengthening ASEAN. ASEAN’s fundamental role in managing diversity and differences in Southeast Asia is as important today as when ASEAN was formed in 1967. We have now entered a period of consolidation and rebuilding which would undoubtedly reinforce our foundations and set the stage for the emergence of a stronger ASEAN. With these challenges in mind, we unanimously reaffirmed the relevance and value of ASEAN to all our countries and renewed our determination to strengthen ASEAN.

4. The 6th ASEAN Summit held in Hanoi in December 1998 was a key turning point in the process of ASEAN’s recovery and consolidation. The Hanoi Declaration (HD) and the Hanoi Plan of Action (HPA) have taken ASEAN closer towards realising the ASEAN Vision 2020 adopted by our Leaders in 1997. In Hanoi, the ASEAN Leaders decided to strengthen regional co-operation and ASEAN unity and reaffirmed their commitment to keep ASEAN open to trade and investment. We reiterated ASEAN’s determination to fully implement the Leaders’ decisions on accelerating the ASEAN Free Trade Area (AFTA) and the ASEAN Investment Area (AIA). We would promote to the international community the set of Bold Measures adopted by the ASEAN Leaders at the Hanoi Summit in December 1998. We highlighted the significance of the decision of the Leaders of ASEAN and China, Japan and ROK to regularise the ASEAN+3 Summits. It underscored their confidence in ASEAN as a dynamic and resilient organisation.

ASEAN FOREIGN MINISTERS’ RETREAT

5. We held for the first time a Retreat of the ASEAN Foreign Ministers. The Retreat provided an opportunity for all ten ASEAN Foreign Ministers to hold frank and wide-ranging discussions on the future of ASEAN, the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) and ASEAN’s dialogue relationships. The Retreat is part of a continuous process of serious re-examination of the longer-term issues facing ASEAN. We are committed to continually shaping an ASEAN that is attuned to the challenges of the times. ASEAN will continue to play a key role in the region.
6. We discussed the far-reaching effects of the financial crisis. We believe that ASEAN had taken a series of significant steps that would set us on the path to economic recovery. The economic outlook for the region had improved. Although there were still uncertainties, there were early signs of economic recovery. We acknowledged that more had to be done to sustain the recovery process and renewed our commitment to continue undertaking the necessary policy adjustment and structural reforms, and to expedite efforts in the reform of the international financial architecture.

7. In discussing the future direction of ASEAN, we focussed on the challenges confronting ASEAN which could undermine ASEAN’s image. We stressed the need to remain dynamic and adapt to changes in the external environment. We reaffirmed the fundamental principles of ASEAN and the importance of working together to strengthen ASEAN in order to face up to the challenges ahead. In the long term, the realisation of ASEAN Ten will strengthen regional resilience.

8. We discussed the issues facing ASEAN and its Dialogue Partners. Over the years, changes had taken place in our dialogue relationships. However, we recognised the unique role of the Post-Ministerial Conferences (PMC) and Dialogue Partnerships in managing the broad co-operative relationships. We renewed our commitment to reinvigorate and intensify our dialogue relationships.

9. We reviewed the development of the ARF and discussed its future direction. For a regional political and security forum that groups very diverse countries and major powers, the ARF had made significant progress during the past five years. We noted with satisfaction that the ARF, through the active contributions of all ARF countries, had become the key forum for political and security dialogue and co-operation in the Asia-Pacific region. We are committed to strengthening ASEAN’s role as the primary driving force of the ARF process. We noted that the ASEAN officials are preparing a paper on the concept and principles of Preventive Diplomacy for discussion by the ARF Intersessional Support Group on Confidence-Building Measures (ISG on CBMs) during the next intersessional year. We stressed the importance of enhancing the ARF’s relevance and effectiveness in addressing the challenges faced by the region amidst the changing political and security environment. We also stressed the importance of moving the ARF process forward at a pace comfortable to all participants and on the basis of consensus.

JOINT ASEAN ROADSHOWS

10. We welcomed the idea of Joint ASEAN Roadshows proposed by Prime Minister Goh Chok Tong of Singapore to market ASEAN as a joint investment area to our major investors. This represents a concrete and concerted effort to advance our common interests and underscores our resolve to work together to restore ASEAN’s economic dynamism. We commended the proposal for further action by the 31st ASEAN Economic Ministers (AEM) Meeting.

IMPLEMENTATION OF THE DECISIONS OF THE 6TH ASEAN SUMMIT

11. We agreed to hasten the implementation of the set of specific directives in the Hanoi Plan of Action to guide ASEAN activities over the next six years. This would speed up regional integration, mitigate the social impact of the global financial turmoil, deal with environmental issues and other transnational problems, and intensify international awareness of ASEAN. Significant advances had already been made by ASEAN Ministerial fora, Committees, the ASEAN Secretariat, and other ASEAN bodies. We noted that a review of progress would be made at the 7th ASEAN Summit in the year 2001.

12. We had a useful discussion on the preparations for the 3rd Informal ASEAN Summit to be held in Manila in November 1999 and endorsed the Special Joint Ministerial Meeting before the Summit involving the ASEAN Foreign, Economic and Finance Ministers.
ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION

13. Following the Framework Agreement on the AIA signed by the ASEAN Economic Ministers in the Philippines in October 1998, the first AIA Council Meeting was held in Phuket in March 1999. The AIA would link the ASEAN economies more strongly together by extending national treatment to ASEAN investments in the manufacturing sector. We would actively support the joint promotion of investments in ASEAN as envisioned in the AIA.

14. In response to the rapid changes in the global financial environment, and the risk of contagion, the ASEAN Finance Ministries and Central Banks have strengthened their co-operation and consultations. The ASEAN Surveillance Process (ASP) was established to encourage peer reviews and share experiences on policy challenges facing our respective economies, in order to enhance macroeconomic and financial stability in the region. Development of work programmes to implement the finance-related activities of the Hanoi Plan of Action is currently underway.

15. Steady progress had been made in formulating the implementing Protocols for the ASEAN Framework Agreement on the Facilitation of Goods in Transit. This would enable efficient transportation of goods in the region, support the implementation of the AFTA and further integrate the region’s economies.

16. We welcomed the ASEAN initiatives towards the establishment of an ASEAN Food Security Information System and collaborative research to develop new and improved production, post-harvest and processing technologies. We also noted the continuing efforts to enhance the marketability of ASEAN food, agriculture and forest products and commodities through harmonisation, adoption and implementation of quality standards and regulations.

17. We welcomed the inauguration of the ASEAN Centre for Energy in January 1999 and the adoption of the ASEAN Plan of Action for Energy Co-operation 1999–2004 by the ASEAN Ministers of Energy in July 1999 which would move forward the early realisation of the Trans-ASEAN energy network.

18. We hoped that efforts be further intensified to promote the development of the Mekong Basin, and that the implementation of projects and programmes in this framework be expedited accordingly. To this end, it is important to convene as soon as possible, the ASEAN-Mekong Basin Development Co-operation (AMB-DC) Ministerial Meeting.

19. We would intensify efforts to develop the human potential, the natural resources and the infrastructure linkages of the Greater Mekong Sub-Region, including the development of less developed inter-state areas along the West-East Corridor (WEC), the Brunei Darussalam-Indonesia-Malaysia-Philippines East ASEAN Growth Area (BIMP-EAGA), the Indonesia-Malaysia-Singapore Growth Triangle (IMS-GT), and the Indonesia-Malaysia-Thailand Growth Triangle (IMT-GT). Co-operation initiatives at the sub-regional levels would further enhance growth opportunities and expedite the region’s economic recovery progress.

POLITICAL AND SECURITY CO-OPERATION

20. We welcomed the progress made by the High Contracting Parties in ratifying the Second Protocol to the Treaty of Amity and Co-operation in Southeast Asia (TAC). We reiterated our call for extra-regional states, particularly the major powers, to accede to the TAC to reinforce its continuing relevance as the basis for a framework governing inter-state relations in the region and allowing ASEAN to maintain peace and stability in the region. This would be further reinforced once the Second Protocol comes into force.
21. The ASEAN Foreign Ministers convened, for the first time, the Commission of the Southeast Asia Nuclear Weapon-Free Zone Treaty (SEANWFZ). This is the first concrete step towards the implementation of the Treaty. The Commission directed its Executive Committee to prepare the draft rules of procedure and to initiate all necessary actions to ensure compliance with the Treaty, including consultations with the Nuclear Weapon States and International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) and other related bodies.

22. We noted the consultations which had taken place between the ASEAN SOM Working Group on the Zone of Peace, Freedom and Neutrality (ZOPFAN) and SEANWFZ and the Nuclear Weapon States and urged the Nuclear Weapon States to accede to the Protocol to the SEANWFZ Treaty as another means of enhancing the regional security environment.

23. Positive progress had been made in the various ARF activities at both Track I and Track II levels, including the constructive contribution of defence and military officials. We assessed that the Intersessional Support Group on Confidence Building Measures (ISG on CBMs), the Intersessional Meeting on Disaster Relief, Intersessional Meeting on Peacekeeping Operations, and other activities under their auspices had contributed substantially to the furthering of the ARF process, through the promotion of mutual understanding and a mindset of cooperation. While recognising that the implementation of CBMs continued to be the focus of ARF, we noted the importance of advancing the ARF process on the basis of principles agreed, and in this context supported the recommendation of the ISG on CBMs to discuss the concept and principles of Preventive Diplomacy (PD) and to further explore the areas of overlap between CBMs and PD in the next intersessional year. We also encouraged increased interface between Track I and Track II and continued active participation by defence and military officials in ARF activities.

ASEAN FUNCTIONAL CO-OPERATION

24. We discussed ASEAN functional co-operation and its part in preparing ASEAN to meet the challenges of the future. We noted the progress made over the past year as recorded in the ASEAN Standing Committee (ASC) Annual Report and commended the efforts made by the functional committees to work out strategies for coping with the impact of the regional crisis in their respective areas.

25. Economic growth is sustainable only if the environment is cared for. The atmosphere and the marine environment can be protected only through regional action. The ASEAN Regional Center for Biodiversity Conservation has started operations and a network of National Biodiversity Reference Units among all ASEAN member-countries has been set up to strengthen regional co-operation in biodiversity conservation. We welcomed the initiative to develop ASEAN Criteria and Indicators for Sustainable Forest Management in the region. We also appreciated the active participation of ASEAN Member Countries in meeting the objectives and recommendations for population and sustainable development contained in the Bali Declaration.

26. We recalled the ravages wrought by the land and forest fires in parts of Southeast Asia on the health and livelihood of people and on the growth of the economies of the area in the past two years. In this connection, we fully supported the work of the Haze Technical Task Force of the ASEAN Senior Officials on the Environment (ASOEN) in monitoring, combating and preventing land and forest fires and mitigating their effects. We appreciated the support extended by the Asian Development Bank, the United Nations Environmental Programme, and the governments of Australia, Canada, and the United States. We urged the international community to continue its support.

27. Recalling our earlier decision to co-operate in ensuring the conservation and sustainability of water resources, we commended the ASOEN for taking concrete steps to pursue this initiative. We welcomed the proposed establishment of an ASEAN Network of Water Resource Agencies (ANWRA), which is expected to contribute to the realisation of ASEAN regional water conservation programme embodied in the Hanoi
28. Science & Technology co-operation had been enhanced with the development of a dynamic and responsive set of strategies to encourage intra-ASEAN cooperation and collaboration with dialogue partners and the private sector. The ASEAN Committee on Science and Technology (COST) had undertaken a project entitled ASEAN Science and Technology Network (ASTNET) to facilitate information exchange between ASEAN and international science & technology organisations and to serve as an information resource and link to the business sector.

29. We stressed the urgent need to strengthen the regional capacity to combat transnational crime. The ASEAN Ministerial Meeting on Transnational Crime held in Yangon last month had initiated a regional plan of action to combat such crimes as illicit drug trafficking, money laundering, terrorism, piracy, arms smuggling and trafficking in persons and agreed in principle to establish the ASEAN Centre for Combating Transnational Crime (ACTC). We reaffirmed ASEAN’s commitment to the Joint Declaration for a Drug-Free ASEAN, signed at the 31st AMM in Manila, and called for the support of the international community for the implementation of ASEAN drug control programmes.

30. The ASEAN University Network (AUN) had progressed in its work in promoting student and faculty exchanges, ASEAN studies and collaborative research. In connection with ASEAN’s educational goals, we welcomed the implementation of the Singapore Scholarship launched during the 6th ASEAN Summit.

31. We reaffirmed ASEAN’s policy of ensuring that the poor, the disadvantaged, and other vulnerable sectors of society, including women and children, are not harmed or neglected in the effort to promote economic growth. We stressed the crucial role of women in economic recovery programmes. It is important to focus on the social impact of the crisis and to expand social programmes in times of difficulty. We welcomed the adoption of the regional plans of action on health and nutrition, tuberculosis control and disease surveillance to assist ASEAN in addressing priorities in the areas of nutrition promotion, new, emerging and re-emerging diseases, environmental health, food and drugs safety and disability.

32. We welcomed the Action Plan and Work Programme of the ASEAN Task Force on Social Safety Nets, which aims to strengthen the capacity of ASEAN countries for developing and implementing social services for the poor and the disadvantaged. We recognised the importance of developing strategies aimed at coordinating, developing and implementing regional activities concerning Social Safety Nets. We supported the sharing of knowledge, experience, expertise and best practices in designing immediate and long-term social safety nets, as called for in the Action Plan. We acknowledged that alternative, creative and innovative ways and strategies have to be found in order to achieve these objectives and welcomed support and assistance from countries and multilateral institutions. To meet the short-term and long-term needs in these areas, particularly in Human Resource Development, we agreed to consider the establishment of an ASEAN Human Resource Development Fund, so as to facilitate the process of regional integration within ASEAN.

33. We welcomed the progress made in the work of the ASEAN Foundation during the past year. We noted its efforts to prepare a plan of action and a work programme focussing on the priority areas of the HPA, that are in the Foundation’s mandate to promote: ASEAN awareness, people-to-people interaction, human resources development and poverty alleviation. A Workshop to formulate the Medium to Long-Term Action Plan of the Foundation was held in July this year. We urged the Board of Trustees to expedite the implementation of projects on human resources development. We also noted with appreciation the contributions by Japan and China to the Foundation and urge our Dialogue Partners and the private sector to support the Foundation.
34. We reaffirmed the importance of an outward-looking ASEAN, which can play a pivotal role in international fora. We appreciated the continuing support extended by the international community, particularly ASEAN’s Dialogue Partners, to ASEAN’s activities. We hoped that our Dialogue Partners, the international financial institutions, United Nations agencies, foundations and non-governmental organisations would collaborate with ASEAN in carrying out the co-operative measures in the HPA. We are encouraged by their participation in the ASEAN Development Co-operation Forum held in the ASEAN Secretariat in Jakarta in May 1999.

35. We reaffirmed adherence to the principle of non-discrimination in the pursuit of development co-operation in ASEAN. ASEAN’s relationships with all its Dialogue Partners, as well as its co-operation with other countries and regional and international organisations are based on equality, non-interference, non-discrimination, mutual respect and mutual benefit. To ensure that ASEAN consolidates its relationships with the current Dialogue Partners, we agreed to consider new ASEAN Dialogue relationships only after July 2000.

36. We commended the work of the Special Directors-General Working Group on the Review of the Role and Functions of the ASEAN Secretariat. With the new challenges facing ASEAN over the last few years, new demands had been placed on the ASEAN Secretariat. The rationalisation of the Secretariat’s organisational structure would allow the Secretariat to be a more effective instrument in helping ASEAN prepare for the future. The completion of the Review was in line with the call in the HPA for a more responsive Secretariat.

37. In reviewing the regional and international political situation, we reiterated our conviction that a stable, strategic relationship among the major powers, particularly China, Japan, Russia and the United States was a vital contributing factor to the peace, security, stability and prosperity of the Asia-Pacific region, especially Southeast Asia. A positive framework of relations among the major powers and their efforts in enhancing their mutual understanding and co-operation in their relations at bilateral and global levels are all the more vital, in order to ensure the continuation of the economic recovery in the region.

38. We expressed our concern over the tension that arose in the Taiwan Strait after 9 July 1999, which could seriously affect regional peace and stability and prospects for economic recovery. We hoped for a quick and peaceful return to normalcy. We reaffirmed our commitment to our “One China Policy”.

39. In reviewing the situation in the South China Sea, we recognised that several issues remained a source of concern, including the overlapping and conflicting claims among the countries involved that remain unresolved. We emphasised the importance of resolving these issues in the interest of peace and stability in the region. We reiterated the need for the disputes to be settled peacefully, in accordance with the recognised principles of international law, including the 1982 United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea, and to continue to exercise self-restraint in the conduct of activities in the South China Sea. We recalled the ASEAN Foreign Ministers’ agreement in 1996 to the idea of a regional Code of Conduct which would lay the foundation for long-term stability in the area and foster understanding among claimant countries. The ASEAN Leaders agreed to promote efforts to establish a regional Code of Conduct in the South China Sea among the parties directly concerned. Pursuant to these agreements, we noted that as a follow-up to the ASEAN SOM recommendation in May 1999, the Philippines has submitted a draft Regional Code of Conduct for the immediate consideration of the ASEAN SOM Working Group on ZOPFAN and SEANWFZ at its next meeting. We recognised the positive contribution of the ongoing bilateral and multi-lateral consultations among the parties concerned at the intergovernmental level, the extensive consultations
40. We are also concerned with developments in the Korean Peninsula and agreed that the parties involved should not adopt postures which could undermine peace and security. We reaffirmed the importance of maintaining the 1953 Armistice Agreement and the Agreed Framework and hoped that all the parties would continue dialogue with a view to establishing a permanent peace regime. We expressed support for the Four-Party Talks, the inter-Korean Dialogue, the US-DPRK negotiations and the Korean Peninsula Energy Development Organization (KEDO) in promoting peace and stability on the Korean Peninsula and as a peaceful means to advance global nuclear non-proliferation. In this regard, we noted the Republic of Korea’s efforts to contribute to the stability of the Peninsula, including through the Sunshine Policy.

41. We noted with deep concern developments in Kosovo, including the humanitarian crisis, and its implications. We reaffirmed our support for the UN Charter and respect for the basic principles of international law. In this connection, we welcomed the comprehensive political settlement of the Kosovo crisis as endorsed by the United Nations Security Council Resolution S/RES/1244(1999) of 10 June 1999, and urged all parties involved to work closely with the UN in implementing the settlement.

42. We hope for a new momentum in the Middle East Peace Process and welcome the sentiments expressed by the leaders of Syria, Israel and the Palestinians to move on to a comprehensive peace in the region. We welcomed recent encouraging statements by the new Prime Minister of Israel to withdraw from Southern Lebanon within the year and to implement the Wye River Agreement in full, thus paving the way for the further return of territory to Palestine National Authority (PNA). We urged the parties concerned to implement all agreements signed and all pledges and commitments made following the Oslo Peace Accords and Madrid Conference, in particular the principle of land for peace, in due compliance with relevant United Nations Resolutions. We also called for an early resumption of negotiations between Israel, Syria, Lebanon and PNA in order to achieve a comprehensive and lasting peace in the Middle East. We called on Israel to take steps for the immediate and full cessation of the construction of the settlement at Jabel Abu Ghameim and similar activities in the West Bank.

43. We welcomed the agreement reached by India and Pakistan to end hostilities along the Line of Control and urged both sides to resolve the dispute through dialogue.

44. We reaffirmed our support for the goals and principles of the Non-Aligned Movement (NAM). We stressed the importance of the NAM as a unifying forum not only for discussions but also co-operation among developing countries, so that they may exert a more active influence on the direction and management of world affairs. We recognised the NAM’s strength as a significant leverage in negotiations vis-a-vis the developed countries on crucial political and economic issues. We emphasised the need to continue the active and collective promotion of agreed positions of the NAM members in the UN and in the international arena.

45. We exchanged views on the need to reform the UN Security Council, particularly on the aspect of representation among the developing countries. We agreed that the reform and expansion of the Security Council should be considered as a package. Any reform, however, must take into account the principle of sovereign equality of states and equitable geographical distribution. There is also the need for transparency, accountability and democratisation in the working methods and procedures of the Security Council, particularly in its decision-making process.

46. We stressed the importance for all states that have not signed or ratified the Comprehensive Test Ban
Annex 135

Treaty (CTBT) and the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty (NPT) to do so. We urged all states to refrain from undertaking weaponisation or deploying missiles to deliver nuclear weapons, and to prevent any transfer of nuclear weapon-related materials, technology and equipment. To this end, we called for the immediate commencement and early conclusion of negotiations in the Conference on Disarmament on a treaty banning the production of fissile material for nuclear weapons purposes as an essential measure of nuclear disarmament and non-proliferation of nuclear weapons. We also called on the nuclear weapon states to make further efforts towards achieving the ultimate objective of eliminating nuclear weapons.

47. We noted the progress that has been made on the implementation of the Chemical Weapons Convention (CWC) and called on all states which had not ratified or acceded to the CWC to do so. Progress has also been made in the work on the protocol dealing with compliance and verification of the Biological Weapons Convention (BWC). To this end, we commended the work of the Ad Hoc Group of State Parties to the BWC.

48. We supported the ongoing negotiations to draft an international convention against organised transnational crime, as well as its supplementary protocols on addressing trafficking in women and children, and illegal trafficking in firearms. We urged the international community to focus its attention on the problem of transnational crime, and called on the UN to play the lead role in co-ordinating the efforts of Member States to deal with this problem.

49. We noted the entry into force of the Convention on the Prohibition of the Use, Stockpiling, Production and Transfer of Anti-Personnel Mines and on their Destruction. We agreed to support initiatives to enhance international co-operation on demining, including training, and in the removal of unexploded ordinance as well as the rehabilitation of mine victims.

50. We recalled the decision of the 26th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting held on 23–24 July 1993 in Singapore to consider the establishment of an appropriate regional mechanism on human rights and noted the establishment of the informal non-governmental Working Group for an ASEAN Human Rights Mechanism. The Working Group and ASEAN officials have met regularly since the 29th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting in Jakarta, most recently on 22 July 1999 in Singapore. We recognised the importance of continuing these dialogues.

INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC ISSUES

51. We welcomed the improved outlook for world output growth and noted that significant challenges remain. We called upon the major countries to address the downside risks to the world output growth and to implement appropriate macroeconomic and structural measures. We emphasised the importance of open and competitive markets to sustain growth and stability and urged further market access for ASEAN exports. We welcomed China’s commitment and effort to reform the financial sector and state-owned enterprise for sustainable development, and its continued pledge not to devalue its currency. We noted the signs of imminent recovery in Japan and welcomed Japan’s continued efforts in putting in place measures to stimulate domestic demand-led growth. We noted with appreciation Japan’s US$30 billion assistance to Asia through the Miyazawa initiative. We hoped the United States would direct policies at ensuring sustainable non-inflationary growth. We welcomed the launch of the Euro and looked forward to the increased role of the Euro in facilitating greater stability in international financial markets and urged Europe to implement policies to support domestic demand.

52. In this regard, we reiterated our support for the ASEAN consensus forged by the ASEAN Finance Ministers on the reform of the international financial architecture. We called for expeditious implementation of the concrete measures that have already achieved a high degree of consensus.
World Trade Organisation (WTO)

53. We looked forward to the 3rd WTO Ministerial Conference to be held in Seattle, USA on 30 November-3 December 1999. This meeting would provide an important opportunity to shape the future work programme of the WTO. We urged our officials to contribute positively towards the preparations underway in Geneva by submitting specific work proposals regarding the WTO’s future work programme, with a view to the early finalisation of a substantive and balanced agenda for the Ministerial Conference.

54. We emphasised the importance of the membership of Cambodia, Laos and Vietnam in the WTO and reiterated our full support for their early admission. We urged the WTO to expedite the accession process.

Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC)

55. We are heartened by the signs of recovery in a number of APEC Members’ economies but agreed that much still needs to be done to put in place measures that would facilitate a sustainable recovery. In this respect, we welcomed the significant capacity-building initiatives announced at the APEC Leaders Meeting in Kuala Lumpur last year.

56. We noted the continuous efforts to liberalise trade and investment and APEC’s key role in strengthening the multilateral trading system. APEC has an important opportunity to make significant contributions to the WTO this year in the run-up to the 3rd WTO Ministerial Conference in Seattle. We pledged our support to New Zealand during its Chairmanship of APEC and expressed confidence that important outcomes would be achieved under its leadership.

Asia-Europe Meeting (ASEM)

57. We were pleased by the strong registration of continued commitment and support towards the ASEM process at the 2nd ASEM Foreign Ministers Meeting of 29 March 1999. We reaffirmed our determination to keep the ASEM process open and evolutionary. We acknowledged that changes in the global and regional landscapes of Asia and Europe had made it more important for both regions to strengthen existing co-operation, which would constitute the basis for a stable Asia-Europe new comprehensive partnership.
Annex 136

Association of Southeast Asian Nations, Chairman's Statement: 6th Meeting of the ASEAN Regional Forum (26 July 1999)
Chairman's Statement of the 6th Meeting of the ASEAN Regional Forum, Singapore, 26 July 1999

The Sixth Meeting of the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) was held in Singapore on 26 July 1999. The Meeting was chaired by H.E. Professor S Jayakumar, Minister for Foreign Affairs of Singapore, The Meeting was attended by all ARF participants. The Secretary General of ASEAN was also present.

- The Ministers welcomed Mongolia joining the 6th ARF as a new participant.

- The Ministers welcomed the admission of the Kingdom of Cambodia as a member of ASEAN, thereby realising the vision of ASEAN-10. They expressed confidence that ASEAN-10 will contribute to peace and stability in Southeast Asia.

Overview of the ARF Process

- The Ministers expressed satisfaction that the ARF has continued to serve as the key forum for political and security dialogue and co-operation in the region. They noted that since its inception in 1994, the ARF Ministers and senior officials have become more comfortable with each other through frequent interactions at the various ARF fora. Such enhanced comfort levels have enabled ARF participants to exchange views frankly on issues of common concern, thereby encouraging greater transparency and mutual understanding. The Ministers agreed to build on these strong foundations to move the process forward so that the ARF would continue to remain relevant and able to respond to the challenges posed by the changing political and security environment of the region. The Ministers noted the useful exchange of views at the lunch gathering of senior defence officials, and welcomed the continuation of this practice at future ARF Ministerial Meetings. The Ministers further noted the constructive contributions that defence and military officials have made to the ARF process and encouraged their continued participation in all relevant ARF activities.

- The Ministers emphasised that the ARF process will continue to develop at a pace that is comfortable to all participants and reaffirmed their commitment to make decisions by consensus. They noted that this has contributed to steady progress being made. The Ministers emphasised the importance of confidence building to the success of the ARF and encouraged the further development of confidence building measures (CBMs). They endorsed the recommendations of the ARF Senior Officials Meeting and the ARF Inter-sessional Support Group on Confidence Building Measures (ISG on CBMs) to discuss the concept and principles of Preventive Diplomacy and noted the common understandings reached on the four tabled proposals relating to the overlap between CBMs and Preventive Diplomacy. The Ministers noted that this was a positive step forward. He called for an intensification of dialogue and cooperation between ASEAN and the countries of Northeast Asia to move the whole East Asian region to higher levels of integration and partnership.

4. The highlights of the exchange of views and the agreements during the Informal Summit are as follows:

Current Security Environment

5. The HOS/G had a useful exchange of views on current political and security developments in the region. They recognized how the evolving regional security environment during the 1990s has given rise to new forms of security challenges for ASEAN. They agreed that ASEAN should make its long-held principles and approaches more relevant to meet these new security challenges.

6. In this regard, they noted the results of the Informal retreat of the ASEAN Foreign Ministers held in Singapore in July 1,999, particularly their frank and candid discussions on the need for ASEAN to adapt to the challenges posed by its expansion, human rights, governance, and the environment. They called on the Foreign Ministers to sustain this constructive effort, guided by the larger interest of ASEAN mutual solidarity, unity, and cohesion.

7. President Abdurrahman Wahid of Indonesia briefed the Meeting on the latest developments in Aceh, Indonesia. In this connection, the HOS/G reiterated their full respect for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of the Republic of Indonesia. They expressed their support for the efforts of President Wahid toward a peaceful settlement of the situation in Aceh.

