Yes -- doesn't look like Whitespoint will move in the next month -- even if the Minister signed off the agreement this week - unlikely (which would go against the request of the proponent), he likely wouldn't be able to appoint the panel members because of the expected election call.

I think we assume its for the next month -- as if there is no election call.

Brian, is this for the next week or two or for the next month or between now and the announcement of the elections. WPQ could be added under one or more of the said scenarios. Jean