8. The HOS/G were of the view that ASEAN made a significant contribution to the progress of multilateral regional cooperation to promote security through the ASEAN Regional Forum. They agreed to complement ARF initiatives by engaging neighboring countries in East Asia to more regular summit dialogues on political and security issues.

9. The HOS/G agreed to the proposal to set up an ASEAN Troika at the ministerial level in order that ASEAN could address more effectively and cooperate more closely on issues affecting peace and stability of the region.

10. On the South China Sea, the HOS/G reaffirmed the need for a regional Code of Conduct in the South China Sea. They noted the report of the Ministers that ASEAN now has a draft regional code of conduct, and further consultations will be made on the draft with a view to advancing the process on the adoption of the Code.

Economic Resurgence, Financial Issues, and Future Competitiveness

11. The HOS/G noted the improved regional economic outlook for ASEAN this year. In welcoming this development, however, they agreed that greater vigilance in the exercise of joint efforts in various areas of common interest in the financial and economic sector is necessary to guard against complacency and the risks that could affect the economic recovery in Asia. As such, the HOS/G endeavored to build upon its efforts in enhancing ASEAN business environments and to promote transparency, as well as corporate and industrial governance reforms.

12. The HOS/G welcomed the successful implementation of the Bold Measures adopted at the Sixth ASEAN Summit and the steady progress of work in ASEAN economic and financial cooperation, including trade facilitation and liberalization activities. In a landmark decision, the HOS/G committed to eliminate all import duties by 2010, ahead of the original schedule, for the six original members of ASEAN. They also agreed in principle to advance the schedule from 2018 to 2015 for the new members of ASEAN, but allowing some sensitive products to follow the original date of 2018. They noted that 90 per cent of the Inclusion List of the six original signatories to the CEPT Agreement would have tariffs of 0-5% by 1 January 2000. They also welcomed the efforts which advanced work in the ASEAN Industrial Cooperation Scheme AICO and the new initiatives that will allow for the participation of SMEs in the AICO Scheme.

14. HOS/G noted the importance of domestic and foreign investment flows in sustaining the region's economic recovery. To mobilise surplus savings and strengthen financial intermediation in ASEAN, the HOS/G tasked their Finance Ministers to develop active and deep capital markets, especially bond markets, throughout the region. This would also reduce the vulnerability of ASEAN to external shocks.

15. The HSO/G were pleased that the 1999 ASEAN Investment Report has been published to provide the public with useful analyses of the latest FDI trends and developments in ASEAN. This is one of ASEAN's deliverables for 1999, emphasizing ASEAN's resolve to improve economic transparency in the region. Transparency is one of the core elements of the ASEAN Framework Agreement on the ASEAN Investment Area and the ASEAN Agreement for the Promotion and Protection of Investment.

16. The HOS/G are pleased with the launching of the e-ASEAN as a new initiative during the 31st ASEAN Economic Ministers Meeting in Singapore in October 1999. This decision will help ASEAN improve its competitiveness in the global market. The HOS/G noted that Mr. Roberto R. Romulo had been designated to lead the high-level Public-Private Task Force on e-ASEAN which will be developing an action plan to implement the above-cited recommendations and to foster an active collaboration between the private and public sectors with the objective of evolving an ASEAN e-space. They also agreed to the establishment of free trade area (FTA) for goods, services, and investments for the info-com industries under a new e-ASEAN agreement.

18. The HOS/G welcomed the developments in the implementation of the various finance programmes listed in the Hanoi Plan of Action. The progressive character of the discussions on the Reform of the International Financial Architecture has been duly noted by the HOS/G as positive developments that would lead up to enhancing efficiency and stability in financial markets and in promoting global economic activity.

They likewise noted progress in the conduct of the peer review process of the economic situation in ASEAN and welcomed the support extended by the Asian Development Bank (ADB) and the United Nations Development Programme to the ASP. The HOS/G directed their respective Ministers to explore further options to strengthen regional support mechanisms.

20. The participation of the private sector was collectively acknowledged by the HOS/G as a vital element in crisis prevention and crisis resolution. As such, they encouraged private sector inputs and contributions to the various collective efforts of ASEAN. They also called for the expansion of initiatives that will further promote joint ventures and linkages among small and medium enterprises (SMEs) and large-scale enterprises (LSEs).

Social Issues Including Social Safety Nets
21. The HOS/G were pleased with the progress of work done in the implementation of ASEAN's Social Safety Net Programmes. They expressed appreciation for the support of some of ASEAN's Dialogue Partners and international organizations such as ADB, World Bank, and the IMF to these Programmes and other social development initiatives. They noted the plan to adopt the ASEAN Joint Declaration on Socially Cohesive and Caring Societies at the ASEAN Ministerial Meeting in July 2000 in Bangkok.

22. The HOS/G also welcomed the various collaborative work being undertaken by various ASEAN fora with government organizations, non-government organizations, and international organizations in the conduct of projects that will address the impact of the crisis and alleviate poverty. They likewise stressed the need to respond to other social issues affecting the elderly, women, children, and other disadvantaged sectors, including general concerns on employment, public health, and education.

23. Given these positive developments, they instructed their Ministers to explore other initiatives that would allow for greater multilateral and international support to and participation in the programmes, taking into consideration the mutual interests of ASEAN and international organizations in these areas of concern. One such initiative is in the area of HRD: a tie-up between labor-exporting and labor-importing countries to create a skills training center, in partnership with the private sector.

24. They acknowledged the effort of the ASEAN Secretariat in promoting these initiatives among ASEAN's Dialogue partners and international organizations and called for sustained effort in this regard.

25. Acknowledging the serious impact of transnational crime on peace, prosperity, the well-being of the people, and progress of ASEAN, the HOS/G committed to move forward and intensify individual and collective efforts to address transnational crime, such as drug trafficking. They noted the importance of the early establishment of the ASEAN Center for Combating Transnational Crime (ACTC) and the desirability of generating support from other international organizations and countries, including ASEAN's Dialogue Partners.

26. The HOS/G affirmed their common commitment to improving the standards of living of the people as the primary objective of all the reforms and the financial and economic cooperation activities being pursued within the ASEAN processes and framework.

The Future Direction of ASEAN

32. The HOS/G welcomed the Philippine initiative to strengthen cooperation and consultation among the countries in East Asia to enhance peace, stability, and prosperity in the region. They agreed on its incorporation into the work of the East Asia Vision Group (EAVG), which shall present its report on East Asian cooperation in the 21st century at the 7th ASEAN Summit in Brunei in 2001.

International Economic Issues

33. The HOS/G looked forward to the successful conclusion of the Third WTO Ministerial Conference. They expressed optimism that this Meeting would demonstrate the WTO's relevance as a vehicle for a more open, freer, and fairer global trade and investment regime. They called for the full and effective implementation of the Uruguay Round Agreements and expressed their support to the launch of a new Round of multilateral trade negotiations.
34. The HOS/G agreed that negotiations on agriculture should aim at continuing the liberalization process of world agricultural trade, including increased market access, elimination of export subsidies and trade-distorting domestic support, taking into account the development needs of developing countries, including non-trade concerns and food security.

A COMPREHENSIVE DEVELOPMENT AGENDA

Association of Southeast Asian Nations, Joint Communiqué: 35th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting (30 July 2002)
RESPONDING TO CHALLENGES: SECURING A BETTER FUTURE

1. We, the Foreign Ministers of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), met in Bandar Seri Begawan to review regional and international political and economic developments, bearing in mind our resolve, to take full advantage of the opportunities offered by globalisation and address the new security concerns raised by the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks in the United States. These were among the important factors in the evolving situation that underlined the urgency for ASEAN to respond.

2. We expressed with appreciation the keynote address by His Majesty Sultan Haji Hassanal Bolkiah of Brunei Darussalam. His Majesty stated that the most pressing issue for ASEAN is economic progress and ASEAN needs to respond rapidly to this challenge. His Majesty also stated that the cooperation between ASEAN and its Dialogue Partners is now an integral part of ASEAN itself. His Majesty highlighted that terrorism, at its deepest, level threatened all international order and challenges the fundamental values set in the Bangkok Declaration. His Majesty also stressed that terrorism must be addressed through a comprehensive strategy. His Majesty emphasised that ASEAN countries, individually and as a group, have enormous strength, vigour and dynamism and there is no lack of resolution, foresight and sheer talent in the region. In this regard, ASEAN needs to make its work more meaningful to the people so as to fulfill the dream of the founding fathers of ASEAN and the vision set out by the leaders in the new century.

3. We are fully committed to strengthening our bilateral, regional and international cooperation to counter terrorism in a comprehensive manner and to make Southeast Asia a safer place for all as reflected in the 7th ASEAN Summit Declaration on Joint Action to Counter Terrorism. We believe this would ensure peace, stability and security in our efforts to achieve greater development, progress and prosperity in ASEAN.

4. Encouraged by the achievements and progress of ASEAN over the years, we are determined to work even harder. We resolved towards realising the ASEAN Vision 2020 through the implementation of the Hanoi Plan of Action and the development of the Roadmap for the Integration of ASEAN (RIA) as instructed by our Leaders at the 7th ASEAN Summit.

5. Our priority is to further enhance our integration especially in ensuring the strength and competitiveness of our economies. In this regard, the realisation on 1 January 2002 of the ASEAN Free Trade Area (AFTA) among the original six signatories represented a very important milestone to an even deeper integration. We are confident that the implementation of AFTA by our new members would be carried out as scheduled. We would exert every effort to go beyond AFTA and the ASEAN Investment Area (AIA) by deepening market liberalization in trade, services and investment.

6. We recognised the strategic value of intensifying our dialogue processes within ASEAN as well as developing linkages with friends and partners in promoting cooperation, broader understanding and addressing areas of common concern. Through our own Summits and Ministerial Meetings, Post Ministerial Conferences (PMC), ASEAN Dialogue Relations, ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) and the ASEAN + 3 process and other relevant international fora, we can maintain our coherence and cohesiveness and ensure that ASEAN continues to play a pivotal role, and to remain open and outward-looking.

7. In order to provide for better prospects and greater confidence for our people, friends and partners, we are determined to take urgent concrete measures in addressing the immediate and long-term concerns affecting the region.

COMBATING TERRORISM

8. We recognised that terrorism is a global threat and that the disturbing acts of terrorism and transnational crimes, which continue to threaten world peace and stability, must be tackled by the international community. Towards this end, we called for the need to undertake concerted efforts and concrete initiatives at all levels.

9. We acknowledged that following the 2001 ASEAN Declaration on Joint Action to Counter Terrorism adopted during the 7th ASEAN Summit in November 2001 in Brunei Darussalam, ASEAN at all levels had undertaken practical measures and further enhanced its role and contribution in the fight against terrorism. We noted the increased cooperation and activities among the frontline agencies in ASEAN. We welcomed the adoption of the Work Programme on Terrorism by the Second Annual Senior Officials’ Meeting on Transnational Crime and endorsed by the Special ASEAN Ministerial Meeting on Terrorism in Kuala Lumpur in May 2002. We believed that the Work Programme would further enhance information / intelligence exchanges particularly on terrorists and their organisations, movement, financial support as well as strengthen our legal infrastructure and law enforcement capabilities. We would also work towards developing our regional training and capacity-building programmes. We are also determined to enhance counter-terrorism cooperation in line with specific circumstances in our respective countries.

10. We welcomed the signing of the Agreement on Information Exchange and Establishment of Communication Procedures between the Republic of Indonesia, Malaysia and the Republic of the Philippines in Putrajaya, Malaysia on 7 May 2002 as a significant building block in the international campaign against terrorism. We also welcomed Cambodia's accession to the Agreement on 30 July 2002.

11. We have also broadened our cooperation and involvement with the international community through the United Nations, our Dialogue Partners, the ASEAN Regional Forum and the ASEAN + 3 process. We affirmed that at the international level the United Nations should play a major role. In this regard, we fully supported the implementation of the Security Council Resolution 1373 and noted that all ASEAN countries have submitted their reports in compliance with the Resolution. We looked forward to further efforts by the international community to provide technical assistance and other support to ASEAN Member Countries in need of such in implementing Security Council Resolution 1373.

12. We believed that all these efforts would bolster ASEAN’s capability and capacity to contribute to the fight against terrorism at the regional as well as at the international levels.
13. Globalisation has intertwined the economic fates of many countries. The 11 September attacks came at a difficult time for most of our ASEAN economies, recovering from the 1997-1998 financial crisis and heavily dependent on exports. However, we welcomed the projection of ASEAN’s economic growth of 3.5-4% this year.

14. Much needs to be done in ensuring sustainable economic recovery in the region. Tackling the remaining challenges from the financial crisis is our priority. While noting the progress achieved in these areas, we pledged our continued commitment to work together and individually in financial and corporate sector restructuring.

15. We will respond to the challenges posed by the economic diversity of our expanded ASEAN with greater coherence and cohesiveness through the development of RIA. The Roadmap would bring together our various initiatives to deepen economic cooperation, to accelerate integration and to bridge the development gap in ASEAN.

16. The RIA would also ensure that our economies remain competitive and dynamic through strengthening AFTA, accelerating the ASEAN Investment Area (AIA) and fostering industrial linkages through the ASEAN Industrial Cooperation (AICO). ASEAN would further work towards facilitating, enhancing cooperation and progressively liberalising trade in services and tourism. Through the Initiative for ASEAN Integration (IAI), we would increase the development levels of our members by focusing on capacity-building and human resources development in areas such as energy, telecommunications, and transportation especially within the Mekong Basin and our other sub-regional growth areas.

17. We endorsed the Initiative for ASEAN Integration (IAI) Work Plan together with programmes and projects focusing on four-priority areas namely human resource development, infrastructure, information communication technology and regional economic integration. The Work Plan would serve as a roadmap to implement the Hanoi Declaration on Narrowing the Development Gap for Closer ASEAN Integration. We welcomed the convening of the IAI Development Cooperation Forum (IDCF) in Jakarta on 15-16 August 2002. We also welcomed the initiative of the six older ASEAN Members to launch joint IAI projects to help narrow the development gap within ASEAN. This would be a significant step in demonstrating ASEAN’s commitment in helping its new members in the integration efforts under the IAI.

18. We recognised the increasing global competition for investment and markets and in this regard, we welcomed efforts initiated by our Economic Ministers for an ASEAN Competitiveness Study to be realised. We believed this would complement our AIA initiative to further promote ASEAN as a competitive investment destination.

19. We would continue to work together for our peoples and businesses to better equip them for communication and competition in the new economy. In this context, we have committed to accelerate the implementation of the e-ASEAN Framework Agreement and looked forward to the establishment of an ASEAN Business Advisory Council (ABAC). We would also help businesses by promoting freer movement of goods and people through the ASEAN Framework Agreement on Facilitation of Goods in Transit and through the ASEAN Tourism Agreement to be signed by our Leaders at the 8th ASEAN Summit in Phnom Penh in November 2002.
20. Mindful that this is a difficult time for the multilateral trading system, we were thus encouraged that a consensus was reached at the WTO Ministerial Meeting in Doha, which underscored the importance of development in the trade agenda. We will work closely with our economic partners in negotiations at the WTO towards achieving greater market access for products and services of developing economies, including that of ASEAN. We reiterated our call for the early accession of Cambodia, Laos and Viet Nam into the WTO, taking into account their different stages of development and the basic principles of special and differential treatment.

21. In emphasising the importance of establishing linkages with our other partners, we pledged to work together to implement the decision of our Leaders and the Chinese Premier at the last Summit to formalise the Framework Agreement on ASEAN-China Economic Cooperation, including the establishment of the ASEAN-China Free Trade Area within 10 years with special and differential treatment and flexibility to the new members. We looked forward to the signing of the Framework Agreement at the forthcoming ASEAN-China Summit. We also considered the idea of having a feasibility study on establishing an East Asia Free Trade Area (EAFTA).

22. We resolved to further strengthen the ASEAN + 3 cooperation. In this context, we noted the need to strengthen the ASEAN Secretariat in Jakarta and Malaysia’s offer to host the ASEAN + 3 Secretariat in Kuala Lumpur.

23. We commended the work on the closer economic partnership with the CER countries and in this regard, welcomed a Ministerial Declaration to be signed in September this year. We also looked forward to further progress in developing closer economic partnership with Japan. We were encouraged by the recent development of a comprehensive work programme between ASEAN and the US to further strengthen our trade and investment ties. These linkages would ensure that ASEAN continues to practise open regionalism and remain outward-looking and supportive of the multilateral trading system.

24. We welcomed the decision of our Leaders at the 7th ASEAN Summit to consider the idea of convening ASEAN + 1 Summits with other Dialogue Partners starting with ASEAN-India at the forthcoming Summit in Cambodia.

25. We recognised the importance of sub-regional growth areas to the overall development in the region. We welcomed the active involvement of the private sector and the Asian Development Bank in the ASEAN sub-regional growth areas such as the Brunei Darussalam-Indonesia-Malaysia-Philippines – East ASEAN Growth Area (BIMP-EAGA), Indonesia-Malaysia-Thailand – Growth Triangle (IMT-GT), Singapore-Johor-Riau Growth Triangle (SIJORI), ASEAN-Mekong Basin Development Cooperation (AMBDC), East-West Corridor and the Cambodia-Laos-Viet Nam Development Triangle.

26. We commended the work of our Finance and Economic colleagues in these areas and believe our work would offer great opportunities for our peoples and our business sectors.
FUNCTIONAL COOPERATION

27. We were pleased with the progress that ASEAN has achieved in promoting functional cooperation. We commended the work produced by our Ministers responsible for Social Welfare, Science and Technology, Health, Environment, Labour, Law and Transnational Crimes and expressed full support for the implementation of their recommendations.

28. We reviewed ongoing efforts in ASEAN under the Framework for the ASEAN Plan of Action on Rural Development and Poverty Eradication and the ASEAN Plan of Action on Social Safety Nets. Recognizing that poverty is one of the central challenges in today’s economy and society and reaffirming our commitment to uplift our people from poverty, we noted the Philippines’ proposal to establish an ASEAN facility for micro-lending for the poor and requested the relevant ASEAN bodies to consider it.

29. We welcomed the adoption of the ASEAN Declaration on HIV/AIDS and the 2nd Work Plan on HIV/AIDS, by the Leaders at the 7th ASEAN Summit. In this regard, we were pleased with the implementation of the programmes in tackling the HIV/AIDS issues under the Work Plan.

30. We welcomed the adoption of the Work Programme to Implement the ASEAN Plan of Action To Combat Transnational Crimes in Kuala Lumpur, 17 May 2002. We believed that the Work Programme would further strengthen our capacity to combat transnational crimes such as illicit drug trafficking, trafficking in persons, sea piracy, arms smuggling, money laundering, terrorism, international economic crime and cyber crime. We reaffirmed our commitment towards a Drug-Free ASEAN 2015 and expressed satisfaction on the progress in realising the ASEAN Drug Awareness Years 2002-2003. We called on all our partners in the ASEAN-China Cooperative Operations in Respond to Dangerous Drugs (ACCORD) Plan of Action to take immediate and practical measures to combat illegal drugs and narcotics trafficking in accordance with the said Plan of Action.

31. We reiterated the message contained in the Joint Statement of the ASEAN Ministers Responsible for Environment to the World Summit on Sustainable Development, particularly in setting in place targeted, time-bound, practical and implementable actions for achieving specific sustainable development goals.

32. We recalled the decision made by the 26th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting to consider the establishment of an appropriate mechanism on human rights. In this regard, we noted the First and Second Workshops on the ASEAN Regional Mechanism on Human Rights hosted respectively by Indonesia from 5-6 July 2001 and the Philippines from 13-15 June 2002. We also noted the 9th ASEAN-ISIS Colloquium on Human Rights, held from 23-24 February 2002, in Manila. We deemed that these efforts could contribute in enhancing the exchange of views among different sectors in ASEAN towards the realisation of the concept of an ASEAN human rights mechanism. We also acknowledged the importance of continuing dialogue with the Working Group for an ASEAN Human Rights Mechanism.

33. In improving the quality of lives of our peoples, we pledged to continue our efforts in enhancing these initiatives. We believed that these would bring all sectors of society closer together, especially our women and youth. We stressed the importance of promoting effective outreach programmes through cultural cooperation, science and technology exchanges, and environmental awareness at the national and regional levels.

POLITICAL AND SECURITY COOPERATION

34. We exchanged views on a wide range of political and security issues affecting the region. We noted that the overall security environment in the Southeast Asian region remains stable and peaceful despite the existence of certain challenges. Encouraged by positive developments, we will continue to play an important role in the promotion of peace, stability and economic progress in Southeast Asia and in the wider Asia-Pacific region.

35. We stressed the importance of maintaining the territorial integrity, sovereignty, and unity of states. In this context, we recognised the need to address threats and challenges posed by issues such as separatism and terrorism.

36. We reaffirmed the usefulness of informal open and frank dialogue amongst ASEAN to address issues of common concern to the region. We have strengthened the ASEAN mechanism by having an annual Leaders’ Summit, Ministerial Meetings and Retreats to guide, assess and review developments in ASEAN and its relationship with friends and partners. In recognising the need for ASEAN to remain relevant and able to respond and adapt to changes in the regional and international environment, we agreed to meet and consult on urgent issues in a timely manner.

37. We were satisfied that the ARF, as the key forum for political and security dialogue in the Asia-Pacific region, continued to make significant progress in addressing regional security concerns, implementing confidence-building measures and beginning exploratory work on Preventive Diplomacy. Given our resolve for ASEAN to maintain its role as the primary driving force, we will continually strengthen the Forum by considering further initiatives and other means including the Forum’s expansion to meet the challenges of the evolving strategic security situation.

38. We reaffirmed that the Treaty of Amity and Cooperation (TAC) in Southeast Asia serves as the framework governing relations among Southeast Asian states and those outside the region. We welcomed the intention of China, Russia and India to accede to the Treaty and renewed our call to other Dialogue Partners and interested countries, in particular the major powers, to accede. We recalled that the adoption of the Rules of Procedure of the High Council of the Treaty and the Instrument of Accession would facilitate accession of interested parties.

39. We welcomed the on-going consultations between ASEAN and the Nuclear Weapon States (NWS) on the Protocol of Southeast Asian Nuclear Weapon-Free Zone (SEANWFZ) Treaty and urged the NWS to sign the Protocol of the Treaty as soon as possible.

40. We reaffirm that the adoption of a code of conduct in the South China Sea would further promote peace and stability in the region and agreed to work towards a Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea. In this regard, we agreed to work closely with China with a view to adopting the Declaration. All parties concerned are encouraged to continue the exercise of self-restraint and we welcomed their commitment to resolving disputes in the South China Sea by peaceful means in conformity with recognised principles of international law including the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS) as well as to ensuring the freedom of navigation in the area.

41. We were satisfied with the on-going South China Sea Workshops on Managing Potential Conflict in the South China Sea through dialogue, confidence-building and cooperative measures. REGIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL ISSUES

43. We warmly welcomed the initiative of the Royal Thai Government in inaugurating the Asia Cooperation Dialogue (ACD) on 18-19 June 2002, in Thailand, which aimed to provide a non-institutionalising arrangement for dialogue and the exchange of ideas to promote synergy within Asia through consolidating collective strengths. We noted that the ACD, as an evolving, open and informal process, would serve to complement existing regional cooperation and that ASEAN’s role and contribution is essential to ACD’s incremental and steady progress towards forging Asia-wide cooperation, which would make Asia a strong partner for other regions of the world.

44. We welcomed the Democratic Republic of East Timor as a new member of the international community and were prepared to engage East Timor in the long-term. We had invited East Timor to the 35th AMM and agreed to extend similar invitation for future AMMs. We noted East Timor’s intention to become observer to ASEAN and to accede to the TAC. We would continue to consult with East Timor on this matter.

45. We support the continued efforts of the Royal Government of Cambodia to bring the senior leaders of Democratic Kampuchea and those who were most responsible for the crimes and serious violations of Cambodian penal law, international humanitarian law and custom, and international conventions recognised by the Kingdom of Cambodia to trial in accordance with international standards of justice, fairness and due process of law. We recognised, in this connection, the need of the Royal Government of Cambodia and the United Nations to cooperate together and appeal to the international community, to provide assistance in this regard.

46. We noted the national efforts in dealing with any violation of international human rights and humanitarian law.
47. We welcomed the readiness of Democratic People’s Republic of Korea (DPRK) and the Republic of Korea (ROK) to resume the inter-Korean dialogue and appreciated the role of other parties in bringing this into effect. We encouraged both Koreas to implement further follow-up measures to enhance inter-Korean reconciliation and cooperation in the spirit of the 15 June 2000 North-South Joint Declaration. We called for further promotion of the peace process on the Korean Peninsula and emphasised the importance of holding the second inter-Korean summit.

48. We considered peace and stability in South Asia as important to the whole region and beyond. We expressed the hope that India and Pakistan would take all necessary steps to defuse tensions. We called on both countries to resume immediate dialogue, strengthen their cooperation and resolve their differences through peaceful means to restore and maintain peace and stability.

49. We expressed concern over the latest developments in the Middle East and condemned the recent Israeli air attack in Gaza resulting in the death of innocent civilians. We reaffirmed our support for the Middle East Peace Process and called on Israel and the Palestinian Authority to resume peaceful negotiations towards a comprehensive and full settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict. We reiterated the importance of ensuring full implementation of all relevant United Nations resolutions and the pledges and commitments made by both parties at the Madrid Conference and at Sharm El-Sheikh. We welcomed all peace initiatives aimed towards achieving a comprehensive and lasting solution to the Middle East problem.

50. We welcomed the election of the new government in Afghanistan by the Loya Jirga and hoped that the newly-elected government would bring peace and stability in the country. We welcomed the Pledging Conference on the Reconstruction Assistance of Afghanistan held in Tokyo this year and urged members of the international community to continue to provide necessary assistance in all areas for the development of the country.

51. In view of the United States withdrawal from the 1972 ABM Treaty, we welcomed the signing of the Treaty on Strategic Offensive Reductions between the Russian Federation and the United States on 24 May 2002, bearing in mind the importance of this Treaty as a contribution to the maintenance of strategic balance, world peace and long-term international security. We further called for the nuclear weapons states to continue dialogue to look for new ideas and approaches to address the issue of nuclear disarmament.

ENHANCING ASEAN’S RELEVANCE

52. We believed that ASEAN faces serious challenges from within and from outside. They encompass the political, social and economic lives of our peoples. ASEAN is responding with a combination of ambitious initiatives and pragmatic programmes addressing the needs of our people and the demands of a globalising world. This requires our institutions to evolve to remain relevant, our member countries to reflect and reorient to remain dynamic and competitive and to develop linkages with each other and other regional and international organisations.

53. We have also strengthened the capacity of ASEAN institutions by implementing our Leaders’ decision on the role and functions of the ASEAN Secretariat. We endorsed Singapore’s nomination of Mr Ong Keng Yong to succeed Mr. Roldolfo C. Severino, Jr. as the next Secretary-General of ASEAN and agreed to recommend his appointment to the Heads of State / Government of ASEAN.

54. We believed that ASEAN continues to provide the necessary and relevant framework for cooperation and dialogue among nations and peoples. We are therefore resolved to work closely together to meet the challenges to regional peace, stability and sustained growth in the ASEAN region with renewed vigour to build a strong foundation for a secure and prosperous ASEAN.

Association of Southeast Asian Nations, Joint Communiqué: 36th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting (17 June 2003)
Joint Communiqué of the 36th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting Phnom Penh, 16-17 June 2003

1. We, the Ministers of Foreign Affairs of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), met in Phnom Penh on 16-17 June 2003, the first time that Cambodia had hosted our annual regular meeting.

The meeting was chaired by H.E. Mr. H OR Namhong, Senior Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation of the Kingdom of Cambodia.

2. Present for the event was Honorable Sir Robbie Namaliu, Minister for Foreign Affairs and Immigration of Papua New Guinea, a special observer in ASEAN. His Excellency Mr. José Ramos-Horta, Senior Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs and Cooperation of the Democratic Republic of Timor-Leste, was present as guest of the Chairman of the 36th ASEAN Standing Committee.

3. His Excellency Samdech Hun Sen, Prime Minister of Cambodia, favored us with a keynote address, which we deeply appreciated. In his address, His Excellency the Prime Minister stressed the achievements of ASEAN in contributing to regional peace and security, Southeast Asia’s sense of identity, and the political, security, economic, trade, investment and financial architecture of the region. He cited in particular the agreements and decisions reached at the 8th ASEAN Summit in Phnom Penh in terms of ASEAN’s economic integration and solidarity. His Excellency Prime Minister Hun Sen urged the ASEAN Foreign Ministers to accomplish six tasks:

Ø exercising political leadership in promoting ASEAN cooperation and integration;

Ø effectively coordinating the implementation of the Initiative for ASEAN Integration and other programs for the development of the Mekong Basin and ensuring their consistency with one another;

Ø taking a leading political role in the implementation of the recommendations of the East Asia Study Group for advancing the ASEAN+3 process;

Ø ensuring the coordinated implementation of the ASEAN Tourism Agreement and of the measures agreed upon for overcoming the impact of SARS and promoting Southeast Asia as a SARS-free region;

Ø making sure that the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in Southeast Asia are observed and implemented; and Ø taking a leadership role in carrying out measures to combat international terrorism.

4. With the theme “Towards an ASEAN Economic Community – Integrated and Outward-Looking,” we explored ways for deeper regional integration, while further devoting attention to the Initiative for ASEAN Integration and the ASEAN Tourism Agreement.

5. We exchanged views on some of the most critical issues of our time, including the threat of international terrorism. We were gratified by ASEAN’s ability to respond quickly to critical developments affecting Southeast Asia, recalling in particular the Special ASEAN Leaders’ Meeting and the Special ASEAN-China Leaders’ Meeting on SARS on 29 April 2003 in Bangkok to work out cooperative measures for dealing with SARS and our informal meeting in Karambunai, Malaysia, to address the effects of the situations in Iraq and Korea on the region and our countries. We agreed that these developments provided ASEAN with not only challenges but also opportunities to enhance ASEAN solidarity and cooperation.

6. In this new context, we resolved to continue to build upon the basic principles and fundamental values by which ASEAN has recorded considerable achievements. We committed ourselves to further strengthening solidarity and cohesiveness in ASEAN’s traditional spirit. We attached great importance to further promoting ASEAN’s resilience and cooperation in the spirit of “prosper thy neighbor” and self-help. We resolved to redouble our efforts in deepening economic integration and narrowing the development gap. We reaffirmed our commitment to remain outward-looking and, in this light, resolved to enhance equal partnership and cooperation with countries outside the region, particularly our Dialogue Partners, and with international institutions. We committed ourselves to joining efforts with others in the international community in striving for a world of peace, stability and justice.

7. We placed our support behind the process of dialogue and consultation on the situation on the Korean peninsula and stressed the importance of a nuclear weapons-free Korea. We called for a central and vital role for the United Nations in a post-war Iraq. We reiterated our determination to cooperate in the fight against international terrorism.

ASEAN INTEGRATION

Regional Economic Integration

8. Keenly aware that regional economic integration is crucial for ASEAN’s competitiveness, we reaffirmed the need to move deeper economic integration toward an ASEAN economic community. We commended the work of the ASEAN Economic Ministers, the High Level Task Force on ASEAN economic integration and the Senior Economic Officials in this regard. In this light, we were gratified by the progress being made in the efforts to develop ideas for the content and direction of the next stage regional economic integration. We appreciated the briefing given us at this meeting on the full report of the ASEAN Competitiveness Study, which had been commissioned by the ASEAN Economic Ministers. We noted with appreciation the studies on the ASEAN Economic Community (AEC) done by the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, the ASEAN Institutes of Strategic and International Studies (ASEAN-ISIS), and the ASEAN Secretariat. Recognizing the importance of business inputs for deeper regional economic integration, we encouraged the ASEAN Business Advisory Council to provide inputs and suggestion on the ASEAN economic community. We noted with appreciation the European Commission’s readiness to share with ASEAN the European Union’s experience with regional economic integration. We requested the ASEAN Secretariat to pursue the matter with the European Commission. We directed our Senior Officials to look into the political implications of the ASEAN economic community for the future of ASEAN.

9. We had extensive discussions on the concept of the ASEAN Economic Community. We agreed to ensure that the AEC would further contribute to narrow and close the development gap within ASEAN. In this regard, we recognized that deepening ASEAN economic integration and establishing an ASEAN Economic Community would have profound implications for ASEAN’s institutions and practices; for example, in matters pertaining to the enforceability of and compliance with ASEAN agreements, the settlement of disputes, the coordination of national policies, the mandate and capacity of the ASEAN Secretariat, and the resources available for ASEAN purposes. Accordingly, we directed the ASEAN Senior Officials Meeting, the ASEAN Standing Committee and the ASEAN Secretariat to work thoroughly on these matters and report to us at the earliest opportunity. We agreed to submit our views on the AEC to the 9th ASEAN Summit in Bali in October 2003.

10. We reviewed the Hanoi Plan of Action and agreed that the next Plan of Action should focus on regional economic integration, while further narrowing the development gap within the region.

ASEAN Tourism Agreement

11. We reiterated our gratification over the signing by ASEAN’s leaders of the ASEAN Tourism Agreement (ATA) in Phnom Penh on November 2002. Stressing the great importance of tourism to the development of our countries and noting that the implementation of the ATA was the responsibility of various national agencies and ASEAN bodies, we called for the early negotiation and conclusion of the agreements and other instruments necessary for the realization of the ATA’s purposes. We directed the ASEAN Standing Committee and the ASEAN Secretariat, working together with the ASEAN Tourism Ministers and the National Tourism Organizations, to support this task. We called on the developed countries to refrain from indiscriminately issuing travel advisories that adversely affect trade and tourism in the region. Initiative for ASEAN Integration and the Mekong Basin

12. We reaffirmed the critical political and economic significance of IAI in narrowing the development gap in ASEAN and strengthening the competitiveness of ASEAN as a whole. In this connection, we called for closer coordination among ASEAN bodies to accelerate activities within the framework of the IAI and the Ha Noi Declaration on Narrowing the Development Gap for closer ASEAN Integration. Recalling that the 8th ASEAN Summit had approved the Work Plan for the Initiative for ASEAN Integration as a priority for ASEAN, we were gratified by the efforts of the member-countries to implement the Work Plan. Noting that the newer members had incorporated several elements of the IAI in their national policies and national development plans, we encouraged the international community to extend concrete support to the projects embodied in the IAI Work Plan. In the long run, an integrated ASEAN with open markets would serve the economic interests of ASEAN as well as its trading partners.

Sub-Regional Growth Areas

13. We reviewed ASEAN-China cooperation on the development of the Mekong Basin within the ASEAN Mekong Basin Development Cooperation (AMDBC) framework. We reiterated our call on Japan and the Republic of Korea to consider participating in the core group of the AMDBC, and the international community and international financial institutions to support the completion of the Singapore-Kunming Rail Link, specifically the construction of the missing segments of this project. Recalling the first GMS summit in Phnom Penh on 3 November 2002, we expressed our appreciation for the Greater Mekong Sub-region program of the Asian Development Bank. We urged that the various programs for the development of the Mekong Basin be undertaken in close coordination to ensure the equitable and sustainable development of the basin, taking into account the interests of all countries, the concerns of the downstream countries, and the protection of the environment.

POLITICAL AND SECURITY COOPERATION

Political Cooperation

15. In discussing political and security cooperation, we considered a wide range of issues without prejudice to the cardinal principle of non-interference.

16. We acknowledged the equally significant importance of the political security cooperation in the process of achieving ASEAN integration. We agreed to continue considering this component of integration that will ensure peace, stability, and prosperity in the region.

17. We re-affirmed our support for the sovereignty, territorial integrity and national unity of Indonesia. We recognized the efforts of the Indonesian Government to restore peace and order in Aceh. We also pledged our support to deny the separatist movement access to means of violence through, among all, preventing arms smuggling into the Aceh province.

18. We discussed the recent political developments in Myanmar, particularly the incident of 30 May 2003. We noted the efforts of the Government of Myanmar to promote peace and development. In this connection, we urged Myanmar to resume its efforts of national reconciliation and dialogue among all parties concerned leading to a peaceful transition to democracy. We welcomed the assurances given by Myanmar that the measures taken following the incident were temporary and looked forward to the early lifting of restrictions placed on Daw Aung San Suu Kyi and the NLD members. We also reaffirmed our continued support for the efforts of the UNSG Special Representative Tan Sri Razali Ismail.

Terrorism

19. We reiterated our condemnation of terrorism in all its forms and manifestations. At the same time, we emphasized the need to address the root causes of terrorism and rejected any attempt to associate terrorism with any religion, race, nationality or ethnic group. We reviewed, with satisfaction, the intensified cooperation among ASEAN member-countries in the fight against terrorism, which had made possible the arrest of persons engaged in terrorist activities and helped prevent the occurrence of terrorist acts. We renewed our resolve to pursue the purposes of the Declaration on Terrorism issued by the 8th ASEAN Summit on 4 November 2002. We affirmed our resolve to continue working with our law-enforcement authorities in carrying out the specific measures laid down in the ASEAN Declaration on Joint Action to Counter Terrorism, which the ASEAN leaders issued in November 2001, and in the work plan adopted by the Special ASEAN Ministerial Meeting on Terrorism in May 2002.

20. We renewed our determination to cooperate closely with the international community in combating international terrorism. We were gratified by the results of the International Conference on Anti-Terrorism and Tourism Recovery in Manila in November 2002, the Regional Conference on Combating Money-Laundering and Terrorist Financing in Bali in December 2002, and the Inter-sessional Meeting on Counter-Terrorism and Transnational Crime of the ASEAN Regional Forum in K arambunai in March 2003. We welcomed the success of the ASEAN Senior Officials Meeting on Transnational Crime and the first-ever SOMTC+3 and SOMTC+1 meetings with China, the European Union and the United States on 9-13 June 2003 in Ha Noi. We looked forward to the implementation of the undertakings that we made with the Secretary of State of the United States of America in our joint declaration of 1 August 2002 and the commitments that we undertook with our European Union counterparts in the joint declaration that the ASEAN-EU Ministerial Meeting issued on 28 January 2003. We also looked forward to further discussion of cooperation against international terrorism at both the ASEAN Regional Forum and the Post-Ministerial Conferences in the days ahead and particularly to the issuance of an ARF Statement on Cooperative Counter-Terrorist Actions on Border Security.

21. We welcomed the establishment of the Southeast Asia Regional Centre for Counter-Terrorism in Kuala Lumpur.

Transnational Crime

22. Reaffirming our resolve to combat transnational crime, we noted with appreciation the progress of the Work Programme to Implement the ASEAN Plan of Action to Combat Transnational Crime and urged member countries to maintain the momentum of joint activities. In this regard, we appreciated the convening by Brunei Darussalam, Indonesia, Malaysia and Thailand of ASEAN workshops under the Work Programme and urged other member countries to undertake similar capacity-building measures for combating transnational crime. We were pleased with the cooperation initiated with China, Japan and the Republic of Korea, the European Union, and the United States in combating transnational crime. We looked forward to the 4th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting on Transnational Crime (AMMTC) and AMMTC+3 in Bangkok in December 2003.

23. We affirmed our determination to ensure the implementation of the commitments made by our leaders and the Premier of the State Council of the People’s Republic of China in the joint statement that they adopted in Phnom Penh on 4 November 2002 providing for cooperation on non-traditional security issues, including drug-trafficking, people-smuggling, trafficking in women and children, sea piracy, terrorism, arms smuggling, money laundering, international economic crime, and cyber crime.

24. We welcomed the outcome of the Second Regional Conference on People Smuggling, Trafficking in Persons and Related Transnational Crime in Bali on 29 April 2003. We urged the international community to assist source countries in addressing the root causes of the illegal movement of people, contribute to support programs for displaced persons, and help in alleviating the plight of refugees.

25. We placed particular importance on international cooperation against piracy and other threats to maritime security and looked forward to discussing this critical issue at the ASEAN Regional Forum with a view to the issuance of an ARF statement in this regard.

South China Sea

26. We reaffirmed the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea, which we signed with China in Phnom Penh on 4 November 2002, as an important step towards a Code of Conduct in the South China Sea and as a valuable contribution to peace and stability in the region. We stressed the need for observance of the provisions of the Declaration and urged all concerned parties to undertake the confidence-building and cooperative measures called for in accordance with the Declaration. We reiterated our call for continued self-restraint and the avoidance of any action that would complicate the situation in the South China Sea. We emphasized the need for all concerned to seek to deal with the disputes in the South China Sea by peaceful means in conformity with international law, including the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea. We encouraged the continuation of the informal Workshops on Managing Potential Conflict in the South China Sea. Treaty of Amity and Cooperation

27. We reaffirmed the importance of the Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia as a framework for governing relations within ASEAN and between ASEAN and countries outside the region. We warmly welcomed the decision of the People’s Republic of China to accede to the Treaty and the intention of India and Russia to do so in the near future.

ASEAN Regional Forum

28. We reviewed the achievements of the ASEAN Regional Forum over the past ten years and concluded that the ARF had become a unique and indispensable forum for political and security dialogue and cooperation in the Asia-Pacific. We acknowledged the important responsibility borne by ASEAN as the driving force of the ARF. While reaffirming the need to continue our focus on CBMs as the foundation of the whole ARF process, we underlined the significance of moving toward the second stage of Preventive Diplomacy on the basis of consensus and at a pace comfortable to all. We commended the initiative of the ARF Chairman, the Minister of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation of Cambodia, as part of the enhanced role of the ARF Chair and of preventive diplomacy.

29. We agreed to lift the moratorium, and to consider the application of new participants of ARF on a case-by-case basis. We agreed to accept Pakistan as a new participant in the ARF. In this regard, we decided to communicate our consensus to non-ASEAN ARF participants.

FUNCTIONAL COOPERATION

Health

30. We affirmed our determination to do our part in carrying out the decisions reached at the Special ASEAN Leaders’ Meeting on SARS and the Special ASEAN-China Leaders’ Meeting on SARS, which we considered as exemplifying ASEAN’s response to crises – quick, coordinated, pragmatic and flexible. Welcoming the declaration by the World Health Organization that the SARS affected ASEAN countries had brought the disease under control, we were pleased by the fact that all of ASEAN was now SARS free. We reiterated the ASEAN leaders’ call on other countries to take measures to combat SARS similar to those being taken by ASEAN and to refrain from issuing indiscriminate travel advisories on account of SARS. We expressed our appreciation for the cooperation of China, Japan and the Republic of Korea with ASEAN in combating SARS as well as the work of WHO.

31. We noted with satisfaction the progress of the implementation of the ASEAN Work Programme on HIV/AIDS II (2002-2005). We also noted that multi-sectoral cooperation on HIV/AIDS was being promoted by the inclusion of the subject in a number of ASEAN meetings. In this regard, we welcomed the convening of the 15th International Conference on AIDS to be held in Bangkok on 11-16 July 2004. We expressed our appreciation for UNAIDS, other international organizations and ASEAN’s Dialogue Partners for supporting the operationalization of the Work Programme.

Environment

32. We expressed our support for the ASEAN Environment Year, which was launched in Siem Reap in March 2003. Recognizing the vital importance of regional and international cooperation in preventing and combating trans-boundary haze pollution and mitigating its effects, we welcomed the ratification of the ASEAN Agreement on Transboundary Haze Pollution by five member-countries. We called on the other member-states to ratify the Agreement as soon as possible in order to ensure its early entry into force. We affirmed our commitment to its implementation as soon as possible. We commended the ASEAN Environment Minister for ASEAN’s contribution to the World Summit on Sustainable Development and to the work of ensuring the implementation of its decisions.

Drugs

33. Recalling the designation of 2002-2003 as “ASEAN Drugs Awareness Years,” we renewed our resolve to support ASEAN’s commitment to achieve an ASEAN Drugs-Free Zone by 2015 and welcomed the implementation of projects such as the Study Trip on Drug Control Activities in Thailand for ASEAN Directors-General and Heads of Narcotics Control Focal Points of ASEAN and China, from 12 to 15 September 2002. We commended the national support given to the campaign by each member-country, particularly the collaboration among governments, non-governmental organizations and the mass media as well as efforts and cooperation framework among countries in the region. We welcomed the convening of the first meeting of the ASEAN-European Commission Sub-Committee on Narcotics in October 2002 in Kuala Lumpur. We also welcomed the launching of the ACCORD (ASEAN-China Cooperative Operations in Response to Dangerous Drugs) Regional Information Network and the establishment of the ACCORD Account to finance drug-control projects in ASEAN and China.

Other Areas of Cooperation

34. We commended the vital work done in the past year by ASEAN ministers and officials in several areas of ASEAN functional cooperation, including science and technology, health, labor, law, rural development and poverty eradication, and culture and information. We affirmed our support for their work, which has contributed significantly for the betterment of our peoples’ lives.

We noted in particular the augmentation of the ASEAN Science Fund, the standardization of agriculture-related products, including pesticides, livestock, animal vaccines and forest products, and the many activities in culture and information that serve to expand awareness of ASEAN and help develop a stronger sense of regional identity.

35. We recognized the importance of the sea in trade, transportation and communication activities for all member countries. As it offers both opportunities and challenges, we stressed the need to cooperate to deal with maritime-related issues as well as to discuss their impact and implications in a comprehensive manner.

36. We reaffirmed our commitment to the protection and promotion of human rights. In this regard, we noted the ongoing ASEAN efforts and dialogues with the non-governmental Working Group for an ASEAN Human Rights Mechanism. We took note of the meeting between the ASEAN Senior Officials and the Working Group for an ASEAN Human Rights Mechanism in Phnom Penh on 14 June 2003 and the Track II conference on human rights held in Bangkok on 28-29 May 2003. We also noted the establishment of national human rights mechanisms in some Member Countries.

EXTERNAL RELATIONS

37. We were satisfied with the progress being made in ASEAN+3 cooperation. We noted in particular that twelve bilateral currency swap arrangements had already been concluded by the ASEAN+3 countries, with an aggregate amount of US$31.5 billion, to form the network of such arrangements envisioned in the Chiang Mai Initiative. We also welcomed the launching of the ASEAN+3 Pilot Scheme to establish an ASEAN/East Asia Emergency Rice Reserve to strengthen food security in the region.

38. Recalling that the leaders of ASEAN, China, Japan and the Republic of Korea had, at the ASEAN+3 Summit on 4 November 2002, adopted the Final Report of the East Asia Study Group, which they had received from the Prime Minister of the Republic of Korea, we directed our officials to coordinate the implementation of the short-term and long-term measures recommended by the Final Report for the purpose of strengthening East Asian cooperation, including the possibility of an East Asia summit and of an East Asia free trade area.

We called for the expeditious formulation and implementation of concrete projects to carry out the short-term measures.

39. We reaffirmed our support for the implementation of the Framework Agreement on Comprehensive Economic Cooperation between ASEAN and China, which our leaders and the Premier of the State Council of the People’s Republic of China signed in Phnom Penh on 4 November 2002. We recalled that the Agreement provides for the creation of an ASEAN-China free trade area within ten years, the liberalization and cooperation on trade in goods and trade in services, the liberalization of cooperation in and the protection of investments, and cooperation in other areas of economic endeavor. We welcomed in particular the consideration given in the Agreement to the disparities between ASEAN countries in their levels of development. We were confident that the implementation of the agreement would result not only in the expected economic benefits for both ASEAN and China but also in stronger overall ASEAN-China relations, and thus contribute to the security and stability of this part of the world. We also welcomed the preferential tariff treatment that China is extending to the least-developed countries in ASEAN and the write-off of their debts to China.

40. We were gratified by the signing in Phnom Penh on 5 November 2002 of the Joint Declaration of the Leaders of ASEAN and Japan on the Comprehensive Economic Partnership (CEP). We welcomed, in particular, the fact that the CEP would encompass concrete projects and allow for flexible treatment for ASEAN’s new members in addition to the special and differential treatment for developing countries called for in WTO. We noted with gratification the steps that had been taken to establish the joint committee that would draft a framework agreement for the realization of the CEP. We reviewed with satisfaction the activities that had taken place so far in observance of the ASEAN-Japan Exchange Year 2003. They would culminate in an ASEAN-Japan Commemorative Summit celebrating the 30th anniversary of ASEAN-Japan relations. Commending the Initiative for Development in East Asia (IDEA) by the Prime Minister of Japan, we reiterated our satisfaction with the conduct and outcome of the IDEA ministerial meeting in Tokyo in August 2002. We looked forward to an early implementation of its decisions.

41. We hailed the historic first meeting of the leaders of ASEAN and India in Phnom Penh on 5 November 2002. Noting their decision to meet annually henceforth, we agreed to ensure that follow-through action is taken on the measures agreed upon by our leaders and the Prime Minister of India for strengthening political, economic and cultural cooperation between ASEAN and India, on which we shall report to the ASEAN-India Summit in October this year. These measures include the pursuit of the ASEAN-India Regional Trade and Investment Area previously agreed upon. We were pleased to note that ASEAN and India has been working on a Framework Agreement on Comprehensive Economic Cooperation with a view to its signing at the 2nd ASEAN India Summit in Bali in October 2003.

42. We welcomed the groundwork that had been laid for carrying out the Enterprise for ASEAN Initiative proposed by the Unite States of America on 26 October 2002 to strengthen economic ties, including possible free trade areas, between the United States and individual ASEAN countries. We looked forward to the conclusion of an ASEAN-U. S. Trade and Investment Facilitation Agreement (TIFA). We expressed our expectation that the Enterprise for ASEAN Initiative would be realized for all ASEAN member-states in the shortest possible time. We also welcomed the U. S. initiative for an ASEAN Cooperation Plan and looked forward to the implementation of projects under the plan.

43. We reviewed the results of the 14th ASEAN-EU Ministerial Meeting (AEMM) in Brussels on 27-28 January 2003. We recalled the AEMM’s discussion of our priorities for future ASEAN-EU cooperation and our agreement to develop, in line with those priorities, an agenda encompassing trade and investment promotion, sustainable and equitable development, the fight against crime and terrorism, cultural cooperation and people-to-people contacts, and dialogue on common concerns. We looked forward to the development of concrete measures, projects and mechanisms to carry out this agenda. We welcomed the decision reached at the consultations between the ASEAN Economic Ministers and the EU Trade Commissioner in Luang Prabang, Laos, on 4 April 2003 to work towards the establishment of a Trans-Regional EU-ASEAN Trade Initiative aimed at strengthening economic cooperation between the two regions.

44. We welcomed the progress being made in the Closer Economic Partnership (CEP) between ASEAN and the Closer Economic Relations (CER) countries of Australia and New Zealand. We considered the work on the CEP as a valuable contribution to the strengthening of the overall relationship between the two neighboring regions.

45. We looked forward to the signing by ASEAN and Russia of the Joint Declaration on Partnership for Peace and Security, an Prosperity and Development in the Asia-Pacific Region as an important step in institutionalizing and enhancing the present relations between them.

46. We reiterated our call for the expeditious admission of Cambodia, Lao PDR and Viet Nam into the World Trade Organization and for the early participation of Cambodia, Lao PDR and Myanmar in the Asia-Europe Meeting (ASEM) and in APEC.

47. We welcomed the efforts by Thailand and Viet Nam in preparing for the 11th Informal APEC Economic Leaders Meeting or 20-22 October 2003 in Bangkok and for the 5th ASEM Summit scheduled for October 2004 in Ha Noi respectively. We expressed our strong support to Thailand and Vietnam in making the Summits a success. The convening of the two summits in ASEAN Countries reflects the active role of ASEAN in enhancing inter-regional cooperation.

INTERNATIONAL AND REGIONAL ISSUES

Korean Peninsula

48. Recalling the statements that we issued in Brussels on 28 January 2003 and in Karambunai, Sabah, on 19 March 2003, we viewed with continuing concern the tensions arising from the situation in Korea. We reaffirmed our conviction that a nuclear weapons-free Korea and a peaceful resolution of the current tensions through dialogue and negotiations would be a valuable contribution to the prospects for peace and stability in East Asia. We expressed our appreciation to His Excellency Mr. HOR Namhong, Senior Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation of Cambodia for his efforts, as Chairman of the ASEAN Standing Committee and the ASEAN Regional Forum, in contributing to the international endeavor to ease tensions in the Korean peninsula. We reaffirmed our support for the process of dialogue and consultation among the parties directly concerned, welcoming the talks held in Beijing on 23 April 2003 among China, the Democratic People’s Republic of Korea and the United States of America and the Cabinet-level meeting between North and South Korea in the same month. We looked forward to further discussions on this matter at the 10th ASEAN Regional Forum on 18 June 2003, confirming our view that the ARF could be a useful venue for facilitating dialogue on the Korean peninsula and support the incoming ASC/ARF Chair to contribute further to the efforts initiated by H.E. Mr. HOR Namhong.

Iraq

49. Reiterating the statement that we issued at our informal meeting in Karambunai, Malaysia, March 2003, we reaffirmed our support for a central and vital role for the United Nations in the reconstruction and development of Iraq in accordance with the aspirations of the people of Iraq and with the UN’s responsibility in the maintenance of international peace and stability. We stressed that all measures relating to the future of Iraq must be undertaken on the basis of respect for the sovereignty, territorial integrity, political independence and security of Iraq as well as for the wellbeing of the Iraqi people. We also urged the international community to extend adequate assistance to the people of Iraq to meet their basic needs and also to ensure that normalcy and law and order is restored and maintained.

Middle East

50. We welcomed all initiatives to end the bloodshed in the Middle East and to secure durable peace on the basis of justice as called for respect for and the implementation of the relevant United Nations resolutions. The Ministers welcomed the diplomatic efforts of the Quartet together with the Arab initiative. They hoped that the Quartet’s Roadmap would finally lead to the realization of a viable Palestinian state and reaffirmed the right of all states in the region to exist within recognized and secure boundaries. They expressed concern over the escalating cycle of violence in the region and hoped that all parties would continue to play a constructive role so as not to derail the process towards achieving such an objective. Given the complexity of the issues involved, the Ministers stressed that all efforts in the political, security, economic, humanitarian and institution-building must proceed together and be all encompassing.

South Asia

51. We welcomed the recent positive developments in the relations between India and Pakistan, particularly the peaceful initiatives by the Indian Prime Minister, which constitute encouraging steps towards a fully normalized relationship between the two sides. We expressed the hope that the two sides would continue their dialogue and cooperation and resolve their difference through peaceful means in the interests of the two peoples and for the sake of peace and stability in South Asia and the world.

Asia Cooperation Dialogue

52. We acknowledged the significance of the Asia Cooperation Dialogue (ACD), which is serving as a bridge between the sub-regions of Asia, creating an Asia-wide network of cooperation. We noted the progress of the ACD in terms of both dialogue and projects during the past year, with the support of all ASEAN countries and look forward to the second ACD Ministerial Meeting or 21-22 June 2003 in Chiang Mai, Thailand.

Asian Bond Market

53. We welcomed the active participation of five ASEAN member countries in the Asian Bond Fund, which was launched in Bangkok by the Prime Minister of Thailand on 2 June 2003, and looked forward to the eventual participation of other ASEAN member countries.

Multilateralism

54. We reaffirmed the importance of strictly abiding by the principles of international law, including the Charter of the United Nations. In this regard, we underlined the central and vital role of the United Nations in the maintenance of peace and security and the strengthening of international cooperation.

INSTITUTIONAL MATTERS

55. We congratulated Mr. Ong Keng Yong on his appointment by the ASEAN Leaders to be Secretary-General of ASEAN from 2003-2007. We welcomed his initiatives to streamline and strengthen the ASEAN Secretariat and to enhance its role in line with the changing political and economic environment and regional priorities. We expressed our strong support to the Secretary-General’s continuing efforts in this regard.

New ASEAN Chairmanship

Association of Southeast Asian Nations, Joint Communiqué: 37th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting (30 June 2004)
Joint Communique of the 37th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting Jakarta, 29-30 June 2004

INTRODUCTION

1. We, the Ministers of Foreign Affairs of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), met in Jakarta on 29-30 June 2004, the first time since the ASEAN Leaders decided to establish an ASEAN Community. The meeting was chaired by H.E. Dr. N. Hassan Wirajuda, Minister for Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Indonesia.

2. We met under the theme "Striving For Full Integration of ASEAN: A Prosperous, Caring and Peaceful Community," during which we reaffirmed our countries' commitment to establish an ASEAN Community by 2020, comprising the ASEAN Security Community, the ASEAN Economic Community and the ASEAN Socio-cultural Community. In this regard, our meeting was essential in discharging our responsibility to assist our Leaders chart the course towards that end. We recommended to the 10th ASEAN Summit in Vientiane the endorsement of the Plans of Action for the ASEAN Security Community and the ASEAN Socio-cultural Community and the successor plan of the Hanoi Plan of Action.

3. We were encouraged by the important progress in the development of the ASEAN Security Community, which we believed would lead to an ASEAN that is at peace with one another and with the world at large. We agreed that the ASEAN Security Community would strengthen our capacity to deal with security challenges, both traditional and non-traditional security issues. The ASEAN Security Community would strengthen ASEAN relations with Dialogue Partners and its other friends and would enhance ASEAN's role as the ARF's primary driving force.

4. We welcomed the significant progress in realizing the establishment of the ASEAN Economic Community, a community that would be a single market and production base with a free flow of goods, services, investment, and skilled labor and freer flow of capital. We were confident that the deepening and broadening economic integration would lead to a stable, prosperous, and highly competitive ASEAN region.

5. We further noted with satisfaction our cooperation in social development. We commended the important work directed towards the formulation of a Plan of Action on the ASEAN Socio-cultural Community to complete the three pillars of the ASEAN Community. We agreed that the ASEAN Socio-cultural Community is a community of caring societies, diverse in culture yet with a distinctive regional identity.

6. We agreed to work towards development of an ASEAN Charter which would, inter alia, reaffirm ASEAN's goals and principles in inter-state relations, in particular the collective responsibilities of all ASEAN Member Countries in ensuring non-aggression and respect for each other's sovereignty and territorial integrity; the promotion and protection of human rights; the maintenance of political stability, regional peace and economic progress; and the establishment of effective and efficient institutional framework for ASEAN.

OPENING SESSION

7. Present for the Opening Session was the Special Envoy of the Government of Papua New Guinea, a special observer in ASEAN. His Excellency Mr. José Ramos-Horta, Senior Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs and Cooperation of the Democratic Republic of Timor-Leste, was present as guest of the Chairman of the 37th ASEAN Standing Committee.

8. Her Excellency Megawati Soekarnoputri, President of the Republic of Indonesia, graced our meeting with a keynote address, which we deeply appreciated. In her address, President Megawati Soekarnoputri, inter alia, expressed the view that a. In spite of ASEAN's success in the past as a force for peace and stability and prosperity in the Asia-Pacific region, it must endeavor to address today's and tomorrow's formidable array of global and regional challenges. These challenges include surging unilateralism and new or continuing conflicts; precarious regional and international economic situation; new and continuing epidemics; and transnational crimes, including terrorism;

b. as past measures are becoming inadequate, ASEAN could not resort to business as usual, but must respond with intelligence and creativity and with all the strength it could muster;

c. the Declaration of ASEAN Concord II and its envisaged ASEAN Community comprising three pillars of ASEAN Security Community, ASEAN Economic Community, and ASEAN Socio-cultural Community serves as the framework on which ASEAN can find and marshal its strength;

d. by putting its house in order and by increasing its cohesiveness and solidarity, ASEAN could thus deal more effectively with the dynamics of its regional and international environment, including the ASEAN+3 processes; and

e. as democracy is taking place all over the world, Asia is fortunate because democracy is neither being imposed nor just a mindless imitation of western systems. This trend is evident in the free, honest and democratic elections successfully held this year in the Republic of Korea, Malaysia, Sri Lanka, India, the Philippines and Indonesia.

ASEAN COMMUNITY

9. We had taken steps to implement our Leaders' decision to establish an ASEAN Community comprising three pillars, namely political and security cooperation, economic cooperation, and socio-cultural cooperation that were closely intertwined and mutually reinforcing for the purpose of ensuring durable peace, stability and shared prosperity. We have made quite substantial progress in the past nine months since the adoption of the Bali Concord II in the formulation and finalization of plans of actions of those three pillars as the basis in our strive towards full integration.

Vientiane Action Programme

10. We noted with satisfaction of the Assessment Report on the Implementation of the Hanoi Plan of Action (HPA) and agreed that the successful implementation of the HPA significantly contributed to the realization of ASEAN goals set by ASEAN Vision 2020 and the Bali Concord II.

11. We discussed the draft of the Vientiane Action Programme (VAP) and agreed that it should be consistent with the goals and objectives of the ASEAN Vision 2020 and the Declaration of ASEAN Concord II. As a successor to the HPA, the VAP is a six-year plan to realize the medium-term goals of the ASEAN Community, while focusing, inter alia, on deepening regional integration and narrowing the development gap between and among Member Countries, particularly the least developed Member Countries.

ASEAN SECURITY COMMUNITY

ASEAN Security Community Plan of Action

12. We commended Indonesia for developing and elaborating the ASEAN Security Community (ASC) Plan of Action. We appreciated the substantive work that had been undertaken by our Senior Officials in developing the ASC Plan of Action, and agreed on the text they had prepared. We further agreed to recommend the text for adoption by the Leaders at the 10th ASEAN Summit in Vientiane, to be annexed to the Bali Concord II. We looked forward to the report by the Indonesian Foreign Minister to the Leaders at that Summit.

Political Cooperation

13. We discussed a wide range of issues of ASEAN political cooperation with due regard to the cardinal principle of non-interference within the spirit of an ASEAN family.

14. We congratulated Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines for their success in holding free and peaceful elections. We believed that these elections have contributed to the attainment of a just, democratic and harmonious Southeast Asia as called for in the Declaration of ASEAN Concord II. We looked forward to a similarly successful round of Indonesia's coming first direct presidential elections.

15. We noted the briefing given by Myanmar on the reconvening of its National Convention and the development thereon. We acknowledged the potential of the Convention in paving the way for new constitution and the holding of elections in keeping with it. We recalled and emphasized the continued relevance of the Joint Communiqué of the 36th ASEM and the Chairman's Press Statement of the 8th ASEAN Summit. In this regard, we underlined the need for the involvement of all strata of Myanmar society in the on-going National Convention. We encouraged all concerned parties in Myanmar to continue their efforts to effect a smooth transition to democracy. We recognized the role of the Special

Treaty of Amity and Cooperation

16. We reaffirmed the importance of the Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia (TAC) as the key code of conduct governing relations between States and a diplomatic instrument for the promotion of peace and stability in the region. We also reiterated our commitment to enhance cooperation with States outside Southeast Asia in the strengthening of international peace, security and stability. Within this context, we warmly welcomed the accession of China and the Republic of India to the TAC at the ASEAN+China and ASEAN-India Summits in Bali, October 2003, and looked forward to the accession to the TAC by Japan and Pakistan on 2 July 2004. We encouraged other non-Southeast Asian countries to accede to the Treaty.

Southeast Asia Nuclear Weapon-Free Zone Treaty

17. We reaffirmed the importance of vigorous efforts to further strengthen cooperation in supporting the implementation of the Treaty on Southeast Asia Nuclear Weapon-Free Zone, with a view to promoting the purposes and objectives of the Treaty, particularly ensuring early accession of the Nuclear Weapon States. We agreed to work together in a spirit of amity and cooperation to resolve the outstanding issues and called on the Nuclear Weapon States to show maximum flexibility and work together with ASEAN on this matter. We welcomed China’s readiness to sign the Protocol.

ASEAN Regional Forum

18. We welcomed our Leaders’ reaffirmation, made at the 9th ASEAN Summit, of the role of the ARF as the primary forum in enhancing political and security cooperation in the Asia Pacific region, as well as the pivot in building peace and stability in the region. We resolved to ensure that ASEAN shall continue to enhance its leading role to further the momentum of cooperation in further advancing the ARF process, as its contribution to the maintenance of peace, security and stability in the Asia Pacific region.

19. We expressed appreciation to the ARF Chair for carrying out initiatives of the enhanced role of the Chair and regarded these as important contributions in further strengthening the ARF.

20. We endorsed the establishment of the ARF Unit within the ASEAN Secretariat, which we believed could serve to advance the ARF process, particularly ASEAN’s leading role in the ARF and the enhanced role of the ARF Chair.

21. We recalled our agreement to lift the moratorium and to consider the application of new participants of the ARF on a case-by-case basis. In this regard, we welcomed the concurrent views of all ARF participants to admit Pakistan into the ARF. We looked forward to Pakistan’s participation in the ARF and to its contribution to peace and security in the Asia Pacific region.

South China Sea

22. We reaffirmed the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties (DOC) in the South China Sea, which we signed with China in Phnom Penh on 4 November 2002, as an important step towards the adoption of the Code of Conduct in South China Sea that is crucial for promoting peace, security and stability in the region. We welcomed the stock-taking in the implementation of all provisions of the DOC and to undertake confidence-building and cooperative measures that could contribute to the sustainability of peace and stability in the region. We reiterated our call for all parties concerned to seek to deal with the disputes in the South China Sea by peaceful means in accordance with international law, including the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea. We welcomed the recommendation of the ASEAN Senior Officials for follow-up action, including the establishment of an ASEAN-China Working Group and a review mechanism, in order to incrementally implement the DOC.

23. We appreciated the efforts of the Indonesian Government in holding the informal workshop on Managing Potential Conflict in South China Sea since 1990 that has contributed to the comfort level of the ongoing process.

24. We noted with appreciation the initiative of the Philippines Government in carrying out Exercise Luzon Sea Phase 1 - Palawan Expedition as a practical application of Part IX of the 1982 Law of the Sea Convention on the cooperation of states in enclosed and semi enclosed seas which is encouraged under Paragraph 6 of the DOC.

Transnational Crimes

25. We welcomed the Joint Communiqué of the 4th ASEAN Ministers Meeting on Transnational Crime (AMMTC) and the Joint Communiqué of the 1st AMMTC+3 on 8 January 2004 and 10 January 2004, respectively, in Bangkok. In this regard, we stressed the central role of the AMMTC in the region-wide initiatives and cooperation in fighting transnational crime. Furthermore, we commended the signing of the Memorandum of Understanding between ASEAN and China on Cooperation in the Field of Non-Traditional Security Issues, in Bangkok on 10 January 2004, which provides concrete and operational measures on cooperation in the field of non-traditional security issues, including counter-terrorism, between ASEAN and China. We were encouraged by the progress made under the Regional Ministerial Conference on People Smuggling, Trafficking in Persons and Related Transnational Crimes (Bali Process) which helped enhance the regional and national capacity to combat people smuggling and trafficking in persons, particularly in the areas of public awareness raising, legislative development and law enforcement.

Terrorism

26. We reiterated our strongest condemnation of terrorism in all its form and manifestation. We emphasized the need to address the root causes of terrorism and rejected any attempt to associate terrorism with any religion, race, nationality or ethnic group. We reviewed the intensified cooperation among ASEAN Member Countries in the fight against terrorism, which had made possible the arrest of persons engaged in terrorist activities and helped prevent the occurrence of terrorist acts. We called for greater concerted and coordinated efforts and concrete initiatives at all levels in combating terrorism.

27. We renewed our determination to enhance coordination and cooperation with the international community in combating international terrorism. We appreciated the implementation of the ASEAN-US Counterterrorism Work Plan to carry out the ASEAN-US Joint Declaration for Cooperation to Combat International Terrorism. We welcomed, and looked forward to the implementation of, the ASEAN-India Joint Declaration on Cooperation to Combat International Terrorism and current priority of ARF cooperation in fighting international terrorism and transnational crimes, especially ARF Inter-sessional Meetings on Counter-Terrorism/Transnational Crime (ISM on CT/TC). We looked forward to the signing of ASEAN-Australia Joint Declaration for Cooperation to Combat International Terrorism and the ASEAN-Russian Federation Joint Declaration for Cooperation to Combat International Terrorism. We also looked forward to the concrete implementation of the Joint Declaration on Cooperation to Combat Terrorism, adopted at the 14th ASEAN-EU Ministerial Meeting (AEMM) in Brussels in January 2003.

28. We commended the holding and welcomed the practical outcomes of the Bali Regional Ministerial Meeting on Counter-Terrorism, held in Bali on 4-5 February 2004, as an important contribution to the efforts at national, regional and international levels to combat terrorism. We welcomed the establishment of the Jakarta Center for Law Enforcement Cooperation (JCLEC) and noted its mandate to network with other regional centers, such as the International Law Enforcement Academy (ILEA) in Bangkok and the Southeast Asia Regional Center for Counter Terrorism (SEARCCT) in Kuala Lumpur on the basis of complementarity and non-duplication of their activities. We looked forward to continuing our cooperation in the training of officials involved in counterterrorism through SEARCCT, JCLEC and ILEA.

ASEAN Maritime Cooperation

29. Reaffirming that maritime cooperation is vital to the evolution of the ASEAN Security Community, we agreed to foster maritime cooperation between and among ASEAN countries in a holistic, integrated and comprehensive manner, and explore the possibility of establishing a maritime forum.

Other Area of Cooperation

30. We reaffirmed our commitment to the protection and promotion of human rights. In this regard, we noted the ongoing ASEAN efforts and dialogues with the non-governmental Working Group for an ASEAN Human Rights Mechanism, as well efforts to enhance the exchange of views among different sectors in ASEAN towards the realization of an ASEAN human rights mechanism. We took note of the meeting between the ASEAN Senior Officials and the Working Group for an ASEAN Human Rights Mechanism in Jakarta on 28 June 2004. We noted the establishment of national human rights mechanism in some member countries. We also noted the conclusions and recommendations of the Fourth Workshop on ASEAN Regional Mechanism on Human Rights held in Jakarta on 17-18 June 2004.

ASEAN ECONOMIC COMMUNITY

31. We commended the work on the realization of the ASEAN Economic Community to follow up the decisions of the 9th ASEAN Summit, particularly on the progress achieved in the implementation of various measures for the 11 sectors identified for priority integration. We lauded the decision taken by the ASEAN Economic Ministers (AEM) to develop individual sectoral integration roadmaps of the 11 priority sectors and to submit all finalized roadmaps and a general Framework Agreement to guide the implementation of the roadmaps for signing by the Leaders at the 10th ASEAN Summit in Vientiane.

32. We welcomed the ongoing negotiations in regional FTAs such as the ASEAN-Japan Comprehensive Economic Partnership and the ASEAN-China and ASEAN-India FTAs as important steps towards our goal of greater regional economic integration.

33. We welcomed the enhancement of economic relations between ASEAN and its Dialogue Partners, both at the regional and bilateral levels. We commended the efforts of all parties concerned in promoting closer economic linkages with ASEAN, including through the ASEAN-China Framework Agreement on Comprehensive Economic Cooperation, ASEAN-Japan Framework for Comprehensive Economic Partnership (CEP), ASEAN-India Framework Agreement on Comprehensive Economic Cooperation and Trans-Regional EU-ASEAN Trade Initiative (TREATI). We also welcomed the proposal of the ASEAN Economic Ministers to launch ASEAN-CER FTA negotiations this year. We called for the early conclusion of the ASEAN-United States Trade and Investment Framework Agreement. We welcomed the ongoing Joint Study on Comprehensive Economic Cooperation between ASEAN and the Republic of Korea, which would serve as the basis for an ASEAN-Republic of Korea FTA. We followed with interest the ongoing bilateral FTA negotiations between ASEAN Member Countries and Dialogue Partners.

Initiative for ASEAN Integration

34. We expressed our satisfaction at the overall progress in the implementation of the IAI Work Plan projects and stressed the need to secure funding support for carrying out a number of remaining projects. We urged new approaches and strategies to be developed to get more funding support from within ASEAN, ASEAN’s Dialogue Partners and other interested parties. In this regard, we welcomed the initiative to set up the co-shepherd mechanism between ASEAN-6 and Cambodia, Lao PDR, Myanmar, and Viet Nam in order to jointly take charge of moving forward the implementation of the IAI projects. We also urged China, Japan, the Republic of Korea and India to jointly implement the IAI projects with ASEAN.

Sub-regional Growth Areas

35. We reaffirmed the contribution of the sub-regional growth areas in bridging the development gaps in ASEAN and welcomed the support of the ASEAN Dialogue Partners, the private sector and the Asian Development Bank in these areas.

36. We appreciated the recent mission conducted by China, and welcomed the commitment by Japan and the Republic of Korea to contribute in developing Brunei Darussalam-Indonesia-Malaysia-Philippines East ASEAN Growth Area (BIMP-EAGA). 37. We reviewed the development of the ASEAN-Mekong Basin Development Cooperation (AMBDC) and noted that our Dialogue Partners have agreed to provide technical assistance to the Singapore-Kunming Rail Link Project (SKRL), a flagship project of AMBDC. We welcomed the support of the Republic of Korea for the Feasibility Study for the Missing Links and Spur Lines of the SKRL in CLMV Countries. We also appreciated China’s contribution to the preparation work of the Cambodia section of the SKRL and also Malaysia’s commitment in assisting Cambodia to complete the 48km missing link from Poipet to Sisophon. The Meeting noted that this would be the first hard infrastructure assistance from a member of ASEAN-6 to the IAI. This development is an important step forward for the implementation of the SKRL. We also welcomed the assistance of Japan for Mekong Sub-region development.

The Role of Private Sector

38. Recognizing the importance of business sectors’ participation on regional economic integration, we welcomed the decision of the ASEAN Business Advisory Council to develop an Action Plan for the Business Sector and to jointly organize the Second ASEAN Business and Investment Summit with the Lao National Chambers of Commerce and Industry preceding the 10th ASEAN Summit in Vientiane.

In this regard, we agreed to maintain close coordination and further strengthen our cooperation to prevent the spread of other communicable diseases by exchanging information and best practices through the ASEAN Disease Surveillance Network and deepening cooperation with the WHO.

42. We attached great importance to addressing the problem of HIV/AIDS and committed ourselves to strengthening international cooperation both at the regional and global levels to fight against this deadly disease. In this regard, we expressed strong support to Thailand in hosting the upcoming XV International AIDS Conference and the 2nd Asia-Pacific Ministerial Meeting on HIV/AIDS in Bangkok in July 2004.

43. We noted ASEAN's endeavour to conclude by 2004 an ASEAN framework agreement on access to, and fair and equitable sharing of benefits arising from, the utilization of biological and genetic resources.

44. In order to achieve the objectives of Johannesburg Plan of Implementation, we called for cooperation with other sub-regions, namely through various partnership schemes with our Dialogue Partners, other countries as well as relevant regional and international organizations, particularly in the 10 priority areas of cooperation. 46. We underscored the importance of further cooperation in the field of water, sanitation, energy, health, agriculture and bio-diversity through partnership among ASEAN Member Countries as well as between ASEAN and other sub-regional organizations.

EXTERNAL RELATIONS

47. We noted the developments and progress made in the cooperation with our Dialogue Partners in various areas and welcomed the measures taken by both sides to revitalize the dialogue partnerships. In the context of development cooperation, we reiterated the importance of upholding the principle of non-discrimination and to implement activities that involve ASEAN as one regional entity. We strongly believed that strengthened cooperation and closer partnerships between ASEAN and its Dialogue Partners would significantly contribute to maintaining peace and stability and accelerate economic developments in their respective regions and in the world.

48. We noted with satisfaction the overall progress of the ASEAN+3 cooperation. We reaffirmed our determination to continue to drive the ASEAN+3 cooperation and to work with China, Japan and the Republic of Korea in promoting East Asia cooperation through that process. We emphasized that an East Asian community is a long-term objective for East Asia cooperation to be developed through the existing ASEAN+3 mechanism and supported the idea of convening the East Asia Summit at an appropriate time.
49. We welcomed the establishment of the ASEAN+3 Unit within the ASEAN Secretariat, which will assist the ASEAN Chair in coordinating ASEAN+3 cooperation. 52. We expressed strong support for the on-going UN reform efforts aimed at improving the effectiveness and efficiency of the UN system, and looked forward to our meeting in New York this September with the Chairman of the High Level Panel of Threats, Challenges and Change established by the UN Secretary General. We welcomed the initiative to strengthen ASEAN-UN cooperation. We also welcomed the new practice of holding our dialogue with the UN Secretary-General during the UN General Assembly session. In this regard, we are actively considering requesting for an observer status in the United Nations General Assembly. We believed that an institutional relationship with the United Nations would support the realization of ASEAN Community, as well as efforts to strengthen cooperation between ASEAN and the UN as stipulated in United Nations General Assembly Resolution 57/35 of 21 November 2002 on “Cooperation between the United Nations and the Association of South East Asian Nations”. To strengthen ASEAN’s role in the UN, we reaffirmed that the Permanent Representatives of ASEAN Member Countries and the Permanent Representative of China to the United Nations could have regular consultations. 53. We welcomed the full reassertion of the sovereignty of Iraq on 28 June 2004. We emphasized the need to ensure substantive materialization of this sovereign status. We stressed the need for the full implementation of the United Nations Security Council Resolution 1546 (2004) on Iraq. We further emphasized the central role of the United Nations in the process of political transition from the sovereign interim government to a democratic government; reconstruction; and development of the country. We are concerned by the deteriorating security situation in the country, and it is our hope that a durable solution could be attained in order to achieve peace, security, stability, and national reconciliation for the well-being of the Iraqi people.

Middle East

54. We expressed our grave concern over the deterioration of the situation in the Occupied Palestinian Territory, including East Jerusalem. We condemned all acts of violence. We firmly believed that such acts on violence, if left unchecked, would destroy the peace efforts in the Middle East as well as prolong the humanitarian tragedy in Palestine. We reiterated our deep regret that the Road Map has yet to be implemented, and expressed hope that the international community and the Quartet will undertake the necessary measures to salvage to Road Map and implement its provisions towards its stated aims and goals. In this connection, we underlined the need for all efforts to be made to resume the process for a permanent settlement of the conflict based on United Nations Security Council Resolutions 242, 338, 1397, and 1515. We look forward to the realization of the vision of two states; Israel and Palestine, living side by side in peace within secured and recognized borders. We also reaffirmed the important role of the Security Council with regard to the situation in the Occupied Palestinian Territory and peaceful settlement of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict.

Korean Peninsula

55. We recognized the impact of the nuclear issue on the Korean Peninsula on peace, stability and security of the wider Asia Pacific region. We emphasized the need for the parties concerned to find peaceful solution through dialogue in the spirit of equality and mutual respect. In this regard, we welcomed the convening of the series of Six Party Talks involving China, DPRK, Japan, Republic of Korea, Russia, and the United States. We welcomed and noted the outcomes of these talks, including the most recent round held in Beijing on 23-25 June 2004. We urged all parties concerned to continue their efforts in order to seek a lasting solution to achieve peace and stability on the Korean Peninsula. On its part, ASEAN stands ready to assist the parties concerned to achieve these objectives.

56. We recalled our commitment at the 8th ASEAN Summit in Phnom Penh in November 2002 to revitalize Asia-Africa cooperation, including promoting closer ties between ASEAN and NEPAD. In this regard, we welcomed the decision of the Government of the Republic of Indonesia to host the Asian-African Summit on 21-23 April 2005 in conjunction with the Commemoration of the Golden Jubilee of the Asian-African Conference of 1955. This Summit will revitalize the Bandung spirit of Asian-African Conference of 1955 through the establishment of a New Strategic Partnership to promote peace, prosperity and progress in the two continents. It would also reinforce the efforts of ASEAN Member Countries to forge closer economic partnership with Africa under the NEPAD.

Asia Cooperation Dialogue

57. We noted the rapid progress of Asia Cooperation Dialogue (ACD) initiated by Thailand as a forum for all Asian countries to combine their strengths in order to create synergy for the enhancement of mutual peace and prosperity in the region. We were further encouraged by the results of the Third ACD Foreign Ministers’ Meeting held on 21-22 June 2004 in Qingdao, China, which deepened existing collaborative projects among ACD member countries and expanded cooperation into other areas of mutual interest and benefit.

58. We also noted with satisfaction significant progress on regional bond market development, and in this regard we would seek to implement the Chiang Mai Declaration on Asian Bond Market Development adopted by the 2nd ACD Ministers Meeting in June 2003, including the future establishment of the Asian bond fund which would invest in local currency denominated bonds, strengthen financial market information sharing, develop capital markets and support efforts to facilitate regional investments.

ACMECS

59. We welcomed the inaugural Ayeyawady-Chao Phraya-Mekong Economic Cooperation Strategy (ACMECS) Summit Meeting in Bagan, Myanmar, in November 2003, which launched a new sub-regional framework of cooperation to support the Mekong Sub-region development and further reinforcing the process of regional integration and narrowing the development gap within the region.

FEALAC

60. Recognizing the importance of fostering cooperation between Asia and Latin America, we welcomed the Philippines’ successful hosting of the FEALAC. We reaffirmed our support for the Manila Plan of Action, which addressed economic, political, and security issues of mutual concern to East Asia and Latin America, as well as strengthened administrative arrangements to make FEALAC more efficient.

ASEM

61. We expressed ASEAN's full support for Viet Nam to successfully hold the Fifth Asia-Europe Meeting (ASEM) Summit on 8-9 October 2004 thus contributing to further revitalizing and substantiating the Asia-Europe partnership. We were of the view that substantive progress in Asia-Europe cooperation should not be made contingent upon the question of membership enlargement. In the meantime, we recalled the commitment of the ASEAN Leaders at the Fourth Informal ASEAN Summit in Singapore in 2000 for all ten ASEAN countries to participate together in the ASEM. In this regard, we reaffirmed our continued support for the remaining ASEAN Member Countries, namely Cambodia, Laos and Myanmar, to join concurrently the ASEM.

APEC

62. We commended the efforts exerted by APEC to pursue free trade and investment by 2010 and 2020. Accordingly, we supported APEC’s contribution to the WTO negotiation process and urged that this endeavor be continued. We encouraged APEC to carry on its efforts in ensuring trade security and promoting economic cooperation to reduce the gap among economies in the region.

WTO Issues

63. We welcomed the recent initiatives by Members of the WTO to revitalize the negotiation in Doha Round. We reiterated our readiness to work constructively with all WTO members to achieve an outcome consistent with the goals contained in the Doha Declaration. In this regard, we reiterated that development related issues should continue to remain the center of multilateral trade negotiations. We encouraged our major trading partners particularly from the developed world, to show flexibility and to take into account the development needs and interests of developing Members of the WTO. We reaffirmed our continued support for the early accession of Laos and Viet Nam into the WTO.

UN Millennium Development Goals

64. We reiterated that the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) had clearly set specific targets for countries to fulfill in close cooperation with the international community. In this regard, we reaffirmed our commitment to enhance our cooperation to achieve the objectives of MDGs. We emphasized our commitment to translate commitments into actions, including through the creation of a genuine global and regional partnership among governments, international organizations and all relevant stakeholders.

65. We agreed that the attainment of the MDGs required a comprehensive approach, which included, among others, the fulfillment of the commitments adopted by the major international conferences held in the recent years, namely the Monterrey Consensus of March 2002, the Johannesburg Plan of Implementation of September 2002, the Doha Development Agenda of November 2001, and the Declaration of Principles and Plan of Action of the World Summit on the Information Society (WSIS) of December 2003.

INSTITUTIONAL MATTERS AND THE NEW CHAIRMANSHIP

66. We noted the importance of reviving the Joint Ministerial Meeting (JMM) in conformity with the decision of the 9th ASEAN Summit, to revitalize the bottom-up mechanism of the ASEAN decision-making process. The JMM would consist of the AMM, the AEM, the AFMM and the Secretary-General of ASEAN.

67. We directed the ASEAN Secretary-General and Directors General to complete their study on ASEAN’s institutional framework to determine how the ASEAN structure could be further strengthened to facilitate the realization of an ASEAN Community. We expressed appreciation to Malaysia for its paper on "Review of ASEAN Institutional Framework: A Proposals for Change."

68. We elected the Lao People’s Democratic Republic as the Chair of the 38th ASEAN Standing Committee and Malaysia as the Vice-Chair. Association of Southeast Asian Nations, Joint Communiqué: 38th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting (26 July 2005)
Joint Communique of the 38th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting Vientiane, 26 July 2005 THEME: TOWARDS THE HARMONY, DYNAMISM AND INTEGRATION OF ASEAN

INTRODUCTION

1. We, the Foreign Ministers of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), met formally on 26 July 2005 in Vientiane, Lao People’s Democratic Republic (Lao PDR), for the first time since the Vientiane Action Programme (VAP), the successor to the Ha Noi Plan of Action (HPA); the ASEAN Security Community (ASC) Plan of Action; and the ASEAN Socio-Cultural Community (ASCC) Plan of Action were adopted at the 10th ASEAN Summit in November 2004 in Vientiane. It was also the first time that Lao PDR hosted our regular annual meeting where we reviewed regional and international political, security, and economic developments, and intra and extra-ASEAN cooperation, including cooperation with our Dialogue Partners as well as wide-ranging issues as we move towards the establishment of an ASEAN Community in 2020 as envisioned in the Declaration of ASEAN Concord II (Bali Concord II) adopted in October 2003 in Bali, Indonesia.

2. The 38th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting was chaired by His Excellency Mr. Somsavat Lengsavad, Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Lao PDR.

3. The Honourable Sir Rabbie Namilu, Foreign Minister of Papua New Guinea, and His Excellency Mr. Jose Ramos-Horta, Senior Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs of Timor Leste, attended the Opening and Closing ceremonies of the 38th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting as a Special Observer in ASEAN and a Guest of the Chairman of the 38th ASEAN Standing Committee respectively.

4. His Excellency Mr. Bounnhang Vorachith, Prime Minister of the Lao PDR, graced the meeting with a Keynote Address. His Excellency Mr. Bounnhang Vorachith stated that a key factor leading to the success of ASEAN in the last decades is the harmonious combination of national interests and regional ones. This is the right recognition of the reality that although ASEAN Member Countries are very diverse, they share common interest in peace, stability and prosperity for each country and for the region as a whole. This is the true meaning of the “unity in diversity” of ASEAN and that we should continue our efforts to maintain such a harmonious combination in the process of building our ASEAN Community. Anything contrary to that could affect the basic foundation for the further development of ASEAN. The harmonious combination of national interests and community interests would be much visible by the extent of the ASEAN integration into the process of building the ASEAN Community. While realizing the importance of the ASEAN integration, especially in the economic field in the context of globalization and economic interdependence, ASEAN has adopted the Initiative for ASEAN Integration (IAI), the VAP and other plans of action which are currently being implemented and yielded some preliminary results. One of our immediate priorities is to expeditiously narrow the economic development gap within ASEAN and between ASEAN and other regions. He further stated that with the continuously high oil price, there is a need for ASEAN to pay more attention to the cooperation on energy as previously agreed by the Leaders at the 10th ASEAN Summit. This aims to mitigate the adverse impact on the economy of ASEAN as a whole as well as on the vulnerable economy of ASEAN new member countries, in particular. He noted that one of the energy sectors that can be a benefit to the region on a regular basis is a joint investment in building hydropower dams which would not only supply cheaper energy to the region than the oil based energy but would also enhance closer relations of intra-ASEAN economic development as well as help narrow the economic disparities within ASEAN.

THE ASEAN COMMUNITY

5. We were pleased with the adoption by our Leaders of the VAP, the ASC Plan of Action and the ASCC Plan of Action; the signing of the ASEAN Framework Agreement for the Integration of Priority Sectors; and the progress made in the implementation of programmes and projects building up to the realisation of the ASEAN Community comprising the three pillars of the ASC, AEC, and ASCC as enshrined in the Bali Concord II.

6. We agreed to work towards the establishment of an ASEAN Charter, which will reaffirm the objectives, goals and principles of the ASEAN Community and beyond. In this regard, we agreed on a draft text of the Kuala Lumpur Declaration on the Establishment of an ASEAN Charter, including the establishment of the Eminent Persons Group (EPG), which will be recommended for approval and signature by our Leaders at the 11th ASEAN Summit on 12 December 2005 in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

Vientiane Action Programme (VAP)

7. We expressed our satisfaction with the progress made in the implementation of the VAP, which includes, among others, the signing of the Agreement on the Establishment of an ASEAN Development Fund (ADF) that will, to a great extent, further boost the resource mobilisation efforts to support the financing of the implementation of the VAP and subsequent plans of action to realise the ASEAN Community.

8. We reiterated our commitment to make greater efforts to narrow the development gap among ASEAN Member Countries. In this connection, we called on our Dialogue Partners and friends, as well as regional and international organisations to support us in our efforts to effectively implement the VAP in a timely manner.

Narrowing the Development Gap (NDG) and Initiative for ASEAN Integration (IAI)

9. We emphasised the immediate need to bridge the development gap among ASEAN Member Countries, which is crucial for the acceleration of the integration of ASEAN. In the long run, the NDG and IAI will serve as building blocks for the establishment of an ASEAN Community. We noted and highly appreciated the participation of donor countries and institutions that have contributed positively to the implementation of the IAI programme. In the light of the above, we agreed to work even harder to assist the less developed Member Countries and less developed regions in ASEAN to ensure that the integration of ASEAN is carried out in a smooth and unified manner and that the benefits of integration are reasonably shared among the Member Countries. In this connection, we called on our Dialogue Partners and friends, as well as regional and international organisations to support us in our efforts to effectively implement the IAI Work Plan.

ASEAN SECURITY COMMUNITY (ASC)

10. We were gratified with the significant progress made in the implementation of the ASC Plan of Action, especially those activities that are contained in the VAP. The implementation of the ASC Plan of Action will lead to a peaceful, just, democratic, harmonious and stable ASEAN that is conducive to the sustainable social and economic development in the region as well as strengthen ASEAN’s relations with its Dialogue Partners. We therefore called for the continued effective implementation of the programmes and activities under the ASC Plan of Action so as to realise the ASC in a timely manner. The Meeting welcomed the agreement, in principle, to convene the ASEAN Defence Ministers Meeting (ADMM) and a senior defence officials meeting would be convened to prepare for it.

11. We recalled the decision by ASEAN Leaders, through the adoption of the ASC Plan of Action and the VAP, to strengthen our efforts in promoting human rights in ASEAN. We also recalled decision at the 26th AMM to consider the establishment of an appropriate mechanism on human rights. We noted the work carried out by the non-governmental Working Group for an ASEAN Human Rights Mechanism, including the meeting between the open-ended ASEAN SOM troika and the Working Group at the sideline of the 38th AMM.

Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia (TAC)

12. We reaffirmed the importance of the Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia as an instrument of peace, security and cooperation in inter-state relations and were gratified that a growing number of countries outside ASEAN have either acceded or expressed their interest to accede to the TAC. In this context, we welcomed the accessions of the ROK and the Russian Federation during the 10th ASEAN Summit in Vientiane. We also welcomed the accession of New Zealand and Mongolia to the TAC on 29 July 2005. We also welcomed Australia’s intention to accede to the TAC and looked forward to its accession to the TAC in Kuala Lumpur in December 2005. We appreciated Timor Leste for its interest to accede to the TAC. To ensure a lasting peace, stability and sustained development of ASEAN, we reiterated our call to other countries to accede to the TAC so as to create a favourable environment conducive for development in the region that will not only be beneficial to ASEAN but all its partners and friends as well.

South China Sea

13. We reaffirmed the importance of the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea (DoC) signed by ASEAN and China in Phnom Penh in 2002 as an important step towards a regional code of conduct in the South China Sea and has contributed to the peace and stability in the region. We welcomed China’s view underscoring that a regional code of conduct in the South China Sea is essential, as conveyed during the 11th ASEAN China Senior Officials Consultations in Shanghai, China, in April 2005.

14. In this connection, we endorsed the establishment of the ASEAN-China Joint Working Group to study and recommend measures to translate the provisions of the DoC into concrete cooperative activities. We looked forward to the 1st Meeting of the Working Group on the implementation of DoC to be held in Manila in August 2005, as a concrete step towards the full implementation of the DoC.

15. We encouraged all parties concerned to continue to exercise of self-restraint and to continue to undertake confidence-building measures that would contribute to the maintenance of peace and stability in the region. In this connection, we took note of the cooperative activities already forged by some concerned parties, which yielded positive results through negotiation and dialogue, in the spirit of mutually beneficial cooperation. We also reaffirmed our commitment to resolve the dispute in the South China Sea through peaceful means in accordance with international conventions including the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea.

Transnational Crimes

16. We commended the work of the ASEAN Ministers Meeting on Transnational Crime (AMMTC) and emphasised the important role of the AMMTC in regional initiatives to combat transnational crimes identified under the Work Programme to implement the ASEAN Plan of Action to Combat Transnational Crime. We also commended the important contributions made by the ASEAN Member Countries to combating transnational crimes as well as the cooperation between ASEAN and the Dialogue Partners in this area through various training programmes and workshops. We looked forward to the convening of the 5th AMMTC on 27-30 November 2005, in Ha Noi, Viet Nam. We welcomed the endorsement of the ASEAN Plus Three Concept Plan to implement cooperation in combating terrorism and transnational crime and the efforts of the ASEAN Plus Three countries to develop work programmes to implement cooperation in the specific areas identified.

17. We recalled the adoption by our Leaders of the ASEAN Declaration Against Trafficking in Persons, Particularly Women and Children on 29 November 2004 in Vientiane, Lao PDR. We expressed our commitment to implement the declaration and stressed the importance of developing measures in raising awareness and other capacity building-related activities.

18. We welcomed the Joint Communiqué of the 25th ASEAN Chiefs of Police Conference held on 16-20 May 2005 in Bali, Indonesia.

Counter-Terrorism

19. We expressed outrage at the series of terrorist attacks in the United Kingdom and Egypt that resulted in the loss of innocent lives. We strongly condemn such acts of terror and extend our sympathies to the victims and their families. Such acts of terror will only steel the resolve of the international community to cooperate and defeat the scourge of terrorism.

20. We reiterated our strong condemnation of all acts of terrorism in all its forms and manifestations and emphasised the need to address the root causes of terrorism. We continue to reject any attempt to associate terrorism with any race, region, nationality or ethnic group. In this context, we are fully committed to enhance our cooperative efforts to combat international terrorism at national, regional, and international levels. We looked forward to continuing our determination to enhance coordination and cooperation with the international community in combating international terrorism. We believe this will ensure peace and stability, create an environment conducive to our efforts to attain sustainable development, progress and prosperity in ASEAN. We also reaffirmed that the fight against terrorism should be conducted in accordance with our obligations under international law and in respect of sovereignty, territorial integrity and the principle of non-interference in the internal affairs of other states.

21. We expressed our appreciation for efforts to enhance capacity to counter-terrorism such as the conclusion of the Treaty on Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters in November on 29 November 2004 in Kuala Lumpur. We also welcomed the existing network between regional centres, such as the International Law Enforcement Academy (ILEA) in Bangkok, the Southeast Asia Regional Centre for Counter-Terrorism (SEARCCT) in Kuala Lumpur and the Jakarta Centre for Law Enforcement Cooperation (JCLEC) in Semarang, Indonesia. We looked forward to continuing our cooperation in the training of officials involved in counter-terrorism through SEARCCT, JCLEC and ILEA. We welcomed the outcomes of the workshops on International Legal Cooperation under the Bali Regional Ministerial Meeting on Counter-Terrorism coordinated by Thailand.

23. We reaffirmed that the 1995 Treaty on the Southeast Asia Nuclear Weapon-Free Zone (SEANWFZ) is extremely important to both confidence-building in Southeast Asia and the non-proliferation of nuclear weapons worldwide. We will continue our efforts to seek ways and means to secure the support of all five Nuclear Weapons States to sign the Protocol to the SEANWFZ. To this end, we expressed our appreciation to China for its readiness to be the first nuclear weapon state to accede to the Protocol to SEANWFZ.

ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF)

24. We reaffirmed ASEAN's role as a primary driving force of the ARF process and the ARF as the primary forum in enhancing political and security dialogue and cooperation in the wider Asia-Pacific region as well as the pivot for building peace and security in the region. We agreed to invite Timor Leste to attend the 12th ARF as the 25th participating country in the ARF and believed that Timor Leste's participation in the ARF would contribute to further enhance political and security dialogue and cooperation in the region.

25. We commended the important progress made in the implementation of the ARF activities, which had to a great extent contributed to political and security dialogue and cooperation in the Asia-Pacific region. We recognised the need to forge concrete cooperation among the ARF countries in building capacity and capabilities in order to better cope with challenges. We welcomed the ARF's progress towards Preventive Diplomacy (PD) and looked forward to the development of concrete measures in PD.

We welcomed Indonesia and the People's Republic of China to co-chair the next ISM on Disaster Relief.

ASEAN ECONOMIC COMMUNITY (AEC)

27. We welcomed the substantial progress made by the ASEAN Economic Ministers in moving towards the realisation of the AEC through measures that reinforce the implementation of its existing economic initiatives; accelerate regional integration in eleven priority sectors; facilitate movement of business persons, skilled labour and talents; and strengthen the institutional mechanism of ASEAN, including improvement of the existing ASEAN dispute settlement mechanism to ensure the expeditious and legally-binding resolution of any economic disputes.

28. In this regard, we noted with appreciation the signing of the ASEAN Framework Agreement for the Integration of Priority Sectors by ASEAN Leaders and the signing of the ASEAN Sectoral Integration Protocols and the Roadmaps for Integration of the Priority Sectors, as well as the Protocol on Enhanced Dispute Settlement Mechanism (DSM) by ASEAN Economic Ministers during the 10th ASEAN Summit in November 2004 in Vientiane. We recognised that this will facilitate the realisation of the aspirations of ASEAN as a single market and a single production base in which there is free flow of goods, services and skilled labour; and a freer flow of capital along with equitable economic development and reduced poverty and socio-economic disparities within and across ASEAN Member Countries.

29. We were pleased to note that steps have been taken to identify new measures for the second phase of the implementation of the integration of priority sectors to further accelerate ASEAN integration to realise the AEC.

30. We also commended the important progress made by Sectoral Ministers in the area of ASEAN economic cooperation, including energy; information communication technology (ICT); transport; tourism; food, agriculture and forestry; minerals; and finance and banking, which has become essential for regional integration.
Sub-regional Cooperation

31. We welcomed the substantial progress made in the sub-regional frameworks of cooperation under the Ayeyawady-Chao Phraya-Mekong Economic Cooperation Strategy (ACMECS), Greater Mekong Sub-region (GMS) programme, and the ASEAN-Mekong Basin Development Cooperation (AMBDC), West-East Corridor, Cambodia, Laos and Viet Nam (CLV) Development Triangle, which makes an important contribution to the process of regional integration. We welcomed the successful outcome of the 2nd GMS Summit held in Kunming on 4-5 June 2005 in China.

32. We welcomed the ACMECS Ministerial Retreat held in Thailand in November 2004 which has contributed to the advancement of the process of sub-regional cooperation in reducing the development gaps, thus making contributions to the process of regional integration. We looked forward to the convening of the ACMECS Foreign Ministers’ Meeting in Cambodia in August 2005 and the Second ACMECS Summit to be held in Thailand in November 2005, which would help enhance the regional integration process.

33. We noted the progress in the development of the Roadmap for BIMP-EAGA, which serves to increase trade, tourism and investment. We were encouraged by the development in strengthening partnerships with Dialogue Partners. The Northern Territory of Australia has been elevated from observer to “plus One Development Partner”, China has expressed its intention to become an observer and Japan has conducted the first mission to BIMP- EAGA by visiting Malaysia last year. We welcomed Republic of Korea’s announcement to conduct its mission this year.

ASEAN SOCIO-CULTURAL COMMUNITY (ASCC)

34. We were gratified with the adoption of the ASCC Plan of Action by the ASEAN Leaders at the 10th ASEAN Summit. The implementation of the Plan will contribute to the establishment of a caring society, the management of the social impact of economic integration, the enhancement of environmental sustainability and the strengthening of the foundations of regional social cohesion. We therefore called for effective implementation of the programmes and the specific measures under the Plan.

Sectoral Cooperation

Disaster Management

35. We signed on 26 July 2005 the ASEAN Agreement on Disaster Management and Emergency Response, which will provide effective regional mechanisms to mitigate the impacts of natural and human-induced disaster and serve as a joint response to disaster emergencies through concerted national efforts and intensified regional cooperation. We further acknowledged the importance of this agreement to strengthen international efforts towards developing a worldwide early-warning system for natural and human-induced disasters through, among other things, a multimodal approach, and taking into consideration the internationally agreed framework on the strategy for disaster reduction. We urged for the early operationalisation of an ASEAN Standby Arrangements for Disaster Relief and Emergency Response, which would work in tandem with other similar arrangements.

36. We reaffirmed our commitment to intensify our cooperation as well as with other countries in the areas of emergency relief, rehabilitation and reconstruction; and prevention and mitigation, as called for at the Special ASEAN Leaders’ Meeting on the Aftermath of Earthquake and Tsunami in Jakarta in January 2005. We welcomed the results of the Ministerial Meeting on Regional Operation on Tsunami Early Warning Arrangements held in Phuket and the decision to develop a multi-nodal early warning arrangement for the Indian Ocean and the Pacific, and recognised the readiness of the Asian Disaster Preparedness Centre (ADPC) to serve as a focal point working with other centres in the region, such as the ASEAN Earthquake Information Centre (AEIC), ASEAN Specialised Meteorological Centre (ASMC), the ASEAN Disaster Reduction Centre (ADRC), and the Indian Ocean Global Ocean Observing System (IOGOOS).

Environment

37. We welcomed the agreement on the establishment of the ASEAN Centre for Biodiversity (ACB) based in the Republic of the Philippines. The Centre will build on and continue the efforts of the ASEAN Regional Centre for Biodiversity Conservation Project in terms of promoting biodiversity conservation and sustainable use of the region’s rich biological resources.

38. We highly appreciate the close and fruitful cooperation among the Mekong River Commission (MRC) member countries during the past 10 years aimed at promoting sustainable management and development of water and related...

39. We welcomed the establishment of a Basel Convention Regional Centre for training and technology transfer for Southeast Asia based in the Republic of Indonesia. The Centre will promote and facilitate cooperation among states at the regional level in the field of training and technology transfer regarding the environmentally sound management of hazardous wastes and other wastes and the minimisation of their generation.

40. We commended the efforts taken by the ASEAN Member Countries to address land and forest fires and the resulting transboundary haze pollution, particularly the implementation of the ASEAN Agreement on Transboundary Haze Pollution.

41. We welcomed the ASEAN Declaration on Heritage Parks signed by Ministers of Environment of all ten ASEAN Member Countries on December 2003 which will generate greater collaboration between ASEAN Member Countries in the preservation of their common natural heritage.

42. We welcomed the efforts made by the ASEAN Member Countries in nominating 22 cities to participate in the Regional Environmentally Sustainable Cities Programme, and to implement the Framework for Environmentally Sustainable Cities (ESC) in ASEAN, which was adopted in December 2003.

44. We commended the work of the ASEAN Task Force on AIDS in following up the recommendations of the 7th ASEAN Summit Declaration on HIV/AIDS and the implementation of the ASEAN Work Programme and its review. We believe that ASEAN should have a voice in global forums such as the World Health Assembly (WHA) and participate in global decision-making regarding allocation of funds for HIV/AIDS prevention and control.

45. We expressed our appreciation to all our partners for their support in helping ASEAN implement its priority activities and encourage others to join hands with us in our efforts to prevent and control emerging infectious diseases, and in the fight against HIV/AIDS.

Poverty

46. We welcomed the initiatives and activities to enhance learning among key stakeholders from the government, civil society and the business community to deal with poverty in a comprehensive and integrated manner, and to share and exchange views on how best to mainstream Millennium Development Goals (MDG) processes into national development functions of governments, and to establish linkages nationally and regionally for mutual support in achieving poverty reduction initiatives.

Culture and Information

47. We welcomed the results of the other areas of ASEAN functional cooperation, including the adoption of a new tagline for ASEAN – “Ten Nations One Community”- at the Meeting of the ASEAN Ministers Responsible for Information (AMRI) in 2004. A number of activities in the culture and information sectors have been successfully implemented in 2004 to raise ASEAN awareness in as well as outside the Southeast Asia region, such as the 2nd ASEAN Cultural Week held in Vietnam in August 2004, the biennial ASEAN Quiz held in Brunei Darussalam in September 2004 and the ongoing Media Exchange Programmes with our Dialogue Partners. We also welcomed the Art and Cultural scholarship programme for ASEAN Member Countries sponsored by Indonesia in 2004 and encouraged ASEAN’s participation for the next scholarship programme to be held in the second half of 2005. Cooperative Operations in Response to Dangerous Drugs (ACCORD), ASEAN-EC Sub-committee on Narcotics, ASEAN Inter-Parliamentary Organisation Fact Finding Committee (AlFCOM) and United Nations Office of Drugs and Crime Prevention (UNODC).

49. We welcomed the recommendations of the 4th AlFCOM, held in Luang Prabang, Lao PDR, 9-13 March 2005, which among others, urged all ASEAN Member Countries to formulate an ASEAN Extradition Treaty based on the Treaty of Mutual Legal Assistance (MLA) on Criminal Matters and existing bilateral agreements, and to call upon all ASEAN national parliaments to consider harmonising laws on drug abuse in ASEAN Member Countries.

50. We believed that a Drug Free ASEAN 2015 should be pursued by prevention, treatment and community-based control of drug abuse, including the promotion of alternative development and elimination of illicit drug trafficking. ASEAN Member Countries will undertake close coordination and integrated cooperation, including with Dialogue Partners such as China, Japan and the Republic of Korea, the European Union (EU), India, Australia, and the US. Furthermore, ASEAN Member Countries will promote common perception among law enforcement agencies in combating illicit drug trafficking as well as developing public awareness, especially among young people, concerning the risk of illicit drug abuse and trafficking.

DEVELOPMENTS IN MYANMAR

70. We have been informed by our colleague, Foreign Minister U Nyan Win of Myanmar that the Government of Myanmar had decided to relinquish its turn to be the Chair of ASEAN in 2006 because it would want to focus its attention on the ongoing national reconciliation and democratisation process. Our colleague from Myanmar has explained to us that 2006 will be a critical year and that the Government of Myanmar wants to give its full attention to the process. We would like to express our complete understanding of the decision by the Government of Myanmar. We also express our sincere appreciation to the Government of Myanmar for not allowing its national preoccupation to affect ASEAN's solidarity and cohesiveness. The Government of Myanmar has shown its commitment to the well-being of ASEAN and its goal of advancing the interest of all Member Countries. We agreed that once Myanmar is ready to take its turn to be the ASEAN Chair, it can do so.

REGIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL ISSUES

71. We exchanged views on recent regional and international political and security developments, particularly those that affect regional peace, security and stability. Despite the recent terrorist attacks in United Kingdom and Egypt, we were of the view that the overall global security situation remained relatively stable and was marked by a number of positive developments including greater interactions and exchanges between and among countries. ASEAN-China cooperation now covers political and security; trade, investment and economic; science and technology; ICT; transport; transnational crime; and youth. In addition, the ASEAN-China Business Council helps to promote cooperation between the private/business sectors of the two sides while the ASEAN Beijing Committee, comprising the Ambassadors of ASEAN Member Countries in Beijing, helps to promote ASEAN-China relations on behalf of the ASEAN Standing Committee.

19. In addition, ASEAN and China interact and cooperate at other regional and multilateral fora where ASEAN plays a key role. These include the ASEAN Plus Three Summit, the APEC Economic Leaders Meeting, the Asia-Europe Meeting (ASEM), and the ARF.

3.1.2 Areas of Cooperation

Political and Security

20. China has entered into a number of political declarations and agreements with ASEAN in the area of political and security cooperation in the past four years. These include the Joint Declaration of ASEAN and China on Cooperation in the Field of Non-Traditional Security Issues and the Declaration on the Conduct (DOC) of Parties in the South China Sea, which were concluded at the ASEAN-China Summit in 2002 in Phnom Penh, Cambodia. China was the first Dialogue Partner to accede to the Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia, doing so at the ASEAN-China Summit in October 2003 in Bali, Indonesia. While the signing of the DOC signalled the desire of both ASEAN and China to promote trust, confidence and cooperation and to agree on a regional code of conduct in the disputed area, the accession by China to the treaty provided further reassurance on the peace and security of the region and that the treaty would eventually become a code for inter-state relations in the region. China has also reiterated its willingness to work with ASEAN for the early signing of the Protocol to the Treaty on Southeast Asia Nuclear Weapon-Free Zone (SEANWFZ).

21. As a follow-up to the DOC, ASEAN and China convened an ASEAN-China Senior Officials Meeting on the Implementation of the DOC on 7 December 2004 in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. At the Meeting, the ASEAN-China SOM adopted the Terms of Reference for the ASEAN-China Joint Working Group on the Implementation of the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South working together, ASEAN and China can make an important contribution to the interests of Asia and developing countries in an increasingly globalised world.

Cooperation with the UN

- The UN continues to be the most important organisation for multilateralism and for meeting the challenges of the millennium. The UN, as the core of the collective security mechanism, plays an irreplaceable role in international cooperation to ensure global peace. It promotes and supports mutually beneficial cooperation to achieve common prosperity and the spirit of inclusiveness to build a harmonious world together. ASEAN and China should make concerted efforts to support and promote the role of the UN and its specialised agencies, and work with them to ensure peace, prosperity and development in the region and the world. Both should work closely with other stakeholders in promoting the UN reform agenda.

Medium-Term and Long-Term Measures

ASEAN-China Commemorative Summit

- ASEAN and China should look at the possibility of convening a Commemorative Summit in China at an appropriate time to profile the strategic partnership and chart the course for the long-term relationship.

Cooperation in Disarmament and Non-Proliferation

- Establishing a nuclear weapons-free zone in Southeast Asia is a key commitment of the ASEAN Member Countries under the Treaty on SEANWFZ. ASEAN is an active proponent of disarmament and non-proliferation. China has announced its support for the establishment of a nuclear weapons-free zone in Southeast Asia and is committed to nuclear non-proliferation. Both sides should work closely together in regional and international fora to promote disarmament and non-proliferation. Seminars and workshops could be convened to better understand each other’s positions on these issues.

South China Sea Issue

- The South China Sea disputes need to be resolved even though efforts of ASEAN and China have reduced tensions in the disputed area. In this regard, discussions on United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS) and how it applies to the South China Sea could be promoted. In the longer term, ASEAN and China should work towards the conclusion of a code of conduct in the South China Sea, on the basis of consensus, to secure peace and stability in the disputed area and implement the cooperative measures in the DOC to propel the growth and development of the claimant States and the region in the future.

Resolving Border Issues

- Moving towards resolving bilateral and maritime border disputes between ASEAN Member Countries and China will help to enhance the mutual trust and good neighbourliness between ASEAN and China. This will be clear evidence of the commitment of both sides to the partnership and will accelerate the pace of building a substantive and comprehensive partnership.

Defence Cooperation

- ASEAN and China should institute defence cooperation starting with holding workshops and seminars on security issues of common concern and strengthening bilateral military personnel exchanges and training. ASEAN Member Countries and China could observe each other’s military exercises and hold joint military exercises in the non-traditional security field as well as in other areas as outlined in the ASEAN-China Plan of Action.

Economic Cooperation

81. The thrust of economic cooperation between ASEAN and China should be to identify areas of synergy from which both sides can mutually benefit. China’s growth presents new opportunities for ASEAN just as closer economic integration within ASEAN will benefit China. ASEAN and China can work together to promote closer economic linkages between their economies in the areas of trade, investment, finance, transport and communications, energy cooperation, tourism, and infrastructural development. The economic opportunities presented by ASEAN’s integration and China’s rapid development, and the closer linkages being established between ASEAN and China through the strategic partnership will enable both sides to contribute to the Doha Development Agenda. In this regard, we recommend the following measures:

Short-Term Measures

ASEAN-China Free Trade Area

- Both sides should maximise the gains from the ACFTA by promoting and ensuring that the synergies from China’s economic growth and ASEAN economic integration are tapped. This

4. The ASEAN Leaders welcomed China’s initiative to provide another USD 5 billion of preferential loans to support projects invested by Chinese companies in ASEAN Member Countries. In the past 5 years, China has provided nearly USD 3 billion of economic assistance and concessional credit to ASEAN Member Countries. The ASEAN Leaders noted the announcement by China that it would offer USD 10 billion of concessional loans and preferential export buyer’s credit to developing countries. We also noted, with appreciation, that about one third of the loan will be provided to the ASEAN Member Countries.

5. We agreed on the need to strengthen cooperation on energy security, particularly on large-scale development of alternative and renewable energy sources, intensifying oil and gas exploration, and promotion of energy conservation and energy efficiency.

6. We agreed to commemorate the 15th Anniversary of ASEAN-China Dialogue Relations next year and call 2006 as the “Year of Friendship and Cooperation between ASEAN and China”. In this regard, we endorsed a list of commemorative activities to celebrate the 15th Anniversary of our dialogue relations. We strongly encouraged public participation in the commemorative activities. We agreed to convene the ASEAN-China Commemorative Summit next year to reaffirm our commitment to further enhance the strategic partnership and substantive cooperation.

7. We underscored the value of tourism to our economies and agreed to examine ways to promote tourism such as through mutual visa exemptions and open skies policy. In this regard, we tasked our Ministers and Senior Officials to study the matter.

8. We noted, with appreciation, the Report of the ASEAN-China Eminent Persons Group (ACEPG) on the review of the ASEAN-China dialogue relations in the past 15 years and the short and medium and long-term measures proposed to consolidate the partnership in the next 15 years and beyond. We tasked our Ministers and Senior Officials to study the measures and make appropriate recommendations for the implementation of these measures through the ASEAN-China cooperation framework.

9. We also exchanged views on regional and international political and economic issues of common interest and concern. In this regard, the Leaders of ASEAN commended China’s active and important role in promoting the Six-Party Talks on the nuclear issue on the Korean Peninsula. We noted that the Six-Party Talks had significantly contributed to the quest for a peaceful and comprehensive solution to the nuclear issue on the Korean Peninsula.
10. We welcomed the progress made by ASEAN and China towards the full implementation of the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea (DoC) as we look forward to the eventual conclusion of a regional code of conduct in the South China Sea. We noted that the ASEAN-China Senior Officials’ Meeting on the Implementation of the DoC in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia in December 2004 had established the ASEAN-China Joint Working Group on the Implementation of the DoC (ACJWG). We welcomed the convening of the First ACJWG in August 2005 in Manila, the Philippines and look forward to the convening of the Second ACJWG in Sanya, China in February 2006.

11. We noted with satisfaction the progress of the implementation of the ASEAN-China Joint Declaration in the Field of Non-Traditional Security Issues adopted in 2002. We welcomed the convening of the Informal ASEAN-China Ministerial Meeting on Transnational Crime on 30 November 2005 in Ha Noi, which will contribute to the strengthening of cooperation to fight against terrorism and other transnational crimes. In this light, we agreed to consider establishing linkages between ASEAN and other international organisations including the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation in the global effort against terrorism.

12. We also noted the progress in the ongoing negotiations towards the establishment of an ASEAN-China Free Trade Area (ACFTA). We noted with satisfaction that the Agreement on Trade in Goods under the ASEAN-China FTA has been implemented since July 2005. We urged ASEAN and China to complete their negotiations on services and investment as soon as possible. The ASEAN Leaders urged China to strongly encourage its business sector to invest in ASEAN.

13. We agreed to deepen our cooperation to combat avian influenza and request the Health Ministers of ASEAN and China to convene their first meeting at the soonest and to take necessary actions to prevent and combat the avian influenza, including through the setting up of a regional network of anti-viral drugs stockpile, and other emerging and re-emerging infectious diseases.

14. The Leaders of ASEAN congratulated China for the successful holding of the second China-ASEAN EXPO and the second ASEAN-China Business and Investment Summit in Nanning in October 2005 which have facilitated contacts among the business sectors and promoted trade and investment between ASEAN and China.

15. We noted the ASEAN-China ICT Week held in May 2005 in China. We noted that the digital gap remained wide and that a possible mean to narrow this gap was through making available of low cost personal computers. We welcomed the proposal to establish a China-ASEAN information superhighway. The ASEAN Leaders also welcomed China’s offer to host a technology exhibition next year and to conduct an exhibition tour of applied scientific technologies in ASEAN Member Countries.

16. We welcomed the adoption of the Action Plan to Formulate a Technology Platform for Earthquake-Generated Tsunami Warning System at the China-ASEAN Workshop on Earthquake-Generated Tsunami Warning in January 2005 in Beijing.

17. We also welcomed the establishment of the Centre for ASEAN and China Studies (CACS) in Ha Noi, Viet Nam, which will promote the exchange of ideas, and research and studies among the academics and think-tanks in ASEAN and China. The Leaders of ASEAN appreciated China’s support for the implementation of the Vientiane Action Programme (VAP) and welcomed China’s consideration to contribute to the ASEAN Development Fund (ADF).

20. We welcomed the convening of the First East Asia Summit (EAS) on 14 December 2005 in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. We shared the views that the EAS will be convened annually and that the EAS will play a significant role in this region to promote strategic dialogue and cooperation among the participating countries.

Association of Southeast Asian Nations, Joint Communiqué: 39th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting (25 July 2006)
Joint Communique of the 39th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting (AMM) Kuala Lumpur, 25 July 2006

INTRODUCTION

1. We, the Foreign Ministers of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), met at the 39th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting on 24-25 July 2006 in Kuala Lumpur. His Excellency Dato’ Seri Syed Hamid Albar, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Malaysia and Chairman of the 39th ASEAN Standing Committee, chaired the Meeting.

2. His Excellency Sir Moi Avei, Minister for Petroleum and Energy of Papua New Guinea, and His Excellency José Luis Guterres, Minister of Foreign Affairs and Cooperation of Timor Leste, attended the Opening Ceremony of the 39th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting as a Special Observer in ASEAN and a Guest of the Chairman of the 39th ASEAN Standing Committee, respectively.

OPENING ADDRESS

3. The Honourable Dato’ Seri Abdullah Ahmad Badawi, Prime Minister of Malaysia, delivered an Opening Address at the Opening Ceremony of the 39th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting. The Honourable Prime Minister of Malaysia emphasized the need for ASEAN to be steadfast in keeping its solidarity and to remain focused on achieving its common mission of fostering greater regional integration. ASEAN should adopt the approach of proceeding step-by-step, instrument-by-instrument, institution-by-institution in its community building efforts. This is the only way to ensure that ASEAN achieves true consensus on establishing a set of common values, perceptions and outlook.

4. On the building of the ASEAN Community, he underlined three overarching principles, whereby there should be a universal acceptance that community interests would prevail over national interests on issues affecting the community and that ASEAN has to do better in giving national effect to wider international treaties and conventions, including ASEAN treaties and agreements by putting in place capacities for enforcing community decisions. In addition, Member Countries must adhere to a common set of community values, though universal in nature, but are distinctly ASEAN in character. Topping the list of values must be acceptance of good governance in our respective countries and societies.

5. He looked forward to receiving the report of the Eminent Persons Group on the ASEAN Charter which would be a major leap forward in ASEAN’s work of placing the building blocks for the ASEAN Community.

6. The Honourable Prime Minister also highlighted the latest developments in the Middle East which was gravely threatening international peace and security. Being responsible members of the international community, ASEAN countries should not appear indifferent to the plight of the Palestinians. He stated that we should condemn Israel’s latest use of disproportionate force in Gaza and in the West Bank. We should not tolerate Israel’s excessive military reprisals against Lebanon. ASEAN must make its voices heard, loudly and clearly and that ASEAN should not continue tolerating the subjugation and repression of the Palestinian people by Israel.
THE ASEAN COMMUNITY

7. We were pleased with the progress made in moving towards the realization of the ASEAN Community by the year 2020, through the implementation of the Vientiane Action Programme (VAP), and based on the three pillars, namely the ASEAN Security Community (ASC), ASEAN Economic Community (AEC) and ASEAN Socio-Cultural Community (ASCC), as enshrined in the Bali Concord II. We agreed that it was important for ASEAN to strengthen our integration efforts for all three pillars of the ASEAN community. As a follow-up to our Leaders’ discussions at the 11th ASEAN Summit in Kuala Lumpur, we exchanged views on how to bring forward the realisation of the ASEAN Community from 2020 to 2015 and the possible ways of achieving this objective. We reiterated the importance of maintaining ASEAN centrality in the context of ASEAN related regional architectures to support the attainment of the objectives of the establishment of the ASEAN Community.

8. We welcomed the ongoing historic mission of the Eminent Persons Group on the ASEAN Charter to propose bold and visionary ideas for the future direction of ASEAN and provide practical recommendations on the nature of the ASEAN Charter, as mandated by the Kuala Lumpur Declaration on the Establishment of the ASEAN Charter, which was signed by our Leaders at the 11th ASEAN Summit in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia on 12 December 2005.

9. We commended the EPG for its consultative and inclusive approach in engaging all pertinent stakeholders in ASEAN, including meetings with representatives of ASEAN Inter-Parliamentary Organisation (AIPO), Working Group for an ASEAN Human Rights Mechanism, ASEAN Institutes of Strategic and International Studies (ASEAN-ISIS), civil society organisations, ASEAN Chambers of Commerce and Industry (ASEAN-CCI) and the private sector. We reiterated our support for the EPG to continue to “think out of the box” and explore all bold and visionary ideas for the strengthening of ASEAN and its institutional framework. We are confident that the EPG’s report and recommendations, which would be presented for consideration by our Leaders at the 12th ASEAN Summit in Cebu, the Philippines, would enable the Leaders to decide on the drafting of the Charter. The EPG report represents a significant contribution to the building of the ASEAN Community that is more people-centred and resilient to challenges. In this context, we agreed to establish the High Level Task Force to carry out the drafting of the ASEAN Charter after the 12th ASEAN Summit, based on the Kuala Lumpur Declaration on the Establishment of the ASEAN Charter.

10. We underlined the need to enhance the effectiveness and efficiency of ASEAN for improved coordination in its endeavours to achieve the goals and objectives of the ASEAN Community.

Vientiane Action Programme (VAP)

11. In ensuring the expeditious implementation of the VAP, we reiterated that the implementation of the three pillars of the ASEAN Community should be mutually reinforcing. We agreed to undertake greater efforts to enhance the coordination mechanism in its implementation to help us realise the goals of the ASEAN Community. We also agreed that Member Countries should take into account the need to integrate the VAP into their national development plans. In this regard, we welcomed the convening of the 5th ASEAN Senior Officials Meeting on Development Planning (SOMDP) in Kuala Lumpur on 6-7 July 2006, in facilitating the integration of ASEAN’s goals, objectives and implementation of the VAP into national development plans of Member Countries. We further agreed that the Plans of Action with the respective Dialogue Partners should be in tangent with the VAP.
12. We welcomed the ASEAN Baseline Report as a crucial instrument in the evaluation of the achievements of the VAP and successor action programmes. In this regard, we reiterated the importance of regular review of the VAP to ensure that all the programmes and activities are responsive to ASEAN needs and priority.

13. We appreciated the contributions by several ASEAN Dialogue Partners to the ASEAN Development Fund (ADF), which serves as a common pool of financial resources for the implementation of the VAP. We called upon other Dialogue Partners, countries as well as international organisations to support and contribute to the ADF.

14. We underscored the importance of narrowing the development gap among ASEAN Member Countries, which is essential for the regional integration of ASEAN. We agreed that in undertaking capacity-building projects, focus should also be given to developing policy environment that is conducive to support trade, investment and infrastructure sectors in the CLMV countries. We expressed our appreciation to our Dialogue Partners, donor countries, institutions and ASEAN Member Countries for their contributions and assistance towards ASEAN integration.

Initiative for ASEAN Integration (IAI)

15. We stressed the need for effective implementation of the recommendations in the Report of the Mid-term Review of the IAI Work Plan, which was adopted by our Leaders at the 11th ASEAN Summit in December 2005 in Kuala Lumpur. The Report has broadened the scope of the IAI to meet the urgent needs of the CLMV countries and to improve the coordination mechanism. We underlined the need to further explore innovative sources of funding to support the efforts, including through private and public initiatives and welcomed Thailand’s offer to prepare a paper on this matter.

16. We welcomed the sustained efforts taken by the ASEAN-6 countries and Dialogue Partners to implement the IAI Work Plan (2002-2008) and look forward to their further support and assistance. We believed that there is a need to harmonize the IAI Work Plan projects within the framework of the 7 focus areas and to ensure that the IAI projects support the realization of the 11 priority integration sectors under the AEC.

17. We welcomed Viet Nam’s offer to host the Second IAI Development Cooperation Forum (IDCF) Meeting in the first half of 2007 with a view to expediting the implementation of the IAI in bridging the development gap among ASEAN Member Countries.

ASEAN SECURITY COMMUNITY (ASC)

18. We reaffirmed our commitment under the ASC to promote and advance political and security cooperation to a higher plane in our efforts to preserve and further advance ASEAN as a peaceful, stable and developed region, living in peace with one another and with the world at large in a just, democratic and harmonious environment, including through shaping and sharing of regional norms.

19. We welcomed the convening of the Inaugural ASEAN Defence Ministers’ Meeting (ADMM), held in Kuala Lumpur on 8-9 May 2006, as an important contribution to the development of the ASC. We noted that the next ADMM will be held in Singapore in 2007. We noted Indonesia’s offer to host a Retreat of the ASEAN Defence Ministers in Bali during the Chairmanship of the Philippines.

20. We noted the outcome of the inaugural consultation between the Chairman of the 39th ASEAN Standing Committee and the President of the 27th ASEAN Inter-Parliamentary Organisation (AIPO) on 13 April 2006 in Kuala Lumpur as provided for under the ASC Plan of Action in the VAP. We agreed that such consultations should be held regularly.

21. We welcomed the proposal to convene the first ASC Plan of Action Coordinating Conference of the ASEAN committees / bodies responsible for the ASEAN Security Community in September 2006 for the purpose of expediting its implementation.

22. We noted the outcome of the Fifth Workshop on an ASEAN Regional Mechanism on Human Rights held on 29-30 June 2006 in Kuala Lumpur and viewed it as an important forum for continuous dialogue on the establishment of a regional human rights mechanism in ASEAN. We also noted the work carried out by the non-governmental Working Group for an ASEAN Human Rights Mechanism, including the meeting between the open-ended ASEAN SOM Troika and the Working Group at the sidelines of the 39th AMM with the objective to facilitate the implementation of the activities under the promotion of human rights component of the VAP. We further noted that the National Human Rights Commissions of Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines and Thailand are prepared to collaborate with the Working Group and other civil society organisations, with the view to facilitating the establishment of an ASEAN Human Rights Mechanism.

23. In accordance with the Plan of Action to implement the ASEAN Security Community, the Ministers also agreed to begin discussions on the elaboration of an ASEAN Instrument on the Protection and Promotion of the Rights of Migrant Workers.

Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia

24. We reaffirmed the importance of the Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia (TAC) as an instrument of peace, security and cooperation in inter-state relations. We were gratified that a growing number of countries outside ASEAN have either acceded or expressed their interest to accede to the TAC. We regarded this as further testimony of the continued relevance of the TAC in contributing to regional peace, security and stability. In this context, we welcomed the accession of Australia on 10 December 2005 at the margins of the 11th ASEAN Summit.

25. We welcomed the decision by France to accede to the TAC. However, we noted that France was not able to accede to the Treaty during the 39th AMM/PMC/13th ARF in Kuala Lumpur due to the situation in the Middle East. We expressed the hope that France would be able to accede to the TAC soon.

26. We also reiterated our call to other Dialogue Partners and countries to accede to the TAC in the near future so as to create a favourable environment conducive for development in the region which will be beneficial not only to ASEAN but all its partners and friends as well.
We noted the convening of the Second ASEAN-China Senior Officials’ Meeting on the Implementation of the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea (DOC) held in Siem Reap, Cambodia in May 2006 and the convening of the First and Second Meetings of the ASEAN-China Joint Working Group on the Implementation of the DOC which were held in Manila, Philippines and Sanya City, China in August 2005 and February 2006 respectively, as a concrete step towards the full implementation of the DOC. We hoped that with the effective implementation of the DOC, ASEAN and China would move towards the early adoption of a Code of Conduct for the South China Sea.

We encouraged all parties concerned to continue the exercise of self-restraint and undertake confidence-building measures that would contribute to the maintenance of peace and stability in the region. In this connection, we took note of the cooperative activities already forged by some concerned parties, which yielded positive results through negotiation and dialogue, in the spirit of mutually beneficial cooperation. We also reaffirmed our commitment to resolve the dispute in the South China Sea through peaceful means in accordance with international conventions including the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea.

Transnational Crimes and Counter Terrorism

We reiterated our strong condemnation against terrorism in all its forms and manifestations and emphasised the need to address the root causes of terrorism. We reaffirmed our commitment to prevent, suppress and eliminate international terrorism in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations and international law.

We underscored the significant role of the ASEAN Ministers Meeting on Transnational Crime (AMMTC) in combating transnational crimes and called on the AMMTC to heighten cooperation in these areas including other relevant ASEAN bodies and ASEAN Dialogue Partners. In this regard, we also look forward to the convening of the 6th AMMTC in Brunei Darussalam in 2007.

We noted the successful conclusion of the Treaty on Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters (MLAT) by all ASEAN Member Countries, which would improve the effectiveness of cooperation in combating transnational crime and terrorism through mutual legal assistance in criminal matters, and expressed hope that the Treaty would be ratified by all ASEAN Member Countries. We also recalled the proposal to work towards the immediate establishment of an ASEAN extradition treaty as envisaged by the 1976 Declaration of ASEAN Concord as stipulated in the VAP, and the consequent decision by the 6th ASEAN Law Ministers Meeting (ALMM) that ASLOM would examine modalities for a model ASEAN extradition treaty.

We welcomed efforts to enhance the capacity of the ASEAN Member Countries in counter-terrorism including through the elaboration of an ASEAN Convention on Counter Terrorism as provided for under the VAP, and the consequent decision of the 6th SOMTC in Bali in 2006 to create a joint experts working group (EWG), comprising representatives from SOM, SOMTC and ASLOM, to work out the terms of reference and guiding principles of an ASEAN Convention on Counter Terrorism.

We also noted the need to pursue cooperation to prevent and combat corruption as mandated by the VAP and look forward to the convening of the ad-hoc working group meeting prior to the 7th SOMTC in Lao
34. We called for continued close cooperation between security-related bodies, such as Interpol, ASEANAPOL and the relevant national authorities, particularly relating to intelligence information sharing on terrorism. We also called upon all Member Countries to strengthen the existing technical cooperation for the development of capacity and capability of counter terrorism-related agencies and officials. In this connection, we further called for continued cooperation between the regional centres, in particular, the Southeast Asia Regional Centre for Counter-Terrorism (SEARCCT) in Kuala Lumpur, the International Law Enforcement Academy (ILEA) in Bangkok and the Jakarta Centre for Law Enforcement Cooperation (JCLEC) in Semarang.

Treaty on the Southeast Asia Nuclear Weapon-Free Zone (SEANWFZ)

35. We reaffirmed the importance of vigorous efforts to further strengthen cooperation in supporting the implementation of the Treaty on the Southeast Asia Nuclear Weapon-Free Zone (SEANWFZ). We urged the nuclear weapons States to become parties to the Protocol of the SEANWFZ Treaty as soon as possible.

36. We recalled Article 20 of the SEANWFZ Treaty of 15 December 1995, which states that “Ten years after this Treaty enters into force, a meeting of the Commission shall be convened for the purpose of reviewing the operation of the Treaty”. We directed the Executive Committee of the SEANWFZ to look into the implementation of Article 20.

ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF)

37. We reaffirmed the roles of ASEAN as the primary driving force of the ARF process and the ARF as the primary forum in enhancing political and security dialogue and cooperation in the wider Asia-Pacific region as well as the pivot for building peace and security in the region. We welcomed Bangladesh’s participation at the 13th ARF on 28 July 2006 as the 26th participating country in the ARF, which would contribute to further enhance political and security dialogue and cooperation in the region.

38. We commended the important progress made in the implementation of the ARF activities, which had to a great extent contributed to political stability, security, and cooperation in the Asia-Pacific region. We recognized the need to forge concrete cooperation among ARF countries in building capacity and capabilities in order to better cope with numerous challenges. While emphasizing that confidence building would continue to play a vital role in the ARF process, we welcomed the ARF’s progress towards Preventive Diplomacy (PD) and look forward to the development of concrete measures in PD at a pace comfortable to all. We noted with satisfaction the progress made in the implementation of the agreed ARF activities for the Inter-Sessional year 2005-2006.

ASEAN ECONOMIC COMMUNITY (AEC)

39. We welcomed the convening of the 38th ASEAN Economic Ministers Meeting on 21-25 August 2006 in Kuala Lumpur and noted the outcome of the 12th ASEAN Economic Ministers Retreat on 15 May 2006 in Manila. We expressed satisfaction with the substantial progress made towards the realization of the AEC.
We noted the efforts made in relation to deepening the economic integration of ASEAN, which will provide the necessary impetus to sustain and boost economic growth in the region and that internal economic integration of ASEAN must be accelerated for ASEAN to maximise gains from its economic engagement with major trading partners.

40. We welcomed the efforts in implementing various measures to integrate the 11 priority sectors to realize the AEC. We were pleased with the inclusion of logistics as the 12th priority integration sector and noted the on-going discussions to identify new measures and sectors as well as evaluate existing measures for Phase 2 of the integration process.

41. We also welcomed the initiative taken by the Economic Ministers to identify and eliminate restrictive practices and non-tariff barriers to allow for unrestricted flow in trade in goods, services and investment to realise the AEC. These include initiatives taken to further establish Mutual Recognition Arrangements (MRAs) and the Plan of Action for the realization of the ASEAN Single Window (ASW), which allows for a single channel clearance of goods for the ASEAN Member Countries, by 2008 for ASEAN-6 and no later than 2012 for other Member Countries.

42. We attached great importance on the strengthening of economic linkages with ASEAN Dialogue Partners which aims at enhancing ASEAN’s position as a competitive base for international production and foreign direct investment. In this context and in pursuant to the signing of the ASEAN-ROK Framework Agreement on Comprehensive Economic Cooperation at the 9th ASEAN-Republic of Korea Summit in Kuala Lumpur on 13 December 2005, we noted that the Trade in Goods Agreement between ASEAN and ROK would be implemented by no later than 1 January 2007. We noted the status of the on-going negotiations on FTAs with Dialogue Partners and expressed hope that the FTAs would be concluded in a timely manner to the mutual satisfaction of all parties.

43. We supported the initiative taken to further broaden and enhance economic relations with the European Union and the United States of America. In this respect, we noted the recommendations made in the Report of the ASEAN-EU Vision Group on Enhanced Partnership on the establishment of an ASEAN-EU FTA to foster and diversify trans-regional trade and investment flows and to deepen economic integration between the two regions in a sustainable manner. We were pleased to note that ASEAN and EU would undertake domestic consultations before any decision could be made to launch an FTA. The initiatives in pursuing these engagements are consistent with the principle of open regionalism that ASEAN has always advocated.

44. We were pleased with the new initiatives and progress in ASEAN Finance Cooperation particularly in the progress of the Roadmap for Financial and Monetary Integration of ASEAN (Ria-fin). Notable progress was made in relation to capital market development as well as the Fourth Round Negotiations on Liberalisation of Financial Services (AFAS), under a new positive list modality, which is expected to be concluded by the end of 2007. We also welcomed the efforts to promote ASEAN as an asset class.

45. We noted the projected economic growth of ASEAN at 5.8 per cent in 2006 as compared to the 5.5 per cent growth in 2005.

Energy Cooperation
46. We recognized the adverse impact of rising international oil prices on the economy of Member Countries and hence underscored the importance of finding ways to enhance energy efficiency and increase the share of renewable energy sources in power generation and energy consumption. We called for greater regional cooperation in sharing experience, knowledge and expertise to help promote energy efficiency and development of new and renewable energy sources in the region. In this respect, we commended the efforts by the ASEAN Ministers of Energy and the ASEAN Senior Energy Officials in expediting the conclusion of the Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) on the ASEAN Power Grid and the ASEAN Petroleum Security Agreement (APSA) 2005, as well as the progressive implementation of the Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) on the Trans-ASEAN Gas Pipeline (TAGP).

Sub-regional Cooperation

The involvement of civil society is a vital component of developing a people-centred ASEAN Community. In this regard, we were pleased to note that the Philippines will continue the engagement with civil society groups during its chairmanship on the regional level. An opportunity for the civil society representatives to report to the Leaders will be arranged during the 12th ASEAN Summit.

50. We supported the continued efforts by the ASEAN Foundation in generating public awareness of ASEAN and fostering a sense of belonging to ASEAN among its peoples through its various activities. We noted the Report of the Executive Director of the ASEAN Foundation on the Foundation’s activities. We welcomed the ratification of the Agreement by Member Countries and further called upon Member Countries that have yet to ratify the Agreement to do so in order to ensure effective regional cooperation in this area. In this regard, we noted the offer by Indonesia to host the ASEAN Coordinating Centre for Humanitarian Assistance on disaster management (AHA Centre).

58. We emphasized the importance of developing effective multi-nodal and multi-hazard early warning systems to save lives and minimise damages. We recognized the existing efforts such as the establishment of the UNESCAP Multi-Donor Voluntary Trust Fund for Tsunami Early Warning Arrangements in the Indian Ocean and Southeast Asia, with Thailand and Sweden contributed a total of US$12.5 million. In this regard, we encouraged the contribution and utilisation of the fund to enhance the capacity of the early warning systems. In addition, those efforts to strengthen disaster preparedness of local communities should be promoted.

59. We reaffirmed our commitment to strengthen ASEAN standby arrangements for disaster relief and emergency response and to enhance linkages with other regional and global standby arrangements through the sharing of earmarked assets, joint exercises in search and rescue and expediting the establishment of common guidelines and standard operating procedures as well as regional disaster early warning and monitoring capacities through real time information sharing in order to ensure rapid responses to emergencies.

Health

60. We recalled our Leaders’ decision at the 11th ASEAN Summit to strengthen regional institutional linkages and partnership among all stakeholders in ASEAN Member Countries to control and eradicate the spread of Highly Pathogenic Avian Influenza (HPAI) in the region. In this regard, we expressed our deep concern over the negative effects of the avian influenza on economy and society and called for greater cooperation among Member Countries and others, through information exchange and best practices, to prevent and control the spread of the disease. 62. We commended the efforts made by the ASEAN Health Ministers to ensure regional cooperation and unity in health emergencies, and in providing the necessary guidance for development of an operation plan for the Third ASEAN Work Programme on HIV and AIDS (2006-2010). We welcomed their preparations to convene a Second Special Session on HIV and AIDS for ASEAN Leaders in December 2006 alongside the 12th ASEAN Summit. We also underlined the need for a higher profile of ASEAN cooperation on the issue to be highlighted to the international community, such as through the convening of ASEAN panels at the International Conferences on AIDS in Asia and the Pacific (ICAAP) since 2001. We noted that ASEAN’s commitment to address the issue together with like-minded partners has also resulted in a cooperation agreement with the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS (UNAIDS).

Education

63. We welcomed the convening of the First ASEAN Education Ministers Meeting (ASED) held in Singapore on 21 March 2006 and its Joint Statement. As education is an important tool in engendering the ASEAN identity and promoting the development of the ASEAN Socio-Cultural Community, we welcomed the initiative by ASED to lay a strategic framework for education collaboration in the region which among others, highlighted the importance of education, particularly in primary and basic education, in developing a regional identity. This is relevant to the emphasis placed by ASEAN Leaders to establish an ASEAN Community imbued with a sense of awareness and belonging.

Culture and Information

64. We reaffirmed our support to the ASEAN Committee on Culture and Information (COCI) to continue undertaking activities that promote mutual understanding and solidarity among Member Countries through people-to-people exchanges, cultural performances and exhibitions, information exchange, skills development, and the promotion of awareness and appreciation of customs and traditions among the younger generation. We recognised that these activities have played a vital role in the efforts towards building an ASEAN Community. In this respect, we were pleased that the people-centred agenda advocated by the 39th ASC Chair has contributed to the awareness of ASEAN, mutual respect and cooperation amongst ASEAN and its peoples. We commended the efforts of the COCI in forging friendship with the international community as part of its effort to promote ASEAN through arts and culture.

We also welcomed the partnership forged with the United Nations Development Fund for Women (UNIFEM) in support of the ACW’s work.

Youth

67. We reiterated the need to involve ASEAN youth in our various mainstream and sectoral programmes and activities as part of the regional effort to empower and shape our youth into useful citizens with strong national and regional identity, features that are essential as we strive towards realising the ASEAN Community. We welcomed the initiative taken to establish a youth development fund in ASEAN, to address the VAP’s call for increased participation of youth in the productive workforce, and encourage their entrepreneurship and employability, leadership and regional awareness. We further called upon the different ASEAN sectoral bodies to link their respective efforts in addressing priorities for the youth.

Science and Technology

68. We reaffirmed that human resource and technology developments have played a vital role in sustaining economic growth and enhancing community well-being in ASEAN. We welcomed the initiative of the 11th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting on Science and Technology (S&T) held on 11-12 August 2005 in Jakarta to focus the regional science and technology cooperation on human resource and development and research in emerging fields and enabling technologies such as renewable and alternative energy, development of information technology application particularly on open source systems, biotechnology and food science, materials science and nanotechnology and disaster management. In this regard, we look forward to the convening of the 4th Informal ASEAN Ministerial Meeting on Science and Technology on 28-29 August 2006 in Kuala Lumpur.

69. We welcomed the continued efforts by ASEAN Member Countries to implement new activities under the ASEAN-help-ASEAN Programme to promote S&T development in ASEAN. We were pleased to note that since its launching by the ASEAN S&T Ministers in 2002, joint activities implemented under the Pro-

We further expressed our appreciation to our Dialogue Partners for their continued support in ASEAN’s efforts towards establishing the ASEAN Community by 2020.

71. In this regard, we look forward to the signing of the Framework Document for the Plan of Action to Implement the ASEAN-US Enhanced Partnership on 27 July 2006. We also look forward to the signing of the ASEAN-Canada Joint Declaration for Cooperation to Combat International Terrorism on 28 July 2006 in Kuala Lumpur and the implementation of the activities identified therein.

72. On ASEAN-Russia relations, we are pleased to note the successful convening of the First ASEAN-Russian Federation Summit held in Kuala Lumpur on 13 December 2005, and the endorsement of the ASEAN-Russia Joint Declaration on Progressive and Comprehensive Partnership.

73. We believed that these developments will contribute to further enhance ASEAN-Russia relations. We also noted that 2006 is the 10th anniversary of ASEAN-Russia relations, which we are marking with a few commemorative activities, among which are the Russian Food Festival and the publication of the ASEAN-Russia Commemorative Magazine. These two activities will be launched at the sidelines of the 39th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting/Post Ministerial Conferences, in conjunction with the ASEAN PMC+1 session with the Russian Federation on 27 July 2006 in Kuala Lumpur. We further noted that the ASEAN Food Festival will be organised in the Russian Federation later this year.

74. We underscored the need to maintain ASEAN centrality and unity in all dialogue and cooperation processes initiated by ASEAN. In this regard, we reaffirmed the importance of ASEAN acting and be recognised as the driving force in all facets of our relations with our Dialogue Partners and other external parties as well as ASEAN playing a central role in the evolving regional architectures.

75. We welcomed the interest expressed by several non-regional countries and international institutions to extend technical assistance and financial support for the implementation of ASEAN’s development agenda. As an outward-looking organization, ASEAN recognised the need to establish other forms of formal relations with other non-regional countries and international institutions to assist its development agenda. In this context, we tasked the ASEAN Directors-General and the ASEAN Secretariat to develop new categories of partnership with non-regional countries and international institutions while maintaining the moratorium on new Dialogue Partnership. We also welcomed the offer of the Philippines to work with the ASEAN Secretariat in identifying ways to strengthen cooperation with the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO).

76. We renewed our commitment to the ASEAN Plus Three (ASEAN+3) cooperation and reiterated our long-term goal of developing an East Asian community. We agreed that the ASEAN Plus Three process would remain as the main vehicle with ASEAN as the driving force for East Asian community building. Pursuant to the signing of the Kuala Lumpur Declaration on the ASEAN Plus Three Summit in Kuala Lumpur on 12 December 2005, we noted that the ASEAN Plus Three Senior Officials and the Directors-General, in their meetings on 18 May 2006 in Karambunai, Sabah and 8 June 2006 in Seoul, ROK, respectively, had had initial discussions in preparation of the drafting of the Second Joint Statement on East Asia Cooperation, and the accompanying Work Plan, to be issued by our Leaders in 2007 to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the ASEAN Plus Three cooperation.

77. We recalled the successful convening of the First East Asia Summit (EAS) in Kuala Lumpur on 14 December 2005 attended by all Leaders of ASEAN Member Countries, Australia, China, India, Japan, Republic of Korea and New Zealand. While emphasising ASEAN as the driving force, we reaffirmed that the EAS, as an open, inclusive, transparent and outward-looking forum, would serve as a platform for dialogue on broad strategic, political and economic issues of common interest to promote peace and economic prosperity in East Asia. We reaffirmed the efforts of the East Asia Summit to promote community building in this region and its integral part of the evolving regional architecture. We viewed this ‘Leaders-led’ Summit as an important event of historical significance to ASEAN and agreed to cooperate using existing mechanisms to implement the decisions of the Summit and the 17 areas of cooperation mentioned by the Leaders.

78. We recalled the successful holding of the Second ASEAN-UN Summit on 13 September 2005 in New York wherein it was agreed that ASEAN-UN cooperation needs to be further broadened with the involvement of the various UN specialised agencies to encompass all areas related to community building, including key issues related to development, in particular, poverty eradication and the Millennium Development Goals, prevention and control of infectious diseases, disaster management, transnational issues, trade and investment as well as peace and security. We noted that the Summit also agreed to convene future ASEAN-UN Summits on a regular basis. In this context, the Philippines proposed to explore the possibility of having an ASEAN-UN Summit in 2007.

DEVELOPMENTS IN MYANMAR

79. We took note of the briefing by Myanmar on the recent developments in the country and the complex challenges faced by Myanmar in dealing with the process of national reconciliation and peaceful transition to democracy as contained in the Roadmap. We expressed concern on the pace of the national reconciliation process and hope to see tangible progress that would lead to peaceful transition to democracy in the near future. We reiterated our calls for the early release of those placed under detention and for effective dialogue with all parties concerned. We expressed our support for the constructive role taken by the Chairman of the 39th ASEAN Standing Committee and further discussed the outcome of his visit to Myanmar on 23-24 March 2006. We also noted the initiative taken by the United Nations Undersecretary General for Political Affairs, who visited Myanmar on 18-20 May 2006 and Myanmar’s readiness to receive another visit by him.

80. We recognized that Myanmar needs both time and political space to deal with its many and complex challenges. We hope that Myanmar’s efforts to deal with those challenges will progress so that Myanmar can effectively engage the international community, and in this regard ASEAN would remain constructively engaged as required.

81. We exchanged views on the following issues:
82. We took note of the recent positive developments in Timor Leste and welcomed the immediate assistance from Malaysia, Australia, New Zealand and Portugal to deploy defence and security forces in Timor Leste. We welcomed the appointment of the new Prime Minister and Cabinet. We congratulated H. E. José Luis Guterres, Minister of Foreign Affairs and Cooperation of Timor Leste, on his recent appointment.

83. We agreed to Timor Leste’s participation, where appropriate, in functional areas of ASEAN activities. We also welcomed Timor Leste’s decision to accede to the TAC.

• Iraq

84. We were encouraged by the determination of the Iraqis in taking important steps in the political process towards reconciliation and shaping the democratic and independent future of Iraq. We welcomed the election that took place in Iraq on 15 December 2005 to elect 275 members of the Iraqi Parliament and subsequent establishment of the Iraqi Government of national unity on 20 May 2006 that could bring about political and economic reconstruction. However, we expressed deep concern over the deteriorating security condition in Iraq, including the continued attacks on civilians and places of worship. We urged the Iraqi authorities and others to improve the security situation in Iraq and to engage with all parties in resolving the political differences through peaceful democratic means. We also earnestly hoped that the new Iraqi Government would act with utmost urgency towards the restoration of national unity and political stability that would contribute to durable peace, security and prosperity in the country.

• Middle East

85. We were gravely concerned over the deteriorating situation and the escalation of violence in the Middle East, particularly the disproportionate, indiscriminate and excessive use of force by Israel in the Occupied Palestinian Territory and in Lebanon, triggered by the capture of the two Israeli soldiers. It would threaten efforts towards reviving the Peace Process.

86. We condemned all acts of terror, violence and destruction. We also condemned attacks that have resulted in injury and death of innocent civilians and the destruction of civilian property and infrastructure. We further condemned the abduction and detention of Cabinet Ministers, government officials, and other individuals and we called for their immediate and unconditional release.

87. We urged all parties to exercise utmost restraint, in particular to avoid additional casualties among innocent civilians and damage to civilian property and infrastructure and to refrain from acts that could further exacerbate the situation and worsen the humanitarian crisis.

88. We called for an immediate ceasefire and urged the international community and the United Nations Security Council (UNSC) to get all parties in the conflicts to adhere to the ceasefire under UN supervision with the participation of countries that are able to do so, and ultimately to work towards a just, durable and comprehensive peace in the region.
89. We reaffirmed the call for the strict respect of the sovereignty, territorial integrity, unity and political independence of Lebanon under the sole and exclusive authority of the Government of Lebanon as stipulated in UNSC Resolutions 1664 and 1680.

90. We also urged Israel and Palestine to return to the peace process and implementation of the Quartet Performance-Based Roadmap to a Permanent Two-State Solution to the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict as outlined in UNSC Resolution 1515.

91. We welcomed all efforts taken to address the situation, including the visits to the region by the Special Advisor of the UN Secretary-General to the Middle East and the UN Under-Secretary General for Humanitarian Affairs and Emergency Relief Coordinator, as well as the efforts undertaken by the Foreign Minister of France in that country’s capacity as current President of the United Nations Security Council. We viewed the visit by the U.S. Secretary of State to the region and Italy’s intention to host an international conference on 26 July 2006 as encouraging steps and hope that these would bring about the immediate cessation of hostilities, opening the way for the unimpeded flow of humanitarian relief and assistance to the civilians affected by the conflict, the early return of displaced persons and providing the conditions for a durable and lasting solution to the problems in the region. We also emphasised the need for speedy restoration of essential infrastructure facilities in Palestine and Lebanon to avoid further deterioration of humanitarian condition of the Palestine and Lebanese people.

• Korean Peninsula

92. We expressed our concern over the latest developments in the Korean Peninsula including the test-firing by DPRK of its Taepodong-2 missiles on 5 July 2006 which could affect peace and stability in the region. We noted the unanimous adoption of the UNSC resolution 1695. We also expressed our desire for the realisation of a nuclear-free Korean Peninsula and our continued support for the early resumption of the Six Party Talks. We also expressed our hope that the on-going inter-Korean exchanges would continue to provide conditions which would be conducive to peace and stability in the Korean Peninsula. We also believed that the ARF can contribute to promoting peace and stability in the Korean Peninsula and expressed the hope that members of the Six Party Talks can utilise their presence during the ARF to promote the resumption of the Talks.

• World Trade Organisation (WTO)

93. We reemphasised the importance of a rule-based multilateral trading system. We expressed regret on the failure to agree to the negotiating modalities on agriculture and non-agriculture market access (NAMA) at the Informal Ministerial Meeting held on 29 June - 1 July 2006 in Geneva. We called on all WTO Members, especially the major ones, to redouble their efforts in line with their commitment to the objectives of the Doha Development Agenda (DDA) and to ensure that the negotiations would come to a successful conclusion by the end of 2006. We reiterated that the Doha Round must achieve an ambitious and balanced outcome that is development-oriented with particular emphasis on ensuring real, effective and operational development benefits to developing countries.

94. We reiterated our support to the early accession of the Lao PDR and Viet Nam to the WTO. In this connection, we congratulated Viet Nam on her conclusion of all her bilateral negotiations and supported the earliest completion of the multilateral negotiation process to enable Viet Nam to join the WTO before
95. We recognised that now is the opportune time to strengthen ties and forge cooperation between Asia and the Middle East that would allow the two regions to take advantage of their resurgence in the global economy. The AMED was conceived to achieve this objective by fostering dialogue and mutual understanding through three Working Groups on Political and Security issues, on Social, Educational, Cultural, Scientific and Media issues, and on Economic issues.

96. We also welcomed the outcome of the 5th ACD Ministerial Meeting on 23-24 May 2006 in Doha, Qatar. We commended the progress that has been made with respect to the promotion of closer cooperation in the area of energy, which is to put priority on such areas as energy security, research and assessment on energy, energy infrastructure and development and exploring the possibility of reinvesting revenues that accrue from the energy in the ACD countries to enhance sustainable growth and development in Asia. We look forward to the 2nd ACD Energy Forum to be hosted by Pakistan in November 2006 to further discuss this and other important energy issues. We also commended the progress that has been made in the area of financial cooperation, especially with regard to making productive use of Asia’s substantial savings, including revenues that accrue from the energy trade, and invest these through the Asian Bond Market mechanism for the benefit of the region.

97. We noted the progress on the follow up of the outcome of the Asia-Africa Summit toward the realisation of the New Asia-Africa Strategic Partnership (NAASP) and look forward for the development of concrete programme and project cooperation by the Senior Officials’ Meeting to be held in Durban on 1-3 September 2006.

98. We welcomed the progress achieved by APEC member economies towards facilitating and liberalizing trade and investment as well as towards economic and technical cooperation in the Asia-Pacific region. We believed ASEAN and APEC share a common vision of promoting regional sustainable growth and shared prosperity. We also believed that greater collaboration between ASEAN and APEC through the exchange and sharing of information, expertise and best practices and capacity building programmes would contribute towards this vision and that the ASEAN-APEC partnership would also benefit the business sector and other sectors through the various trade facilitation initiatives to address business concerns and impediments to cross border trade, investment and cooperation. In this regard, we expressed our full support for Viet Nam to successfully hold the 14th APEC Economic Leaders’ Meeting in November 2006 with a view to contributing to the building of a dynamic community for sustainable development and prosperity. We also supported Cambodia’s intention to seek membership in APEC.

99. We stressed the need for ASEM to provide a foundation and framework for fostering the Asia-Europe comprehensive partnership in the 21st century. We look forward to a successful convening of the 6th ASEM Summit on 10-11 September 2006 in Helsinki, Finland and the commemoration of the 10th anniversary of ASEM as an important benchmark of a ten-year process linking Asia and Europe. We hoped that the 6th ASEM Summit would further strengthen a mutually beneficial and forward looking Asia-Europe partnership. We hoped further it would reflect in its vision on the future directions of ASEM cooperation in areas of mutual concern and interest such as strengthening multilateralism; addressing security threats; sustainable development; dialogue among cultures and civilisations; and globalization and competitiveness.

100. We welcomed the initiative to establish the ASEM Virtual Secretariat (AVS) at the ASEAN Secretariat as an information-sharing device to facilitate coordination and cooperation among its partners. In this context, we look forward to contributions to the ASEAN Secretariat by all ASEM partners to ensure the effective operation of the AVS.

- United Nations (UN)

101. We reaffirmed our support for multilateralism and international law as embodied in the UN Charter. In reviewing the status of the implementation of the 2005 World Summit Outcome Document, adopted at the conclusion of the High-level Plenary Meeting of the General Assembly held from 14 to 16 September 2005, we supported a comprehensive reform of the United Nations and underlined the need to enhance the voice and the role of the developing countries within the UN system. We believed that to ensure that the UN remains relevant and effective, it is imperative that it be democratized efficient, transparent, accountable, and truly reflective of the will and interest of all Member States. We also welcomed the establishment of the UN Human Rights Council and the UN Peacebuilding Commission.

102. We reaffirmed ASEAN’s support for Indonesia, Viet Nam, Thailand, Cambodia and Malaysia’s candidature to become non-permanent members of the UN Security Council for the year 2007-2008, 2008-2009, 2011-2012, 2013-2014, 2015-2016 respectively. In this context, we also reaffirmed our collective endeavour to support Indonesia’s bid for the non-permanent seat for the UNSC for 2007-2008, in the election to be held at the 61st Session of the UN General Assembly and requested Indonesia to coordinate this endeavour with the Permanent Representatives of ASEAN Member Countries in New York.

between ASEAN and these organisations. We recognized the potential of these cooperation arrangements to generate mutual benefits.

INTRODUCTION

1. We, the Foreign Ministers of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), met at the 40th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting on 29-30 July 2007 in Manila. His Excellency Alberto G. Romulo, Secretary of Foreign Affairs of the Philippines and Chairman of the 40th ASEAN Standing Committee, chaired the Meeting.

2. The Representatives of Timor-Leste and Papua New Guinea attended the Opening Ceremony of the 40th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting as Guest of the Chairman of the 40th ASEAN Standing Committee and as Special Observer in ASEAN, respectively.

OPENING ADDRESS

3. Her Excellency President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo, President of the Republic of the Philippines, addressed the Opening Ceremony of the 40th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting.

4. President Arroyo stated that ASEAN relations have never been stronger and recalled ASEAN achievements in cooperation, solidarity, fighting poverty and winning collective security. She called on ASEAN to carry forward the landmark commitments made at the 12th ASEAN Summit to create “one caring and sharing” community by 2015. She said such a community should be anchored on economic integration with a focus on social justice and raising the standards of living in the region.

5. To achieve that objective, President Arroyo urged ASEAN to build upon its bold decision to draft an ASEAN Charter that will strengthen ASEAN and deepen collaboration among its Member Countries. She said the ASEAN Charter should be a testament to ASEAN’s commitment to become one, single united front.

6. President Arroyo said, furthermore, that developing ASEAN is more than creating a regional community and should also be a dynamic force in Asia that would maximize the benefits of globalization. For ASEAN to become a true expanding union, the President said ASEAN should continue nurturing its relations with key partners through, among other things, forging free trade agreements and engaging all parties that have a stake in the region to establish an East Asia community.

7. President Arroyo also called on ASEAN to point the way ahead in regional security cooperation. In this regard, she said that ASEAN welcomed the recent positive developments on the Korean Peninsula nuclear issue, including the shutdown of the Yongbyon reactor, and commended all parties for the progress they have made thus far. She said ASEAN must stand ready to advance regional security and stability and, in this connection, to strengthen our collective stake in a stable Korean Peninsula.

8. The President emphasized the achievements ASEAN has made in regional security, from the Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia (TAC) to the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF). The President said ASEAN has been a force for regional peace and progress for forty years and must find the means to sustain this role for the next forty years.
9. In conclusion, President Arroyo said ASEAN must be a community where all can grow and prosper together. If ASEAN succeeds in this respect, then future generations will look back on ASEAN’s fortieth year, on the 12th ASEAN Summit and on the 40th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting, as the point where the region’s effort to attain this aspiration was begun.

THE ASEAN COMMUNITY

10. Association of Southeast Asian Nations, Joint Communique: 41st ASEAN Ministerial Meeting (21 July 2008)
Joint Communique of the 41st ASEAN Ministerial Meeting, “One ASEAN at the Heart of Dynamic Asia” Singapore, 21 July 2008

INTRODUCTION

1 We, the Foreign Ministers of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), met at the 41st ASEAN Ministerial Meeting (AMM) from 20-21 July 2008 in Singapore. His Excellency George Yeo, Minister for Foreign Affairs of Singapore and Chairman of the 41st ASEAN Standing Committee (ASC), chaired the Meeting. We had wide-ranging and productive discussions under the theme of “One ASEAN at the Heart of Dynamic Asia”, during which we reaffirmed our common desire and collective commitment to the establishment of an ASEAN Community of peace, stability, prosperity and social progress.

2 His Excellency Lee Hsien Loong, Prime Minister of Singapore, addressed the Opening Ceremony of the 41st AMM. Noting that the celebration of ASEAN’s 40th anniversary brought ASEAN closer to the people, Prime Minister Lee underlined that fostering our people’s understanding of ASEAN’s relevance to their well-being would nurture their sense of belonging to an ASEAN community. This in turn would be critical to our integration efforts.

3 Reviewing the past year under Singapore’s Chairmanship of ASEAN, Prime Minister Lee raised two events which he believed would continue to define ASEAN in the years ahead. First, ASEAN’s response to Cyclone Nargis demonstrated ASEAN’s unity, and showed that ASEAN member countries recognised the responsibilities and obligations of membership. While not perfect, the ASEAN-led tripartite process bridged the gap of trust between the Myanmar authorities and the international community to facilitate the flow of emergency aid to the disaster victims. Only the international community had the capacity to address the effects of Cyclone Nargis, and ASEAN welcomed Myanmar’s willingness to continue with the tripartite cooperation.

4 Prime Minister Lee also highlighted that the signing of the Charter would help realise the vision of a vibrant ASEAN Community by improving ASEAN’s record of implementation through a rules-based framework. He stressed that the timely ratification and implementation of the Charter would be a signal of ASEAN’s resolve.

5 Prime Minister Lee underscored that ASEAN could not take its relevance as the preferred platform for regional interactions for granted. While ASEAN members may be pre-occupied with pressing domestic issues, it was vital that we continue to move forward on ASEAN cooperation and integration, even if the pace may sometimes vary. A thriving ASEAN would be courted by the major powers as an economic power and valued as a partner for cooperation to deal with larger regional and global issues.

6 Prime Minister Lee also launched the ASEAN Studies Centre in the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies in Singapore. The Centre would work closely with the ASEAN Secretariat to undertake policy research on ASEAN that would help the organisation grow new capabilities, strengthen its institutions, and enhance cooperation among its members.
7 We are pleased with the progress in the implementation of the Leaders’ decisions of the 13th ASEAN Summit in Singapore, and agreed to further intensify our integration efforts in all three pillars of the ASEAN Community to establish a people-oriented, caring and sharing ASEAN Community by 2015. We reaffirmed our resolve to pursue more region-wide cooperation programmes and activities geared towards accelerating the ASEAN Community-building process. We also reiterated the importance of maintaining ASEAN’s central role in regional processes.

The ASEAN Charter

8 We stressed our full commitment to the realisation of the vision set out in the ASEAN Charter that was signed by our Leaders on the occasion of the 40th Anniversary of ASEAN last November. With our Statement on the ASEAN Charter issued on 21 July 2008, we reaffirmed the commitment by all Member States to ratify the ASEAN Charter by the 14th ASEAN Summit in Bangkok, and pledged to undertake all measures necessary to ensure expeditious implementation of the Charter.

9 We endorsed the Terms of Reference of the Committee of Permanent Representatives to ASEAN. We agreed that each ASEAN Member State would appoint their Permanent Representative to ASEAN at the level of Ambassador in Jakarta with effect from 1 January 2009.

10 We reaffirmed our commitment to the promotion and protection of human rights. We set up the High Level Panel on an ASEAN human rights body, and endorsed its Terms of Reference. We look forward to the High Level Panel’s submission of its first draft of the Terms of Reference of an ASEAN human rights body at the 14th ASEAN Summit in December 2008 for our guidance and direction. We noted the reports of the 7th Workshop on ASEAN Regional Human Rights Mechanism in Singapore on 12-13 June 2008 and the Workshop on the Promotion and Protection of Human Rights in Bali on 15-17 May 2008. We further noted the work carried out by the non-governmental Working Group for an ASEAN Human Rights Mechanism, including the meeting between the open-ended SOM Troika and the Working Group on the sidelines of the 41st AMM with the objective of facilitating the implementation of the activities under the promotion of human rights component of the VAP.

11 We are committed to make ASEAN a more rules-based organisation. We established the High Level Legal Experts’ Group on Follow Up to the ASEAN Charter and endorsed its Terms of Reference. We look forward to the first draft of recommendations on the legal personality of ASEAN, dispute settlement mechanisms and other legal issues by December 2008.

12 In view of the increase in ASEAN’s activities with the coming into force of the ASEAN Charter, we noted the importance of strengthening the ASEAN Secretariat and agreed to provide it with adequate resources. We endorsed the recommendations of our Financial Experts Group. We requested for the Secretary-General to strengthen the Secretariat’s internal systems, in particular its Staff Regulations and Financial Rules in order to put in place a more robust system of accountability and financial management. In addition, as one of the measures to strengthen the Secretariat, we agreed that the appointment of two additional Deputy Secretaries-General should be finalised by November 2008. We also tasked our officials to explore the idea of an ASEAN laissez-passer for ASEAN Secretariat staff as a valid travel document among ASEAN Member States.
13 We agreed to intensify our cooperation to Narrow the Development Gap (NDG) with a view to supporting ASEAN’s integration efforts, which is of paramount importance to ASEAN community-building. This would also help to ensure the equitable economic development of the region and facilitate the attainment of the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs), which would in turn contribute to the well-being of the peoples of ASEAN. In this regard, we emphasised the key role of the Initiative for ASEAN Integration (IAI) in ASEAN’s overall NDG efforts and look forward to the final draft of the 2nd IAI Work Plan for 2009-2015 by December 2008. We also noted with appreciation the support and contributions of ASEAN Member States and external partners to the implementation of the IAI.

14 We support programmes to uplift existing pockets of under-development in all parts of ASEAN, specifically in sub-regional areas including BIMP-EAGA and IMT-GT and Mekong sub-regional frameworks.

Vientiane Action Programme

15 We welcomed the progress achieved in the implementation of the Vientiane Action Programme (VAP). We tasked our officials to prepare a comprehensive review of the implementation of the Vientiane Action Programme to be undertaken in 2008.

16 Noting the adoption of the ASEAN Economic Community Blueprint at the 13th ASEAN Summit in Singapore last year, and the ongoing work to draft the Blueprints for the ASEAN Political-Security Community and ASEAN Socio-Cultural Community as well as the 2nd IAI Work Plan, we agreed to recommend to the ASEAN Leaders that these documents be issued as part of a declaration at the 14th ASEAN Summit.

ASEAN POLITICAL-SECURITY COMMUNITY

17 We are pleased with the positive developments in the establishment of the ASEAN Political-Security Community (APSC). We took note of the progress made in the drafting of the APSC Blueprint, and further noted that the Blueprint should be practical, substantive, action and results-oriented, and have a timetable. We look forward to its completion by the 14th ASEAN Summit in Bangkok, Thailand.

Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia

18 We warmly welcome the impending accession by the Democratic People’s Republic of Korea (DPRK) to the Treaty of Amity and Cooperation in Southeast Asia (TAC) as a strong signal of the DPRK’s commitment to the peace and security of the region. We noted that the continuing interest in the TAC underscores its important role as a key code of conduct governing inter-state relations in Southeast Asia. We also called upon other countries, particularly our Dialogue Partners and other interested parties, to consider acceding to the TAC. In this regard, we will continue to work to facilitate the accession of the EU to the TAC in the near future.

Treaty on the Southeast Asia Nuclear Weapon-Free Zone

19 At the Meeting of the Commission on Southeast Asia Nuclear Weapon-Free Zone (SEANWFZ) in Singapore on 21 July 2008, we welcomed the progress made in the implementation of the Plan of Action adopted by the SEANWFZ Commission in 2007, and reaffirmed the importance of persevering in our efforts to strengthen cooperation to implement the Treaty. We instructed our officials to continue to engage the Nuclear Weapons States, to secure their accession to the SEANWFZ Protocol as soon as possible. We elected Thailand as the incoming Chair of the Commission.
20 We reaffirmed the continuing importance of the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea of 2002 (DOC) as a milestone document between ASEAN and China, embodying our collective commitment to ensure the peaceful resolution of disputes in the area. We believe that the Declaration has been effective in building mutual trust and confidence among the claimants in the area and in maintaining peace and stability in the region. We underscored the need to intensify efforts to move forward the implementation of the Declaration, including the early finalisation of the Guidelines on the Implementation of the DOC. We look forward to the eventual conclusion of a Regional Code of Conduct in the South China Sea.

21 We encouraged the continued exercise of self-restraint by all the parties concerned and the promotion of confidence-building measures in this area and welcomed their commitment to resolving disputes in the South China Sea by peaceful means in conformity with the spirit of the DOC and recognised principles of international law including the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea.

ASEAN Regional Forum

22 We reaffirmed the role of ASEAN as the primary driving force of the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) process and the ARF as the primary forum in enhancing political and security dialogue and cooperation in the Asia-Pacific region. We agreed that the ARF should undertake concrete cooperation to address the increasingly complex and multi-faceted security challenges confronting the region, through cooperation in areas such as counter-terrorism and transnational crime, non-proliferation and disarmament, maritime security, disaster relief, and combating communicable diseases. We also looked forward to the discussions at the upcoming 15th ARF on 24 July 2008, in particular, to have a comprehensive review of the ARF process and consider its future direction.

ASEAN Maritime Forum

23 We noted the Concept Paper for the Establishment of the ASEAN Maritime Forum, which could provide a platform for comprehensive deliberations and dialogues among relevant ASEAN bodies on maritime issues. We noted the offer by the Government of Indonesia to host the First Meeting of the ASEAN Maritime Forum in 2009.

Transnational Crimes

24 We reaffirmed our commitment to enhance further cooperation and to promote the entry into force of the ASEAN Convention on Counter Terrorism as soon as possible. We also recognized the process of developing an ASEAN Comprehensive Plan of Action on Counter-Terrorism by the SOMTC. We also recognized the increasing trend of the offences of trafficking in persons in our region. In this regard, we noted the AM-MTC’s endeavour to explore the possibility of developing an ASEAN Convention on Trafficking in Persons. We noted ASEAN’s efforts to enhance cooperation on the issue of extradition and noted with appreciation the convening of the Workshop held in Singapore on 22-23 May 2008.

ASEAN ECONOMIC COMMUNITY

25 We underscored ASEAN’s commitment to establish a single market and production base characterised by a competitive economic region, with equitable economic development and one that is fully integrated into the global economy.
26 We welcomed the ongoing implementation of the ASEAN Economic Community (AEC) Blueprint, which was adopted by the Leaders at the 13th ASEAN Summit in Singapore in November 2007, and the imminent launch of the AEC Scorecard, a monitoring mechanism intended to help ensure compliance with the provisions of the AEC Blueprint. We noted the significant progress made in the areas of trade in goods, services and investment. We viewed these developments with satisfaction, as proof of ASEAN’s commitment to maintain and strengthen its credibility and effectiveness, by transforming itself into a rules-based organisation.

27 We welcomed the progress in negotiations by the Transport Sectoral on the implementing Multilateral Agreements (MAs) for the Roadmap for the Integration of Air Travel Sector (RIATS). We welcomed the Joint Ministerial Statement of the 13th ASEAN Transport Ministers’ Meeting in Singapore in November 2007, and looked forward to the signing of the ASEAN Multilateral Agreement on the Full Liberalisation of Air Freight Services and the Multilateral Agreement on Air Services by the ASEAN Transport Ministers.

ASEAN SOCIO-CULTURAL COMMUNITY

28 We underscored the importance of the ASEAN Socio-Cultural Community (ASCC) to address the region’s aspiration to further improve the well-being of its peoples through investing in human resource development, enhancing food security and safety, protecting the environment, protecting people from natural disasters and infectious diseases, and pursuing cooperative activities that are people-oriented. The ASCC shall lay the foundation for greater understanding and good neighbourliness, and build a shared sense of identity and responsibility in ASEAN. We were pleased with the progress made in the drafting of the ASCC Blueprint and looked forward to the adoption of an action-oriented and substantive document by the 14th ASEAN Summit in Bangkok, Thailand.

29 We expressed our satisfaction at the fast-growing people-to-people linkages, especially among our youths, as we continue to build deeper understanding, friendship and mutual respect among our countries. We commended the efforts and initiatives of the ASEAN Member States in promoting greater ASEAN awareness and strengthening existing cultural links through projects like the “ASEAN Quest” video game, the “Trail of Civilisation” and the “Best of ASEAN Performing Arts”, which aim to regularly showcase ASEAN’s best arts and cultural performances to regional and international audiences. We looked forward to the celebration of ASEAN Day on 8 August by all ASEAN Member States.

30 We further stressed the need to integrate education priorities into ASEAN’s development agenda, and hone the skills and talents of our peoples to boost the region’s overall competitiveness, in order to reap the fruits of globalisation.

31 We expressed our satisfaction with the progress made in the implementation of the Guidelines for the Provision of Emergency Assistance by ASEAN Missions in Third Countries to Nationals of ASEAN Member States in Crisis Situations, following our July 2006 Statement on this issue.

Energy, Environment, Climate Change and Sustainable Development

32 We stressed the need to address the issues of energy security, sustainable agriculture and environmental protection in a comprehensive manner. We expressed our appreciation for the efforts undertaken by the relevant ASEAN Sectoral Bodies to follow up on the outcomes of the Leaders’ discussions at the 13th ASEAN Summit and related meetings on the theme of “Energy, Environment, Climate Change and Sustainable Development”. We encouraged the relevant ASEAN Sectoral Bodies to develop concrete programmes and activities to implement measures and enhance international and regional cooperation to combat transboundary environmental pollution, including haze pollution, through, among other things, capacity building, enhancing public awareness, strengthening law enforcement, promoting environmentally sustainable practices, as well as combating illegal logging and its associated illegal trade.

Disaster Management

33 We are pleased to note that the ASEAN Humanitarian Task Force had effectively delivered humanitarian assistance to the victims and survivors of Cyclone Nargis. This first ASEAN-led mechanism involving ASEAN Member States individually and collectively, as well as the United Nations and the international community, had brought positive results. The post-cyclone emergency relief operations have underlined the urgency for ASEAN to further strengthen cooperation in mitigating large-scale disaster situations. As we strengthen our collective efforts in disaster management, we should maintain credibility by ensuring more open access and accountability. We acknowledged ASEAN Member States’ contributions and sharing of experiences from the post-tsunami relief and recovery efforts in extending humanitarian assistance to Myanmar. We also expressed appreciation to the ASEAN Humanitarian Task Force and the Tripartite Core Group for their dedication and hard work in discharging their tasks. We welcomed the release of the Post-Nargis Joint Assessment (PONJA) report. We agreed that the ASEAN-led mechanism should continue for another year until 2009 to support the humanitarian effort in Myanmar.

34 Recognising Southeast Asia as one of the most natural disaster prone regions, we reaffirmed our commitment to intensify our cooperation as well as with other countries and international organisations in the areas of disaster relief and management. In this regard, we called for the full ratification of the ASEAN Agreement on Disaster Management and Emergency Response (AADMER), which provides for effective regional mechanisms to mitigate the impact of disasters in the region. We also looked forward to the operationalisation of the ASEAN Standby Arrangements and Standard Operating Procedures and commended the efforts of the interim ASEAN Coordinating Centre for Humanitarian Assistance on Disaster Management (AHA Centre) in Jakarta. We called upon the relevant Sectoral Bodies and the ASEAN Secretariat to work towards the establishment of a fully functional AHA Centre.

Culture and Information

35 We also expressed satisfaction at the significant number of projects and activities that were implemented in the culture and information sectors to promote the rich and vast cultures of ASEAN, and looked forward to the new ASEAN Anthem, which will be chosen through an ASEAN-wide competition organised by Thailand with the support of the ASEAN Committee on Culture and Information (COCI).

EXTERNAL RELATIONS

37 We agreed to continue strengthening ASEAN’s relations with our external partners. We underscored the importance of further deepening and broadening our cooperation in various fields with our Dialogue Partners as a critical part of ASEAN’s efforts to build a closely integrated community. In particular, we looked forward to the appointment of ambassadors to ASEAN from Dialogue Partners.

38 We agreed that our cooperation with Dialogue Partners should focus on key areas such as energy and food security, terrorism and transnational crimes, poverty reduction, sustainable forest management and climate change, communicable diseases and disaster relief and response.

We also welcomed the progress made in the ongoing negotiations on the investment agreements with China and the Republic of Korea, and looked forward to the early entry into force of the ASEAN-Japan Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement. Besides economic benefits, the FTAs between ASEAN and its Dialogue Partners are also strategic linkages that will bind our regions even closer together.

40 We agreed that we should conclude as soon as possible the MOU on the Second Phase of the ASEAN-Australia Development Cooperation Programme (AADCP II). We took note that the AADCP II would focus on strengthening the ASEAN Secretariat’s institutional capacity to effectively implement its mandate as well as supporting regional mechanisms and capacity for implementation of ASEAN Economic Community Blueprint activities.

41 We looked forward to the finalisation of the MOU on the establishment of the ASEAN-China Centre to further deepen our cooperation in all areas.

42 We looked forward to the launch of the ASEAN-Korea Centre to further enhance our cooperation in the areas of trade, investment, tourism and cultural exchange by end 2008. We supported the proposal to convene an ASEAN-ROK Commemorative Summit in 2009 to celebrate the 20th anniversary of relations between ASEAN and the Republic of Korea.

43 We also looked forward to adopting the Roadmap on the Implementation of the ASEAN-Russia Comprehensive Programme of Action, at this year’s ASEAN Post Ministerial Session with Russia. We expressed confidence that this Roadmap will help to promote mutual understanding, increase people-to-people interaction and facilitate cooperation projects between ASEAN and Russia.

The ADVANCE programme sets to implement the goals of the ASEAN-US Cooperation Plan, the ASEAN-US Enhanced Partnership, the ASEAN-US Trade and Investment Framework Arrangement (TIFA) and the Vientiane Action Programme (VAP). We also welcomed the appointment of the first US Ambassador for ASEAN Affairs.

We expressed our readiness to work closely with India to expeditiously establish the initiative on ASEAN-India Green Fund. We looked forward to the implementation of more collaborative projects between ASEAN and India in this area.

46 We recalled the adoption of the 2nd Joint Statement on East Asia Cooperation and the ASEAN Plus Three Cooperation Work Plan (2007 - 2017) at the 11th ASEAN Plus Three Summit in Singapore. In this regard, we welcomed the completion of the Terms of Reference for the ASEAN Plus Three Cooperation Fund and looked forward to the establishment of the Fund. We expressed confidence that the priority areas set out in the Cooperation Work Plan can be implemented without delay.

47 Recalling our Leaders’ substantive discussions at the 3rd East Asia Summit in Singapore, we reaffirmed the value of continued cooperation within the EAS. As the EAS develops, we stressed the importance of ensuring follow-up actions in areas as mandated by the Leaders. We looked forward to the upcoming EAS Foreign Ministers’ Informal Consultations on 22 July 2008 as an opportunity to discuss regional and international issues, and consider the future direction of the EAS.

48 We welcomed the enhancement of the ASEAN-UN Partnership which has been marked by events such as the signing of the Memorandum of Understanding in September 2007 and the ASEAN-led humanitarian assistance for the victims of Cyclone Nargis. We recommended the convening of the 3rd ASEAN-UN Summit back-to-back with the 14th ASEAN Summit in Bangkok in December 2008.

49 We agreed to pursue cooperation with other regional organisations that could complement ASEAN’s objectives. In this regard, we welcomed the invitation from Brazil, the pro tempore president of MERCOSUR, to attend the inaugural ASEAN-MERCOSUR Ministerial Meeting in Brasilia on 24 November 2008. We looked forward to the meeting that would deepen the engagement between both sides. We also looked forward to the convening of a full-fledged ASEAN-Gulf Cooperation Council Ministerial Meeting in Thailand in 2009 to take ASEAN-GCC relations in the areas of inter alia, trade and investment, tourism, and energy security to a higher plane.

Developments in Myanmar

50 We took note of the briefing by Myanmar on the recent developments in the process of national reconciliation and its peaceful transition to democracy, as envisaged in the roadmap to democracy; in particular, the adoption of the State Constitution of 2008 by referendum. We urged Myanmar to take bolder steps towards a peaceful transition to democracy in the near future, and working towards the holding of free and fair General Elections in 2010. While recognising the steps undertaken by the Government of Myanmar to conduct meetings with all concerned parties, including the NLD leadership, we reiterated our calls for the release of all political detainees, including Daw Aung San Suu Kyi, to pave the way for meaningful dialogue involving all parties concerned.

51 We recognised the fact that Myanmar has tried to address many and complex challenges. We reaffirmed our commitment to remain constructively engaged with Myanmar as part of building the ASEAN Community. We encouraged Myanmar to continue to work closely with the Good Offices of the UN Secretary-General and his Special Advisor Ibrahim Gambari in ensuring an inclusive process towards national reconciliation. In this regard, we welcomed Myanmar’s agreement to the upcoming visits of Mr. Tomas Ojea Quintana, Special Rapporteur on the situation of human rights in Myanmar in August 2008, and Professor Ibrahim Gambari in August 2008, and reiterated our call for Myanmar to extend its full support for their missions.

REGIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL ISSUES

Food and Energy Security

52 We discussed how the mounting challenge posed by rising oil and food prices poses a serious challenge to our peoples’ welfare as well as our countries’ continued economic development. On the issue of food security, we affirmed that access to adequate and reliable supply of staples, and stable prices were fundamental to the region’s economic and social well-being. To address rising food prices, we stressed the importance of regional and international efforts to ensure the efficient functioning of market forces, as well as to come up with longer term agricultural solutions. We encouraged all countries to do away with price-distorting export subsidies and other protectionist policies and to provide market access to competitive food exports.

53 We are concerned that the recent volatility and rise of oil prices has adversely affected our economies. We reiterated the need for regional and international efforts to ensure the efficient functioning of market forces and to enhance the region’s energy security in a sustainable manner through greater cooperation measures such as improving energy efficiency and conservation.

Financial Cooperation

54 We exchanged views on the global financial situation, especially in the wake of last year’s sub-prime mortgage crisis. While the risk of sudden rapid deterioration in the near term has somewhat abated, we stressed the importance of ensuring sound fiscal and monetary policies.

Cross-Strait Relations

55 We welcomed the positive development in relations across the Taiwan Strait. We expressed our hope that cross-Strait relations would continue to improve.

Korean Peninsula

56 We reaffirmed that the denuclearisation of the Korean Peninsula is essential in maintaining peace and security in the region, and expressed our full support for the Six-Party Talks to continue its deliberations in resolving the North Korean nuclear issue. We noted the political will of relevant parties to implement their respective commitments and welcomed the convening of the meeting of the Foreign Ministers of the Six-Party Talks at the sidelines of the 15th ARF.

Iraq

57 We remained concerned over the continued violence in Iraq despite recent indications that the security situation has improved. We strongly urged all parties to resolve their political differences peacefully and work towards durable peace and security in the country. We were encouraged by the resilience of the Iraqi people and reaffirmed our support for the national reconciliation process aimed at constructing a unified and stable Iraq. To this end, we voiced strong support for the efforts of the Iraqi Government to conduct provincial polls in October 2008 as part of its nation building efforts.

Middle East

58 We were encouraged by the diplomatic efforts to move all tracks of the peace process forward in the quest for a just, lasting and comprehensive peace in the Middle East. We urged the Israeli and Palestinian sides to continue efforts towards reaching an agreement consistent with the Roadmap and UN Security Council resolutions. We welcomed the Israel-Hamas ceasefire of 19 June 2008 and the efforts at brokering the deal. We encouraged the Palestinians to forge unity amongst themselves in pursuit of an independent, democratic and viable Palestinian state living side-by-side with Israel in peace and security.
We further welcomed the election of the new president of Lebanon and hope that all parties would be able to resolve their differences to ensure a stable and secure Lebanon.

We urge the continuation of renewed Israel-Syria indirect talks to contribute towards achieving lasting peace and stability in the Middle East.

We welcomed the convening of the Ministerial Meeting of the New Asian African Strategic Partnership on Capacity-building for Palestine in Jakarta on 14 July 2008 organised jointly by the Government of Indonesia and the Government of South Africa. We welcomed the outcome of the Meeting which shows our commitment to assist the Palestinian people.

Asia-Middle East Dialogue (AMED)

We welcomed the successful second meeting of the Asia-Middle East Dialogue (AMED II) in Sharm El Sheikh, Egypt from 5-6 April 2008. We commend Egypt’s chairmanship of AMED II, which has sustained the momentum and interest of Asia and the Middle East in strengthening ties and deepening engagement to foster greater mutual understanding and cooperation. We also welcomed Thailand’s offer to host the next AMED meeting, and Singapore’s proposal to host an AMED Media Roundtable in 2009.

World Trade Organisation

We note that there is a WTO Ministerial Meeting taking place in Geneva on 21 July 2008. It is important that the meeting be able to push forward the negotiations for the Doha Development Agenda for the benefit of all WTO members. We also expressed our support for the early accession of the Lao PDR into the WTO.

42nd ASEAN MINISTERIAL MEETING

We elected Thailand as the Chair of the 42nd ASC and Viet Nam as the Vice-Chair. We looked forward to the 42nd AMM/PMC/16th ARF to be held in July 2009 in Thailand.

ASEAN POLITICAL-SECURITY COMMUNITY (APSC)

13. We reaffirmed our commitment to implement the ASEAN Political-Security Community (APSC) Blueprint adopted by our Leaders during the 14th ASEAN Summit in Cha-am Hua Hin. This Blueprint envisages ASEAN to be a rules-based Community of shared values and norms in a just, democratic and harmonious environment; a cohesive, peaceful, stable and resilient region with shared responsibility for comprehensive security; as well as a dynamic and outward-looking region in an increasingly integrated and interdependent world. We noted that an APSC Communication Plan is being developed and encouraged its early completion and implementation with a view to bringing the APSC Blueprint to our peoples. In this regard, we stressed the importance of maintaining peace, and stability in the South China Sea, the continued exercise of self-restraint by all parties concerned, and the promotion of confidence-building measures in this area. We further reaffirmed the importance and continued relevance of the Declaration on the Conduct of Parties in the South China Sea (DOC) of 2002, as a milestone document between ASEAN Member States and China, embodying their collective commitment to promoting peace, stability and mutual trust and to ensuring the peaceful resolution of disputes in the area, in accordance with universally recognized principles of international law, including the 1982 United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS). We called on all parties to respect the freedom of navigation in and over-flight above the South China Sea as provided for by the universally recognized principles of international law, including the 1982 UNCLOS.

In this regard, we tasked the ASEAN SOM to work on the development of the COC and submit a progress report to the 19th ASEAN Summit.

25. While pursuing the above undertakings, we underline the importance of optimizing ongoing Track 2 mechanisms on the South China Sea, including the regular Workshop on Managing Potential Conflicts in the South China Sea organized by Indonesia. We reinforced the importance of the ASO in promoting transparency in security-related policies. We encouraged further contribution to the ASO, and looked forward to its first annual Encouraged by the effective and productive joint collaboration by the JWG, we further recommended the continuation of the work of the JWG and the close coordination needed between the ASEAN SOM and ADSOM on various agendas under the APSC Blueprint.

Defence and Security Cooperation

28. We welcome the outcomes of the 5th ASEAN Defence Ministers’ Meeting held on 19 May 2011 in Jakarta and reiterated its role in pursuing defence and security cooperation issues. ensure the safety and security of our seas and the region, including search and rescue (SAR), and to provide solutions to current and emerging maritime-related issues and challenges. We recommended that further efforts shall be built upon the encouraging results from the 1st ASEAN Maritime Forum in Surabaya, Indonesia, last year. We welcome the offer of the Philippines to host the 3rd AMF in 2012.

ASEAN Common Visa

32. We reaffirmed our commitment to accelerate the easing of visa requirements for ASEAN nationals as provided by the prioritized projects of the Master Plan on ASEAN Connectivity. We noted the ASEAN Tourism Ministers’ discussions in January 2011, which included elements of a single visa in the ASEAN Tourism Strategic Plan 2011-2015. We tasked ASEAN SOM to collaborate with the Directors-General of Immigration Departments and Heads of Consular Affairs Divisions of Ministries of Foreign Affairs Meeting (DGICM) and other relevant sectoral bodies to study the implementation of a progressive visa relaxation as well as the possible establishment of an ASEAN common visa for non-ASEAN nationals and report to the 19th ASEAN Summit.

33. We emphasized the importance of better coordination among different sectoral bodies under the APSC and commended the report of the Chairman of the APSC Council to the 18th ASEAN Summit. We realized the necessity to continually ensure that the Blueprint is relevant, and in line with current developments and with ASEAN’s vision beyond 2015. In this regard, we look forward to the convening of the 6th Coordinating Conference for the ASEAN Security Community Plan of Action (ASCCO), to be held in September 2011 at the ASEAN Secretariat in Jakarta, which will undertake an effective and beneficial Biennial Review and evaluation of the APSC Blueprint. We are fully confident that our relevant ASEAN sectoral bodies will participate and contribute actively in the Biennial Review with a view to strengthen the APSC Blueprint’s relevance with ASEAN’s vision beyond 2015.

ASEAN Economic Community (AEC)

34. We acknowledged the progress in implementing the programs and measures of the ASEAN Economic Community (AEC) Blueprint with a view to achieving the AEC by 2015. We are committed to further intensify efforts in intra-ASEAN economic integration and highlighted the importance of our cooperation to speed up the implementation of the Initiative for ASEAN Integration (IAI) Work Plan II, and Strategic Plan of Action for ASEAN Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs) Development 2010-2015, and in strengthening efforts to forge equitable economic development.

35. We supported the ongoing efforts in promoting the participation and contribution of Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs) in the ASEAN Community building process, including enhancing the development of the SMEs and the narrowing of the development gap amongst and within ASEAN Member States. The strengthening of ASEAN SMEs is critical in addressing the livelihood and economies of the region; thus, intensive effort must be given to improve their access to regional market, technology, and finance.

Food and Energy Security

36. Bearing in mind that our present and future activities dictate the interests and livelihood of our children, food, energy, and water security remain critical to our policies in maintaining a resilient and competitive region. We, therefore, support relevant Ministries’ endeavours to follow up on the Leaders’ deliberations at the 18th ASEAN Summit. ASEAN should continue to play an active role in laying down the path for long term programs in securing access of our peoples to food, energy, and water, especially access to clean water.

37. We considered in depth the decision of the ASEAN Leaders at their 18th Summit to prioritize research and development in the agriculture sector, coordinated food policy, and greater investment in agricultural infrastructure. We, therefore, emphasized the importance of the ASEAN Integrated Food Security (AIFS) Framework and the Strategic Plan of Action on Food Security in the ASEAN Region (SPA-FS) 2009 – 2013 in addressing potential food scarcity and resources. We shared the view that cooperation in the agricultural sector must also touch upon the livelihood of small farmers. Attending to the formulation of a food reserve system in ASEAN is of equal significance, one that will help farmers escape poverty. In this context, we are hopeful to seeing small farmers gain benefit from the implementation of ASEAN's commitment in SMEs development, in particular by accessing financial support, market, and technology critical for their development and progress.

38. In the energy sector, ensuring energy security while giving due consideration to addressing environmental and global climate change issues, as well as reducing dependency on fossil fuels, remain a key challenge. ASEAN must be able to utilize the experience, expertise, and technology of other regional and international organizations in finding viable alternative and renewable energy resources, and improving energy efficiency and to realize our commitment in expediting electricity access to all of ASEAN particularly rural areas.

ASEAN Socio-Cultural Community (ASCC)

39. We noted with satisfaction the significant progress in the implementation of the ASCC Blueprint toward the realization of the ASCC by 2015 that is people-centred and socially responsible. We acknowledged the priority areas set out for 2011 to strengthen cooperation through pertinent issues such as disaster management, communicable diseases, persons with disabilities, women and children, migrant workers, environmental issues, advancing and prioritizing education, culture, sports and the attainment of the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) and other people-oriented activities.

Disaster Management

40. In achieving the disaster resilient nations and safer communities by 2015, we realized the importance of putting forward the “Whole-of-Government” approach to ensure the coordination between the civilian and military actors during an emergency response operation. We, therefore, further encouraged the ACDM, ADSOM, ARF as well as mechanisms under the ASEAN+3 and EAS to synchronize policies on humanitarian assistance and disaster relief operations in accordance with accepted international frameworks and consistent with the principle of ASEAN Centrality.

41. We have agreed on the substantive content of the Agreement on the Establishment of the ASEAN Coordinating Centre for Humanitarian Assistance in disaster management (AHA Centre) and will sign the agreement and launch the AHA Centre during the 19th ASEAN Summit in Bali, November 2011. We welcome the activation of the provisional AHA Centre to bridge the operational gap while waiting for the launching of the Centre. We appreciated the commitment and contribution by the Indonesian Government as well as our dialogue and external partners, including from Japan, New Zealand, and the United States of America in ensuring the day-to-day activity of the provisional AHA Centre and welcome the incoming support from Australia as well as other dialogue and external partners.

42. We welcomed the ASEAN Militaries Humanitarian Assistance and Disaster Relief (HADR) Table-Top Exercise (AHX) held in Singapore and Indonesia in July 2011, the first exercise among the ASEAN militaries. The AHX enhanced practical and tangible cooperation among ASEAN militaries in HADR through the familiarization with each other’s mode of operation as well as identified areas for improvement in HADR capacity-building, and improved military-to-military and civil-military communication and coordination.

43. We underlined the significant contribution of the ARF Participants at the ARF DiREx 2011 held in Manado, Indonesia, in March 2011. The Exercise proved meaningful for enhancing civil and military coordination, especially in the notion of civilian-led and military-supported, in the field of disaster relief management. We encouraged the active involvement of ARF Participants in similar exercises and took note of the recommendation to hold such field exercises on a two-year regular basis. We encouraged greater participation from related regional and international organizations in future exercises to strengthen and improve synergies and collaboration in disaster relief management cooperation in the region.

Climate Change

44. We reiterated the strong commitment in the efforts to address climate change at the national, regional and global levels based on the principles of the UNFCCC and its Kyoto Protocol. Realizing the vulnerability that is shared within our region, we reaffirmed our commitment to strengthen efforts in adapting to the impact of climate change. We are pleased that ASEAN is gradually building an understanding and common position on climate change, necessary and important to strengthen the voice of ASEAN at the global level. In this regard, we supported the ASEAN’s initiative to develop an ASEAN Leaders’ Joint Statement on Climate Change for the COP-17.

45. We re-emphasized the importance of “a clean and green ASEAN” with fully established mechanisms, that are up to date and fine-tuned to meet the ever-changing effect of climate change adaptation, to ensure the protection of the environment, sustainability of natural resources, and high quality of life of the people in the region. We, therefore, reaffirmed our pledge to support the realization of the ASEAN Vision 2020.

Promoting the Sustainability of Freshwater Resources

46. We also shared the view that access to clean water is central in supporting the full attainment of the MDGs. In this regard, we agreed to reinforce our efforts to promote sustainable usage and management of water resources through enhanced information-sharing and cooperation, improve access to safe and clean water, sanitation, hygiene and healthy ecosystems through appropriate policies and adequate financial resources at all levels. As water is a cross-cutting issue, it is crucial to develop innovative environmental governance, integrated water management policy, legal frameworks, cross-sectoral policies, financing mechanisms and technologies in combination with capacity development. We saw the importance of promoting sustainability of water resources to ensure equitable and sufficient access to clean water for the people of ASEAN.

Migrant Workers

47. As a follow up to the Leaders’ guidance at the 18th ASEAN Summit, we welcome the offer by the Philippines to host the 4th ASEAN Committee on Migrant Workers (ACMW) Drafting Team Meeting scheduled to be held in Manila prior to the 19th ASEAN Summit. We are confident that the ACMW would produce substantial progress in developing the draft ASEAN Instrument within the agreed phases. We also welcome the decision of the 7th Senior Labour Officials’ Meeting (SLOM) to continue to work on the draft ASEAN Instrument on the Protection and Promotion of the Rights of Migrant Workers based on the spirit of the ASEAN Declaration on the Protection and Promotion of the Rights of Migrant Workers adopted in Cebu at the 12th ASEAN Summit in 2007, focusing on issues which are in line with laws and policies of the ASEAN Member States. We also looked forward to the development of a proposal on the convening of a workshop on this matter as soon as possible.

Education

48. We recognized the role of education in developing human resources, enhancing regional competitiveness and in supporting the ASEAN Community Building process. We looked forward to the progress of the implementation of the 5-year Work Plan on Education as a strategy to advance the educational sector. We will work with the ASEAN Education Ministers to follow-up the Leaders’ recommendations, such as the teaching of ASEAN studies, exchange of students programme, and the development of a framework of a transfer of credits among universities in ASEAN Member States, building upon existing arrangements. We noted Indonesia’s intention to establish an ASEAN languages centre to promote proficiency in the languages of ASEAN Member States among the people of ASEAN and beyond, in line with the ASCC Blueprint.

With reference to the deliberations of our Leaders during the 18th ASEAN Summit in Jakarta, we further encouraged the notion to have an ASEAN television channel or network and supported enhancing media cooperation, through the use of appropriate media channels, to forge an ASEAN cultural identity among the people in the region.
ASEAN Connectivity

58. Taking into consideration the strategic political, economic, and social values of ASEAN Connectivity in relation to the establishment of an ASEAN Community by 2015 and the participation of our external partners, ASEAN must play a leading role and remain in the driving force behind initiatives to implement the MPAC. We must therefore ensure that initiatives to develop the region’s connectivity adhere to the key principles of the MPAC.

We will continue consultations and discussions with dialogue and external partners to enhance connectivity within the region and beyond. We also call on international and regional financial institutions such as ADB and World Bank, international organizations and institutions such as UN-ESCAP and ERIA as well as the private sector, to support the implementation of the MPAC. We remain committed to share these benefits so that all Member States and every segment of society shall benefit from ASEAN’s integration in achieving a more balanced, inclusive, and sustained ASEAN Community. We therefore reiterated that the issue must be addressed in a comprehensive manner, for narrowing the development gap creates the foundation needed in developing an ASEAN that we all envision.
